F.D.R. LOSES FARM BILL FIGHT

Yanks Blast 7 Jap Ships at New Guinea

8 BOMBERS HIT INVASION FLEET NEAR AUSTRALIA

Sink Two Craft; Fire 4, Wreck 1.

BULLETIN.

CANBERRA, Australia, March 12 (Thursday) — (AP). — New heavy blows on the Japanese invasion bases of Salamaua and Lae in northeast New Guinea were made yesterday by Australian bombers, the air ministry announced today. Craters were blasted in the runways of airdromes and buildings were destroyed. Japanese fighters attempted to intercept the RAAF planes but fled after one had been shot down. All Australian planes returned safely.

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—The war department reported today that eight heavy American bombers, raiding Japanese shipping yesterday in the harbor of Salamaua, New Guinea, left two ships sinking, four on fire, and one beached on the shore.

[Earlier reports from Canberra, Australia, told of such losses inflicted on the enemy, but those reports did not identify the attacking planes as American.]

The force of bombers, commanded by Maj. Richard H. Carmichael, dropped 18 tons of bombs on Japanese ships in the harbor, the department said. None of the planes was damaged.

Carmichael, 28, was born in Texas on April 11, 1913, and is a 1936 graduate of West Point. Originally commissioned in the field artillery, he attended the air corps flying schools in 1937, completing the attack course at the advanced flying school and being rated an aircraft pilot. He was transferred from Fort Douglas, Utah, to the southwest Pacific a few months ago. His home is in San Antonio, Tex.

Foe Continues Advance.

CANBERRA, Australia, March 11 (AP). — Despite heavy allied aerial blows, Japanese invasion fleets continued to advance today.

[Probable Japanese fleet losses in the southwestern Pacific campaign are discussed on page 4.]

Large new convoys were reported heading for Port Moresby, the nearest major harbor to the mainland, lying across only 300 miles of water from Cape York on the northern Australian tip.

All over the waters of New Guinea and New Britain, where the invader some time ago also had obtained beachheads in the area of Gasmata, the skies were disordered with aerial assault and counterassault.

Port Moresby, the most likely major marshaling point for the full scale spring upon this subcontinent now expected at any time, was attacked during the day by 12 Japanese bombers which perhaps had the objective of seeking to reduce the defenses there for the apparently imminent attempt at landings from the sea. The damage wrought was undetermined.

Australian Flyers Range Far.

For its part, the royal Australian air force, now reënforced by the returned veterans of the far campaigns of the British empire, ranged far.

Australian aircraft descended on enemy transports at Finschhafen on the northeastern New Guinea coast above Salamaua, and while the detailed results were not observed it was known that bombs fell in the target area.

Australia's entire strategy became one of attack. The great necessity was at all cost to prevent the accumulation of enemy strength on New Guinea sufficient to enable him to leap the Torres strait.

Japs Threaten Australia.

TOKIO, March 11 [from Japanese broadcasts].—A Japanese spokesman declared that Australia would suffer the fate of the Dutch East Indies if she "continues her present attitude toward Japan."

This spokesman added, however, that it would be possible for Japan and Australia to "come to terms," tho not by a separate peace since that would be barred by the axis alliance.

ROUNDUP OF WAR NEWS FROM ALL FIGHTING FRONTS

Latest war developments:

British forces in Burma are preparing for a general Japanese drive northward toward Mandalay, 450 miles above fallen Rangoon and pivot of present allied defense operations in that country, according to dispatches from Mandalay. First objectives of the invading forces which recently captured the Irrawaddy delta of lower Burma were expected to be the cities of Prome and Toungoo, approximately one-third of the distance between Rangoon and Mandalay.

Yanks Blast Jap Ships.

United States bombing planes left two ships sinking, four afire and one grounded in a raid on a Japanese invasion fleet at Salamaua, New Guinea, north of Australia, the war department in Washington reported. All eight bombers returned to their base undamaged, the communique added.

Dispatches from Canberra, Australian capital, said large Japanese convoys were approaching Port Moresby on the south coast of New Guinea, only 300 miles from the northern tip of the Australian continent. Japanese planes attacked that port during the day while Australian air force planes raided Nipponese invaders at Finschhafen, on the northern coast of New Guinea above Salamaua.

Attack Nazi Battleship.

In London, the British admiralty announced that British planes had chased the German superdreadnaught Tirpitz into a Norwegian haven after attacking her with torpedoes at sea.

Moscow claimed that 49,700 Germans had been killed in a month on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, where the Reds breached a strongly fortified Nazi front. The Russians also announced the capture of a key junction in the Lake Ilmen area where Red pilots have destroyed Nazi transports attempting to reënforce the trapped 16th German army.

TROOPS IN NORTH TO START WORK ON ALASKA HIGHWAY

DAWSON CREEK, B. C., March 11 — [Canadian Press]. — United States army troops are busy making preparations for the building of a highway to Alaska. They are living under canvas in the vicinity of this rail-end town.

No road building equipment has arrived yet, but supplies for the troops, food and equipment, are reaching here in steadily mounting quantities. Officers in charge said that as soon as more engineer troops arrive, a convoy of trucks will leave here for Fort Nelson, about 300 miles north.

[The Canadian government announced on March 6 that the cabinet had approved the Canadian link in a highway from the United States to Alaska.]

An officer said he was quite sure no civilian labor would be used on construction work. He added that all supplies were being shipped north from Chicago.

Canadian Government to Make Synthetic Rubber

OTTAWA, Ont., March 11 (AP). — The government announced tonight that a government owned corporation known as Polymer corporation, Ltd., is being established to produce synthetic rubber in Canada. President of the new company will be Col. Arthur L. Bishop, Toronto industrialist. Munitions Minister Howe said production would begin this year and that when the plants were working to capacity their output would be about 34,000 long tons per year.

Japs Use Radio and Leaflets to Woo Filipinos

BY DEAN SCHEDLER.

WITH MAC ARTHUR'S FORCES ON BATAAN PENINSULA, March 9 [Delayed].—(AP)--With the war in the Pacific entering its fourth month, Japan's propaganda machine was working overtime in efforts to crack both Gen. Douglas MacArthur's troops and Filipino civilians into capitulation.

The Japanese used every angle of appeal, including Japanizing of Filipino textbooks in Manila preparatory to the reopening of the schools.

In an effort to play upon the emotions of the Filipino-American troops, Japanese planes dropped leaflets telling them that they "had been sold out by the United States in favor of other allies." Surrender cards were dropped carrying detailed information to facilitate their advancing to Japanese lines unhindered.

Radio Plays U. S. Tunes.

These and other methods used to try to get the defenders out of Bataan peninsula have been completely ineffective with the soldiers other than to reënforce their determination to fight on.

The Manila radio all day long is playing American records, even United States patriotic tunes, which reach Corregidor fortress and Bataan radios in full strength. The announcer, with Japanese boastfulness, presents a rosy picture of the occupied areas in Manila and depicts an increasingly grave situation in the areas still held by Filipino-American troops.

A recent program carried a direct appeal to Filipinos to lay down their arms, return to their homes, and enjoy peace and prosperity with the "aid" of Japanese specialists sent from Japan. The answer to this was seen with marked clearness in the face of any Filipino soldier or civilian listening.

Hear American Station.

The Filipino-Americans' one source of news is the San Francisco International radio station, which is heard nightly. Soldiers on Bataan peninsula and on Corregidor Island crowd about all available radio receivers, hanging on to every word.

Tokio recently employed an exasperating method to block out the programs by use of a "howler," which often makes reception impossible. However, when the howler is on the soldiers retaliate by saying, "The news is so good that Tojo can't stand to let us hear it."

An equal appeal to both Filipinos and Americans is made in the American programs, which are given both in English and Tagalog, the native dialect. The Filipinos thus hear that the United States is following wholeheartedly their efforts to hold their native land.

Front Is Stabilized.

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—The war department reported today that the situation in Bataan, where Gen. Douglas MacArthur faces numerically superior Japanese forces, apparently has been stabilized temporarily, with neither air nor ground activity in the last 24 hours.

In all issues of tomorrow's Tribune will appear another of the series of "Famous News Photos in Color," showing the French liner Normandie lying on its side in the Hudson river.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 11.—Britain will get no more white bread after April 6, Food Minister Lord Woolton announced today.

To reduce tonnage used for the transport of wheat, a national wheat meal or dark bread is to take the place of the white loaf, it was stated.

Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison announced in the house of commons that penalties up to 14 years in jail and fines equal to or even exceeding profits gained from illicit deals now face "black market" racketeers. The old maximum was two years in prison.

Sentry Fires at Divorcee; Hits Soldier

A young soldier was shot and critically wounded last night as the result of a wealthy divorcée's attempt to drive thru the guarded south entrance of Fort Sheridan.

Mrs. Ruth S. Hunt.

The divorcée, clad in cloth coat and negligee, is Mrs. Ruth Staley Hunt, 40 years old, ex-wife of a broker and daughter of the late A. E. Staley, Decatur starch manufacturer. She was ordered held for the United States attorney by Col. Fredrick C. Rogers, post commandant. The victim of the shooting was Private Armand Marschick, 22, of Dearborn, Mich.

Victim Hit in Abdomen.

When Mrs. Hunt, who lives at 803 Roslyn lane, Highland Park, drove into the Walker avenue entrance of the fort in Highland Park the sentry ordered her to halt. She drove on. The sentry drew his pistol and fired one bullet at the car. It missed the car and struck Private Marschick, who was standing near by, in the abdomen.

As Mrs. Hunt stopped her car several military police ran up. She battled them with her fists and feet. Two cocker spaniel dogs sat in the car, but made no effort to aid her. The soldiers overpowered Mrs. Hunt, who protested that she had lost her way, and held her for Deputy Sheriffs Herman Larsen and Robert Jenkins.

Turnkey Is Scratched.

At the Waukegan jail, Mrs. Hunt put up another battle, crying, "I'm not going into those filthy cells." She was locked up after Turnkey Edward Zersen's face was scratched. According to deputies, Mrs. Hunt's attire consisted only of her coat, negligee, and slippers. She was wearing no stockings.

Deputies said she had been drinking. They recalled that she was arrested twice last June, once for alleged drunken driving and another time for alleged reckless driving. Both times she resisted arrest. She was fined $100 in one case in which the charge was reduced to disorderly conduct. Mrs. Hunt was divorced in 1939 from Floyd P. Hunt, a member of the Board of Trade. She has been widely known as a golfer and skeet shooter.

HOUSE EXTENDS DIES' PROBE FOR ANOTHER YEAR

Overwhelming Vote Backs Committee.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Over the protests of a small but vociferous group of left wingers, the house today voted, 331 to 46, to extend the life of the Dies committee on un-American activities for another year. The committee was created May 26, 1938, and has been continued since then by overwhelming votes at each session of congress.

The Illinois delegation voted solidly for the committee, with two exceptions. Representatives Adolph J. Sabath [5th district] and Anton F. Maciejewski [6th district] cast negative votes.

The opposition was led by Rep. Vito Marcantonio, American-Labor member from New York City who was elected with communist party support.

Dies Refutes Charges.

After Marcantonio had denounced the committee for persecuting communists in the United States while ignoring the "real menace of Fascist and Nazi activities," Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] took the floor in reply.

"This is the same old argument used from the beginning by the communist front groups," he declared. "The truth is that the committee exposed the German-American bund, the Silver legion, and other Nazi and Fascist outfits and sent their leaders to jail.

"It might be well to recall that the gentleman from New York was a consistent voter against lend-lease and other war preparedness legislation up to the time Russia was attacked."

Rep. Noah M. Mason [R., Ill.], a member of the committee, told the house that its work could best be appraised by an inspection of the character of its friends and enemies.

Lists "Hysterical" Enemies.

"I doubt if any committee of congress ever has been so hysterically attacked as the Dies committee," he said. "The Weckruf—newspaper of the German-American bund—contains scores of the most vicious articles against the committee. We are proud of that enmity.

"Three of the largest and most influential communist dominated organizations in this country have sent to the members of this house briefs containing scurrilous attacks on the committee. They are the National Lawyers' guild, the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties, and the International Labor Defense.

"Adolph Berle, assistant secretary of state, resigned from the National Lawyers' guild two years ago, declaring publicly that he had found that the guild was completely dominated by communists. The other two groups are composed almost exclusively of communists and communist fellow travelers."

RESCUE TEDDY, BEST DOGGONE MULE, FROM MINE

Boulder, Colo., March 11 (AP).—Only a little gaunt in the flanks, Teddy, a veteran mine mule, was led blinking into sunlight today after four days' imprisonment behind a fall of coal in the Crackerjack mine.

Joe Robertson, mine lessee, dished up rations of hay and grain for Teddy, and the mule champed eagerly his first meal since the cavein grazed his hide and trapped him.

Eight volunteers picked and shoveled their way thru about 60 feet of blocked tunnel to help Robertson rescue the mule. Teddy, says Robertson, "is the best working doggone mule I ever saw."

GASOLINE RATION IN EAST IS URGED BY OIL INDUSTRY

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—A card system of rationing gasoline to 10 million motorists in the east to cut consumption by 25 per cent was proposed today by the petroleum industry in view of the sinking and war diversion of tanker ships.

Until the rationing cards can be printed, which might require several weeks, the industry recommended that motor fuel deliveries to filling stations be cut by a fourth, with the stations apportioning their supplies among their customers.

The industry report proposed also that all filling stations in eastern states be closed from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m., that immediate action be taken to reduce deliveries of fuel oil, and that a pipe line be constructed from the gulf area to the New York-Philadelphia area.

Ickes to Act "Promptly."

Petroleum Coördinator Harold Ickes, who yesterday described the supply situation as "very acute," said he would act promptly, but could not say to what extent he would follow the industry's recommendations.

The area affected by the restriction proposals embraces the 17 seaboard states and the District of Columbia. The report hinted that rationing also might be necessary later in other areas.

Limitation of supplies to filling stations numbering about 100,000 and the curfew were adopted in the east last summer when approximately 100 tankers, which normally supply the seaboard by hauling oil from the gulf, were lent to Britain.

Cut 10 Per Cent Previously.

Many service stations then met the limited supplies situation by allowing each purchaser only a few gallons. Some retailers met all demands until their tanks were dry and then shut down until new quotas were delivered. The extent of curtailment then was 10 per cent.

Government officials apparently were undecided whether to apply the curfew only to the east or extend it thruout the country.

U. S. Supply at New High.

New York, March 11 [Special]. — The American Petroleum association's report for the week ended March 7 showed that east coast states had 18,408,000 barrels of gasoline on that date as compared with 19,027,000 a week earlier. The total United States gasoline supply rose to a high of 106,668,000 barrels, compared with 105,645,000 a week earlier and 96,075,000 on the comparable 1941 date.

Move to End Vacations of City Employes

A proposed war measure ordinance which would cancel vacations of approximately 20,000 city employés was given to the city council yesterday afternoon.

Mayor Kelly, who was responsible for the proposal, said Police Commissioner Allman and Fire Commissioner Corrigan had suggested that furloughs be canceled in their departments because of war activities. He said he believed that if such action was necessary in those departments it was needed in all city departments.

At the request of Ald. James S. Bowler [25th], finance committee chairman, who introduced the proposal for Mayor Kelly, it was referred to the finance committee.

Provisions of Ordinance.

The proposal provides for the cancellation of the 20 day furloughs enjoyed by police and firemen; 11 day vacations of skilled laborers, and 15 day vacations of office workers. It also provides for cancellation of all 15 day sick leaves. Mayor Kelly said he had not intended to cancel sick leaves and probably would not.

"Many men, particularly policemen and firemen, have left for the service, and more will go," the Mayor said. "At the same time men in both of those departments are in training or on special defense guard duty. This proposed ordinance is in the form of a suggestion and we are looking for expressions on the subject."

Defense Training Progressing.

At a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday in Hotel Sherman, Mayor Kelly said training is well under way in all departments of the Chicago civilian defense organization.

The mayor told the association members 95 per cent of the city's block captains have been elected and that 91,334 civilian defense volunteers have been assigned to duties.

HOUSE FOLLOWS SENATE REVOLT TO HIT DUMPING

Sale of Government Grain Regulated.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Joining the senate in rebellion against the expressed wishes of President Roosevelt, the house today voted, 116 to 47, in favor of legislation forbidding the sale of government owned stocks of farm commodities at less than parity prices.

Parity is the price fixed by the secretary of agriculture on farm products which is designed to give the farmer the same relative purchasing power he enjoyed in the 1909-'14 period.

F. D. R. Denounced Plans.

Mr. Roosevelt had denounced the proposed restriction on sales of the huge stocks of corn, wheat, cotton, and other crops accumulated by the government in the past few years. Authority to dispose of these stocks at below parity price was essential to control prices from rising too high and to meet the threat of inflation, he contended.

The Commodity Credit corporation, which may not sell its stores below parity prices by virtue of today's vote, is the owner of 158 million bushels of corn and of 298,321,000 bushels of wheat. The corporation also holds approximately 5 million bales of cotton, according to the best estimates of the house agricultural committee.

Sees Loss to Consumers.

The President estimated that consumers stood to lose a billion dollars if the legislation was enacted. He sent a letter to the senate Feb. 25 expressing his opposition to the bill but that body promptly passed the measure, 50 to 23.

Because Mr. Roosevelt probably would veto the measure if it stood alone, the parity price rider was attached in the house to the pending $695,000,000 agricultural appropriation bill. The President can't veto this measure without depriving the department of agriculture of funds to carry it thru the next fiscal year.

Commodity Credit Adjusted.

The house vote came on an amendment submitted by Rep. Walter M. Pierce [D., Ore.], which would have removed the parity price provision. The house had previously approved a modification of the restriction on surplus stock sales which will permit sales by the agricultural marketing administration for distribution exclusively for relief purposes. Grain which has substantially deteriorated in quality and is sold for feeding purposes, or the manufacture of alcohol, or commodities sold to farmers for seed, were also exempted.

Farm bloc leaders said their opposition to the President's request was based upon the contention that the farmer was entitled to parity prices to make him equal to business and labor.

START 3D DRAFT NUMBER DRAWING AT 5 P.M. MARCH 17

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—Selective service officials today set 5 p. m. [Chicago war time] as the hour for starting March 17 the draft lottery which will determine the order of liability for service of an estimated 9 million men who registered Feb. 16.

Officials said Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson had been asked to draw the first capsule in the lottery, the third since the enactment of the selective service law, but the first since war was declared.

All the Feb. 16 registrants — men aged 20 to 44 inclusive who had not previously registered—now are being assigned serial numbers. Capsules bearing these numbers will be drawn from a goldfish bowl and the order in which they are drawn will determine the registrant's order number.

BRITISH PLANES ATTACK TIRPITZ, NAZI BATTLESHIP

Vessel Escapes in Midst of Smoke Screen.

LONDON, March 11 (AP).—The 50,000 ton superdreadnaught Tirpitz, ghost ship of the German navy, has been spotted at sea, attacked by British torpedo planes, and chased to refuge in Norway, the admiralty announced tonight.

A five sentence communique suggested that strong naval forces of both sides were operating off Norway.

The Nazis risked the Tirpitz and probably others of their best warships in what was described as a futile attempt to destroy a British convoy carrying war materials to Russia.

Attacked with Torpedoes.

The admiralty communique said:

"As a result of reconnaissance it became known that the German battleship Tirpitz had left Trondheim [Norway] and was proceeding in a northerly direction up the coast of Norway.

"On the morning of Monday, March 9, the Tirpitz was located and attacked with torpedoes by naval aircraft.

"It was not possible to observe in detail the result of this attack, but the Tirpitz was last seen retiring under cover of a heavy smoke screen toward the Norwegian coast.

"Our surface forces did not succeed in making contact with the enemy, but any attempt to attack our convoy was frustrated.

"Two of our aircraft did not return from the attack on the Tirpitz."

[A British radio broadcast said that "since the Tirpitz was seen in Trondheim the arrival of a big British convoy in Russian waters carrying arms, munitions, and food for the Russian army has been announced."]

Major Vessels Involved.

Whether the Tirpitz was damaged was not made clear. It was recalled that torpedo planes played the major rôle in bringing to bay and sinking her sister ship, the Bismarck, last May 26. It was believed that the British planes which attacked the Tirpitz came from an aircraft carrier.

Informed British sources said the fight probably was the same action mentioned in a German communique yesterday, which reported Nazi naval forces sank a soviet merchantman and shot down three British planes off Bear Island, between Spitzbergen and northern Norway. Bear Island is more than 800 miles north of Trondheim and out of the way of normal sea lanes from Britain to Northern Russia.

Hint Major Units in Area.

The admiralty did not say whether the British surface forces included major units, but unofficial sources said, "We certainly would not be sending along any little ships to swap punches with the Tirpitz."

The Tirpitz is listed in Jane's Fighting Ships as a 35,000 ton ship, but the victors over the Bismarck said this twin displaced at least 50,000 tons, carried a crew of 2,400, and had exceptional armor—all attributes which the Tirpitz is presumed to duplicate.

BRITAIN TO TEST INDIANS FIRST ON HOME RULE PLAN

Sending Cripps to See if It Will Work.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 11.—Announcement that Sir Stafford Cripps, member of the war cabinet, will visit India with a new offer to Indian leaders to rally that country at the 11th hour as an active partner in the united nations' war effort was welcomed here today, even in Indian circles.

Sir Stafford Cripps.

The announcement was made by Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who told the house of commons that the war cabinet has agreed unanimously on a plan to smooth the way for eventual dominion status for India. He said Cripps was being sent there to find out if the plan will work. While Churchill called the plan "a strong contribution to aid India in the realization of full self-government," he said it would not be announced for fear its rejection by important Indian circles might "provoke fierce communal disputes at the moment when the enemy is at the gates of India."

Cripps a Friend of India.

Cripps will start his mission with the advantage of being a trusted friend of India's 390 millions and a confidante of many high Indian leaders, both Hindu and Moslem. While no one minimized the tremendous task entrusted to Cripps, the former ambassador to Russia himself volunteered, according to Churchill, to impress upon the Indian leaders the necessity of that country accepting the cabinet's proposals.

While Churchill requested the press here and in India not to speculate on the terms of the new proposals, in order to prevent either side from being committed in advance to irreconcilable policies, it is understood the program offers less than the immediate independence demanded by some Indian leaders, but more than postwar introduction of self-government. Some members of parliament felt it would leave Britain in control of military operations in India to the end of the war.

Reports reaching London from Bombay intimated the news of Churchill's decision to send Cripps to India to determine whether the government plan will achieve its purpose has "electrified political and business circles" there. It is said to have been acclaimed as the best news concerning the east since the arrival of Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in India recently.

Hail Selection of Cripps.

Cripps' "deep understanding of the Indian people, his close contact with prominent national leaders, his sympathy for Indian aspirations, and his broad vision," according to these reports, "fit him ideally to bring about unity among the political parties and a settlement between India and Britain."

It is understood that Cripps will leave for India as soon as possible. His mission will necessitate an absence of four to six weeks, during which time Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden will act for him as leader of the house of commons.

British Producing More Powerful Torpedo Plane

LONDON, March 11 (AP).—A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, told the house of commons today that "a much more powerful and faster" torpedo bombing plane now is coming into active production for the fleet air arm, which lost all of the torpedo-carrying Swordfish planes with which it sought to prevent the German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau from running the straits of Dover. Alexander said the fleet air arm had been furnished with fighter planes and other types from the United States, but that "a good many alterations had to be made to make them successful."

BRITISH BRACING FOR 2 JAP DRIVES ON UPPER BURMA

Rebel Natives Near Prome Join Invaders.

MANDALAY, Burma, March 11 (AP).—British forces some 150 miles north of lost Rangoon braced themselves today for expected assaults on Toungoo and Prome by Japanese who already have gained possession of the broad Irrawaddy delta of lower Burma. The two cities are 80 miles apart and about one-third of the distance from Rangoon to Mandalay.

Unofficially the Japanese were reported to have reached a village 16 miles south of Toungoo and to have established contact with bands of rebellious Burmese along the Irrawaddy river for an attack on Prome.

Mandalay Believed Objective.

Altho a northward offensive along the general line from the Bay of Bengal on the west to the Thailand border on the east would leave the Japanese right flank endangered by Chinese forces, the invaders apparently were preparing to take this risk in the hope of getting at Mandalay, pivot of Burma's continuing defense.

It was reported meanwhile that the Chinese in the Shan states, on the eastern end of the new allied Burma line, would be supported by large numbers of American planes. These troops are now taking their full share in defense of central Burma under the British commander, Lieut. Gen. H. R. L. G. Alexander.

With the ports of Rangoon and Bassein now open to Japanese warships, it was considered likely that the next Japanese move might be directed against Akyab, port near the frontier of India, and the Chittagong coast of India.

U. S. General Off for Burma.

CHUNGKING, China, March 11 (AP). After a week in Chungking, United States Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, newly appointed chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, left for Burma by air today to study the military situation there, confer with British commanders, and inspect Chinese troops.

TIRE PRICE RULE IS GOOD POLICY, DEALERS DECIDE

Members of the Tire Dealers, Inc., an association of independent tire dealers, met yesterday in Hotel Sherman and voted to support the government in protecting the public from price gouging in the purchase of used tires and tubes.

Norval P. Trimborn, general counsel and spokesman for the dealers, said that the price ceiling established Tuesday by Leon Henderson, national price administrator, is good from every standpoint.

A survey of tire dealers showed relatively few sales of tires. Several admitted that they still are charging two and three times the prices which will be permissible Monday when the ceiling goes into effect. Meanwhile, County Assessor John S. Clark announced that assessments on inventories of auto and tire dealers will be made on the basis of equity and ability to pay.

FIGHT THE ENEMY ON HIS HOMELAND, GEN. DRUM URGES

New York, March 11 [Special].—Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commander of the 1st army, today declared that attacks on United States shores could be reduced and eventually eliminated by a powerful striking force carrying the war to the enemy in his homeland.

Gen. Drum spoke at a luncheon for the New York State Guard, at which other speakers were Maj. Gen. Irving J. Phillipson, commander of the second corps area, and Maj. Gen. William Ottmann, commander of the guard.

Gen. Drum said he had challenged the military view after the first World war of confining United States defense of shorelines and land positions, and had urged forces to keep war out of America by meeting the enemy in his own country. "That need exists today as never before," he declared. "We must carry the fight to the enemy before he can carry it in full force to our shores."

CHINESE FIGHTING ATTACK IN AREA CLOSE TO JAPAN

CHUNGKING, China, March 11 (AP).—Severe fighting in which both Chinese and Japanese troops have suffered heavy losses has been going on since March 1 in southwestern Shantung province, one of the Chinese-held positions closest to Japan, a high command communique said tonight.

The war bulletin said the fight began with an attack by 30,000 Japanese troops against the towns of Tsaohsien, Hotse, and Tingtao, near the Honan province border.

The Japanese were believed to be attempting to remove a Chinese threat to the Lunghai and Tientsin-Pukow railways.

DOUBTS INVASION SOON BY EITHER SIDE IN EUROPE

An Observer Reports on London in War.

New York, March 11 [Special].—Neither a German attempt to invade England nor an Anglo-American invasion thrust at Europe is likely this year, Guy Murchie, Chicago Tribune correspondent, said today after his return from two years in the British Isles. He also saw little probability that Winston Churchill soon would be ousted as prime minister.

Murchie arrived here on a ship that sailed with a British convoy across the North Atlantic. Aside from some rough weather, he said the trip was uneventful.

"The general feeling is that a German invasion is not likely," said Murchie, "tho Churchill still is worrying the people about it. For one thing, the Russians seem to be keeping the Germans pretty busy. Then, British reconnaissance is such that German steps toward invasion would be known well in advance.

40 Nazi Divisions Near.

"A British intelligence officer told me some months ago that the Germans had 40 divisions in western Europe, about 30 of them in France. But they supposedly are interested entirely in the defensive, and have built considerable defense works. This is given as one reason why the British could not invade the continent.

"An invasion of Europe also seems to me not very likely this year because American troops have not arrived in sufficient numbers."

British dissatisfaction with defeats in the Pacific, in addition to European and African setbacks, is not such as to make Mr. Churchill's removal likely, in Murchie's opinion.

"His tremendous personal popularity is such," explained the correspondent, "that he seems able to get away with almost anything. Feeling was strong against those around him, and of course the cabinet has been changed since I left.

Churchill Is Cautious.

"Churchill is always careful not to express false optimism, as some around him have done, and is very shrewd that way. Three weeks before Singapore fell, he warned that it might fall."

Murchie likened the bombings of London to severe thunderstorms, and said Londoners came to know that the lightning would not strike unless the bombers were heard directly overhead.

"But I think," he said, "that the attacks on London have been exaggerated as to the horror of it all. I would say the people were remarkably untouched by war.

"Londoners had no thought of giving up during the heavy bombings—nor did there seem any reason to think of doing so."

Food Is Plentiful.

Murchie said that many buildings were destroyed, but that the amount of damage was due to repeated bombings and not a single raid that might create widespread fear or hysteria.

The correspondent said there was plenty of food in England for nourishment, altho variety is lacking and many of "the things that taste good" are scarce, except in the extensive black [illegal] markets. "You can get all the meat you want if you have money enough to buy it in the black market. Horse meat is supposed to be declared as such, but this is not always done. Sometimes the menu lists it as venison. You can get champagne at the Savoy if you have the money."

BRAZIL CALLS IN ALL SHIPS AND WARNS WAR NEAR

Vargas Ready to Take Axis Property.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, March 11 (AP).—Brazil was given pointed notice tonight that President Getulio Vargas holds single handed power to declare war, and further indication of this nation's approach to open hostilities appeared in the withdrawal of all Brazilian merchant ships from the seas, where at least four have been sunk by the axis.

Getulio Vargas.

President Vargas by decree reiterated his constitutional powers to declare war or a state of national emergency and cleared the way for seizure of axis subjects and property.

Brazil's anger toward the axis was indicated by headlines on the latest known sinking, news of which was withheld until early tonight.

Confiscation of axis property in Brazil was expected, orders on what to seize already having been drafted.

Informed yesterday of loss of the 5,152 ton Cayru, President Vargas spent the day conferring with Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha and the acting minister of justice, Vasco Leitao da Cunha, preparing the counteraction indicated in today's decree.

Argentina Will Aid.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, March 11 (AP).—A high government source declared tonight that in case of war between Brazil and the axis powers Argentina would give "reciprocal assistance" to her neighbor nation, meaning that Brazil would be declared nonbelligerent.

BRITISH FORCES LAND AT NASSAU, BAHAMA ISLANDS

NASSAU, Bahamas, March 11 (AP).—A detachment of British forces has landed at Nassau.

The British colony of Bahama is 180 miles off the Florida coast. The duke of Windsor, governor of the colony of 70,000 persons, recently went to Miami, where he conferred with United States navy and royal air force officers about defense of the islands. The results of his conferences were not made public.

The island of New Providence, on which Nassau is situated, once was a Caribbean stronghold against pirates who preyed on coastal shipping. In recent years the colony's only armament has been ancient, heavily rusted cannon, used for display.

GET WORD FROM CORREGIDOR—AN INSURANCE CLAIM

Baltimore, Md., March 11 (AP).—Troops on Corregidor Island in Manila bay aren't too busy with the Japanese to collect on an insurance policy.

The Maryland Casualty company said today it had been notified by radio from Corregidor of a $500 loss at the post exchange, covered by a fidelity bond written by the company. The firm waived formal proof of loss and made arrangements to pay the claim to the adjutant general's office in Washington.

Officials said they believed the claim covered the loss of watches previous to United States involvment in the war.

49,700 GERMANS SLAIN IN MONTH, RUSSIA REPORTS

MOSCOW, March 12 [Thursday]—(AP).—A special Russian communique today announced 49,700 Germans had been killed on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, between Feb. 5 and March 3. In the month long fighting the Russians recaptured 161 inhabited points, the soviet bulletin said.

Kalinin is 95 miles northwest of Moscow. In the general sector west of Kalinin [which might embrace Staraya Russa, where 96,000 Nazis recently were trapped by the Russians] the Germans have established strong positions which they are reported to have been ordered by Adolf Hitler to hold at all costs.

In the fighting on the Kalinin front the Russians reported they destroyed 277 German planes and captured 78 tanks and 172 guns, in addition to vast quantities of other booty.

Reds Capture Key Junction.

Red army troops last night were reported also to have captured a key junction in the Lake Ilmen area, where soviet fighter planes steadily have destroyed big Nazi transport planes trying to ferry reënforcements to the German 16th army trapped at Staraya Russa.

Dispatches from the Staraya Russa sector said the Germans were using an aerial transport route from Koenigsberg, in eastern Germany, via Riga, Latvia, in an effort to shuttle plane loads of 30 to 35 men to the encircled garrison. Twenty-five such transports were reported smashed in three days.

Prior to the announcement of the slaughter of 49,700 Nazis on the Kalinin front, the Russians yesterday said they had breached a strong German defense line beyond that point. Consisting of a system of heavily fortified villages near a "certain populated point," the German fortifications were said to have been called the "Strauss line." Tangled wire, walls of ice, and strongly manned pillboxes were overrun by the Russians, it was said.

Seize Point Near Sevastopol.

Soviet aerial successes were summed up in reports which said the soviets had a 19 to 5 advantage yesterday, that 83 German planes were knocked down Sunday, and that between Feb. 20 and March 6 the Nazis lost 576 planes on all Russian fronts, against the loss of 127 soviet planes.

In other war reports the Russians claimed the capture of a German "basic point" in the heights ringing Sevastopol in the Crimea. The heights, consisting of five fortified points linked by deep trenches, were blasted by long range artillery and then stormed by infantry which found 300 dead in the positions, it was declared.

An official communique said that on the front west of Moscow three communities were recaptured by the Red army in fighting in which the Germans "sustained heavy losses."

[Reports from Berlin said German soldiers have repelled mass attacks by the Russians on the southern front, altho the Nazis admittedly were on the defensive elsewhere. The Germans said the Russians were making "unsuccessful counterattacks" at isolated points on the central and northern fronts. The Nazi air force was said to have heavily bombed Kandalaksha harbor in the far north, destroying a supply train.]

Order 200,000 Hawaiians to Take Smallpox Vaccine

HONOLULU, March 11 (AP).—The military governor's office said today all persons in Honolulu and nearby districts, totaling about 200,000, would be required to take immunization treatment against smallpox and typhoid fever beginning April 1. People were urged to visit their physicians.

LASH, REFUSED A COMMISSION, ASKS INDUCTION

New York, March 11 [Special].—Joseph P. Lash, veteran youth organization leader and close friend of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who sponsored his recent unsuccessful effort to obtain a commission in naval intelligence, today said he has applied for voluntary induction in the army.

Col. Arthur V. McDermott of New York, director of selective service, said that if Lash's application is accepted and he passes his examinations he probably would not be inducted before next month.

The navy department conducted an exhaustive inquiry into Lash's admitted past close connections with communist leaders in the youth movement after he had applied for a commission in naval intelligence last fall. He was not accepted.

AIR SUPERIORITY IS SECRET OF JAP SUCCESS—HART

'But, 'Says Admiral, 'They Paid a Heavy Price.'

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Japanese successes in the western Pacific were attributed to air superiority by Adm. Thomas C. Hart, former commander of the allied naval forces in the southwest Pacific, in a statement today.

Adm. Hart, who withdrew the American Asiatic fleet from its base at Cavite in the Philippines without the loss of a ship, added that the Japs have paid a heavy price for their successes. In comparison with the enemy losses, allied losses have been small, he said.

Hart, who returned to Washington during the week, made his observations on the war at a press conference of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox. At the same time Adm. Ernest J. King, recently appointed chief of naval operations as well as commander in chief of the fleet, made a statement promising that the fleet will take the offensive.

Calls It "Amphibious War."

Hart's statement repeatedly emphasized Japanese air superiority and he described the campaign as an "amphibious war"—war on land and sea—"the most difficult and least known variety of warfare."

In reply to questioning the admiral said that with the loss of Java, it can be said that virtually the entire ABDA—Australian, British, Dutch, and American—area is now under Jap control.

"But a campaign is not a war," he said. "Many wars have been won after the loss of several campaigns."

The statement said the Japs had the advantage of familiarity with the theater of war, noting that Japanese fishermen had long plied the waters.

"She [Japan] prepared her blows in advance, evidently with thoroness, and the surprise element gave her forces a tremendous advantage," the statement said.

Flank Attack Easiest.

Asked whether the allies would seek to regain the lost territory by a frontal attack or by flank operations, the admiral answered that a frontal attack is the most difficult, while flank attack is usually easier.

He would not elaborate on his statement except to explain why Adm. Phillips, British naval commander, set out with the battleships Prince of Wales and Repulse against the Japs without air support. The ships were sunk by Jap planes.

"Phillips knew," he said, "that, if he could get among the Japanese concentration of transports and other vessels operating against Malaya, he could inflict tremendous losses. He took into consideration forecasts of unfavorable weather, but the weather proved good for flying.

"He was taking a chance. The risk was great, but the possibility for gains was enormous."

At the conference Knox introduced King in his first appearance before the press in the dual rôle of commander in chief of the fleet and chief of naval operations.

"I have noticed a new book on the market, a book which I have not yet read," King said. "But its title is 'Defense Will Not Win This War.' To that title I subscribe."

SURPRISE ATTACK BY AIR URGED AS U. S. STRATEGY

New York, March 11 [Special].—The United States must plan its war strategy on the basis of surprise attack by plane, Glenn L. Martin, the airplane manufacturer, asserted today.

A superior force in the field against us dwindles to unimportance, he told the New York Advertising club, if our strategy is the surprise attack, with the determination to keep on attacking.

"There is no defense—land or water—against a surprise attack by planes," Martin said.

Sea Scouts Lend Boats to Firemen

Will Get Pumps

Three 36 foot open power boats were turned over to the city council by Commodore David Zimmerman of the Sea Scouts of America yesterday for the duration of the war. Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney of the fire department said they will be converted into fireboats for use on the river.

James M. Gleason, superintendent of the fire department shops, will install engines capable of pumping 1,200 gallons of water a minute, and the boats will be stationed at strategic points. The council recently ordered a new full size fireboat to supplement the two in use.

DUTCH TO FIGHT GUERRILLA WAR, SAYS PREMIER

Victorious 1943 Drive by Allies Forecast.

LONDON, March 11 (AP).—Premier Peter Gerbrandy of the Netherlands government in exile declared in a broadcast tonight that the Dutch now would carry on guerrilla warfare in the Pacific in preparation for a large scale offensive next year.

"In 1943," he promised, "it will be an offensive in a larger association together with our allies, when sea and air supremacy will be obtained.

Replies to German Taunts.

"Until then shall we sit with folded arms? Shall we admit what the German accomplices call out to us derisively—'You see that the whole policy of collaboration with the democratic state has led to calamity.'

"I am convinced that every true Netherlander has the answer ready, while many already have given a clear answer. We will keep on fighting."

Gerbrandy cited as bright spots in the "dark clouds" the maintenance of allied communication lines in the Atlantic, the loss of millions of axis soldiers in Russia, the protection of the Suez canal, and the fact that "the so-called Italian empire has been smashed to smithereens."

Cites British Bravery in '40.

"This war is and remains a world war," Gerbrandy said in advising the Dutch to bear up in this difficult hour as the British did in May of 1940. "In this struggle the temporary fall of the Netherlands East Indies is but an incident.

"Our situation in Europe and Asia happens to be the one offering the easiest target. This is a heritage of our fathers which we must accept. But the struggle, in its entirety, continues."

Escaped Dutch Join Australians.

CANBERRA, Australia, March 11.—Dr. H. J. Van Mook, lieutenant governor general of the Dutch East Indies, today arranged with Prime Minister John Curtin to discuss with service chiefs the most effective means of using the Dutch forces evacuated from the Netherlands East Indies in continuance of the war against Japan. He said considerable naval forces had escaped and that some air corps students would complete their training in Australia or elsewhere and then enter the fight.

Van Mook denied that the Netherlands East Indies had surrendered to Japan. The army is still holding out in many places in Java and Sumatra and a considerable area of the latter is still in Dutch hands, he declared. Every Dutch commander has been expressly instructed to fight on without thought of surrender, no matter what contrary instructions he might later receive, and this course is being followed, he said.

FRENCH FAITHFUL TO THE REPUBLIC, BLUM DECLARES

RIOM, France, March 11 (AP).—Leon Blum in a spell binding peroration told the Riom war guilt court and representatives of the American republics today that he considered the French people still faithful to the republic, and declared he was ready to collaborate with the communists to fight for it.

Blum, socialist leader who headed France's popular front government, concluded his defense with the words:

"We respected those who had faith in us. That faith still exists. It will bear fruit in a future day in which we place all our hope. This trial, directed against the republic, will itself hasten its coming."

The axis, he said, was responsible for the war, and not the defendant French leaders.

Sitting in the diplomatic tribune were S. Pinkney Tuck, counsellor of the United States embassy, Brazilian Minister De Melo and the Argentine military attaché, Col. Quiroga.

WHAT PRICE JAP SUCCESSES? IT'S ANYBODY'S GUESS

Reports on Naval Toll in Pacific Confusing.

How strong the Japanese navy still is after more than three months of unremitting warfare can only be guessed. Reports of naval losses and gains emanating from Washington, London, and the southwest Pacific are sometimes contradictory, frequently misleading, and nearly always, when read together, confusing. Not all of them can be true.

Adm. Thomas C. Hart, former commander of allied naval forces in the southwest Pacific, said in Washington yesterday that the Japs had paid a heavy toll for their successes and that the allied losses in comparison had been small. He did not go into details.

The war department in Washington said yesterday that eight heavy American bombers raided a New Guinea port and sank two ships, set four others on fire and left another beached. On Monday the navy department reported its submarines had sunk a large enemy destroyer and a naval tanker and put an aircraft carrier and three cruisers out of commission during the preceding week.

Jap Losses Not Staggering.

By the navy's figures the United States had successfully attacked 138 Japanese ships up to this week, and of these 52 were combat vessels. If those reported wrecked by bombs yesterday were naval ships, Japan has lost 59.

Such losses have not been staggering. From Canberra, Australian capital, came a dispatch yesterday saying that "despite heavy allied aerial blows, Japanese invasion fleets continued to advance."

Claims Jap Fleet "Unimpaired."

London reported: "The strength of the main [Japanese] fleet is not seriously impaired and their general command of the sea, supported by air strength, has allowed them to exploit their successes in whatever direction they chose."

The London authority disclosing this view to the Associated Press added that there are three ways the Japs can go now—on into Australia, westward into India or eastward to the Fiji Islands with the idea of cutting America's supply lines to Australia. He also said the loss of Rangoon had "uncovered" the Indian ocean and that the Japanese might be expected to attack commerce all the way to Ceylon. He suggested that the main Japanese battle fleet still is intact in home waters.

Also in London the exiled Netherlands premier, Peter Gerbrandy, asserted that the combined Dutch and American fleets in Java waters were less than one-third the strength of the enemy's combat force, altho they inflicted heavy damage to Japanese convoys and escorts. He asserted the Japs had 99 war vessels in the big push—14 cruisers, 55 destroyers, 25 submarines and 5 plane carriers.

The desperate Java defense lasted 12 days, Gerbrandy said, and ended because the Japs had fourfold superiority on land and tenfold in the air.

STIMSON INSPECTS CANAL DEFENSES BY LAND, SEA AND AIR

BALBOA, C. Z., March 11 (AP).—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson is inspecting the Canal Zone defenses on his first trip outside the United States since the country went to war. Disclosure of Stimson's presence here was permitted today, a day after his arrival by plane under escort of a dozen fighters.

The secretary, with Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, commander in chief of the Caribbean area, and high ranking officers, began a tour yesterday and continued it today by plane, automobile, and boat. Stimson and his aides visited harbor and coast defenses and discussed and perfected plans for a unified command and operations in the canal sector.

They took off today at 10:30 a. m., with fighter escort, for an air tour across and around the Canal Zone. This afternoon they inspected the Atlantic side of the defenses and studied progress of construction of the third set of locks at Gatun. Harvey Bundy, assistant secretary of war for air, and Col. E. L. Harrison, aide to Stimson, were in the group.

WORLD SHIPPING LOSS ESTIMATED AT ONE-FOURTH

Say 16 Million Tons Sunk Since War Started.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—More than one quarter of the world's shipping has gone to Davy Jones' locker since the outbreak of the war.

In 1939, there were 63,000,000 tons of ocean shipping afloat among the maritime powers. In two and a half years more than 16,000,000 tons of shipping have been sunk at sea.

Of the losses more than 9,000,000 tons of allied vessels are at the bottom and more than 6,000,000 tons of axis vessels met a similar fate. Neutral losses are small because neutrals in the present conflict are scarce.

British Loss Heaviest.

British losses have been the heaviest. Britain started the war with 21,000,000 gross tons of shipping. The fleet accounted for two-thirds of the empire commerce, because at least another 10,000,000 tons of vessels under foreign flags were required to supply the empire needs.

Britain stopped releasing ship losses at the end of June, 1941. At that time British and allied losses totaled 7,220,000. At the end of October Prime Minister Winston Churchill announced that the losses had reached 7,850,000 tons.

The United Kingdom Chamber of Shipping estimated losses from July 1, 1941, to Dec. 31, 1941, at about 180,000 tons a month or 1,080,000 tons. This with the announced losses of 7,220,000 tons as of June 30, 1941, brought the total of British and allied losses to about 8,600,000 tons as of Jan. 1. It is estimated here that losses in January and February brought the total of British and allied losses, excluding the United States, to about 9,000,000.

Recent Toll Is Heavy.

Including the United States, united nations losses are well over the 9,000,000 ton mark. In the Atlantic submarines have taken a toll of 130,895 tons of United States shipping from Dec. 7 to March 1. No detailed data has been released on shipping losses in the Pacific.

While this toll is small as against total American ocean going shipping of 8,134,890 tons at the outbreak of the war, it is considered a serious loss. Statistics of the American merchant marine are now a military secret. President Roosevelt has called for construction of 8,000,000 tons of shipping in 1942 and 10,000,000 tons in 1943. Construction in 1941 was but 1,000,000 tons.

There is a wide disparity between the British estimates of losses and the losses the Nazis estimate they inflicted on allied shipping. German officials claim about 15,000,000 tons of allied shipping has been destroyed.

Improvement Questionable.

Against the British shipping losses are the gains made by seizure, capture, charter, new building, and purchase. It is estimated that the British gains total between 9,000,000 and 12,500,000 tons.

While it would appear that the British shipping picture, excluding the United States, is as bright if not brighter than it was since the outbreak of the war, maritime experts say that this is not true.

On paper, they say Britain appears to have about the same tonnage she had when the war began, or 21,000,000 tons. However, Britain does not have the 10,000,000 tons of vessels of foreign flags which served empire needs. Further, many ships are in military service and many are laid up for repairs. Today ships must take longer trips. Vessels which once carried food to Britain from European ports must now go to distant colonies and the United States for supplies.

Have Potential Superiority.

Since the United States entered the war the British shipping picture has measureably improved. The allied forces now possess great potential superiority over the axis resources for the war at sea. However, military and naval experts say, the advantage is still largely potential because the united nations are still translating this advantage into fighting power.

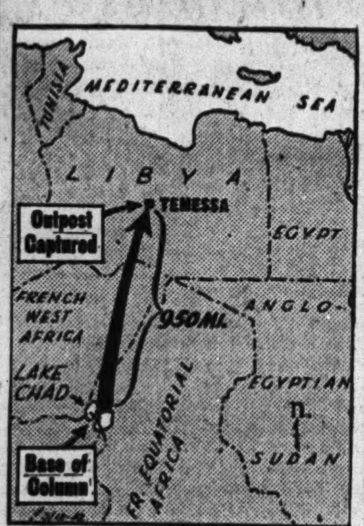
To use the advantage to the full the allies need the most expert of management. Scientific organization demands consideration of the needs of neutrals as well as allies, the efficient dispatching of vessels, taking of the best possible precautions against subs, skilful loading, and the like.

Experts say that shipping must be made available to the 32 nations designated as vital to the defense of the United States. These must receive weapons and vital imports and must export their products.

The increased activity of axis submarines is complicating the shipping problem. Larger naval escorts are necessary. Because of the scarcity of naval vessels, convoys have been large and large convoys create inefficiency because all vessels must travel at the pace of the slowest ship. To meet this problem vessels should be grouped, whenever possible, according to speed and the fastest armed vessels can cross alone because they can hold their own in an encounter with a sub or escape the slower under sea vessels.

Naval experts agree that the submarine problem is serious. Submarine warfare has become increasingly effeotive in the last few months and can be expected to become worse unless the allies take drastic action against U-boats. Until recently these operated chiefly from France and fjords of Norway. Since the entry of this country into the war, the submarines have crossed the Atlantic and are taking a heavy toll of American shipping.

'Free French' Advance



Further gains were reported yesterday by a column of "Free French" forces fighting northward thru Libya from Lake Chad.

LONDON, March 11 (AP).—Fighting a six day sandstorm in the almost trackless desert, a "Free French" force tonight was reported to have captured the axis outpost of Temessa and four smaller posts in a 150-mile continuation of its invasion of Libya from the Lake Chad region far to the south. Temessa is 320 miles south of the gulf of Sirte, from which the British 8th army had to withdraw in the face of the latest axis counterattack. Italian prisoners and important documents were seized at Temessa.

There was an upsurge, too, in the fighting in eastern Cirenaica. A British communique said enemy patrols supported by artillery and tanks were forced to withdraw, leaving prisoners and some mechanized transport in British hands.

[The Italian high command yesterday said Italian patrols had repulsed British patrols in a clash near El Mekili, about 80 miles west of Tobruk. Eleven British planes were reported destroyed in raids on the Mediterranean island of Malta. The high command also said Italian torpedo boats have sunk two submarines, raising British submarine losses in the Mediterranean in the last month to six.]

57 HIGH RANKING OFFICERS ON NEW PROMOTION LIST

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—Promotions for 57 high ranking army officers were sent to the senate today by President Roosevelt for confirmation.

Col. Manton S. Eddy.

Heading the list was Maj. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell of Little Rock, Ark., who was named commanding general of the services of supply in the recent army reorganization.

Five of Somervell's staff, colonels nominated to be brigadier generals, also were in the list. They were: Charles D. Young, Wilhelm D. Styer, James Edward Wharton, Lucius D. Clay and Raymond G. Moses.

In all 44 colonels were nominated to be brigadier generals, among them Manton S. Eddy of Chicago.

EDDY IS A CHICAGOAN.

Col. Manton S. Eddy, nominated for promotion to brigadier general, is a son of Mrs. George M. Eddy Sr., 1511 Hyde Park boulevard. He is 49 years old and has been with the 9th division. He was wounded twice overseas during the World war. He has three brothers, John E. and George M. Jr., both of Hinsdale, and William S., of Winnetka.

EIGHT FLEE FROM FIRE.

Eight persons were driven from a two story frame house at 3445 Ravenswood avenue yesterday by fire. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Matson Ship Lost in Pacific; Bar Use of Vessels' Names

Freighter Victim

San Francisco, Cal., March 11 (AP).—The Matson Navigation company's 3,275 ton freighter Malama was presumed lost in the Pacific by the navy today. The disclosure of radio messages from the ship indicated she was followed by an unidentified plane on Jan. 1.

Twelfth naval district headquarters said the radio station at Papeete, Tahiti, received a message from the Malama reporting she was being followed. Later another communication received at Raratonga, Cook Island, said she was "ordered to stop by an unidentified plane."

The British admiralty disclosed later that the Malama was "lost by surface attack," the navy said.

The Malama, built in 1919 at Newark, N. J., carried a crew of 33. Her master was Capt. Malcolm R. Peters of San Mateo, Cal.

Ship Sunk in West Indies.

HAVANA, Cuba, Marsh 12 (AP).—Authorities permitted disclosure today that 10 survivors of a United States merchant ship had arrived at Baracoa, Cuba, last night after their vessel had been shelled and sunk 50 miles off Puerto Plata, in the Dominican Republic. The 10 were picked up at sea by a Honduran ship. It was believed 16 other survivors had been landed at Puerto Plata.

Ship Names Secret

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox announced today that in the future the navy would bar the use of the names of merchant vessels sunk by enemy action and at the same time denied that the navy has been withholding information on American naval losses or attacks, as charged by Japan.

Knox said that hereafter ships sunk will be identified as "large, medium, and small." He said that the announcement of the size and type of a vessel sunk by a sub thru publication of its name can be of prime military importance to the enemy.

It was said that in some instances the vessel may be named in the official announcement of its sinking by the navy department in which case newspapers will be free to use the name of the vessel in reporting the sinking and in stories secured by interviewing survivors.

JAP ATROCITIES IN HONGKONG TOLD BY EYEWITNESS

Reveals Women Raped, Then Bayoneted.

CHUNGKING, China, March 11 (AP). —Phyllis Harrop, first foreign woman to escape from Japanese-occupied Hongkong, today gave an eyewitness account of the atrocities committed by the invaders, confirming the report before Britain's house of commons yesterday by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Miss Harrop, whose anti-vice crusades while attached to the British secretariat of foreign affairs in Hongkong won her the name of "Hongkong's District Attorney Dewey" said both Chinese and Europeans were victims of the invaders.

"My own houseboy was killed—bayoneted in the stomach for no apparent reason," she declared. "Fourteen other Chinese in the same house were killed. My own Amah [woman servant] was raped by three or four Japanese soldiers and left in a very serious condition.

Japs Bayoneted Victims.

"Foreign women also were raped, including an Englishwoman who first was slashed in the face with a soldier's belt. Her husband afterward found her dead from bayonet wounds.

"The Japanese did not shoot any of their victims, but invariably bayoneted them to death."

Miss Harrop, an Englishwoman who escaped from the former crown colony in mid-January, said all American, Dutch, and British men, women, and children were interned in the Stanley district of Hongkong Island, while prisoners of war were interned at Kowloon, on the mainland.

She said the civilian internees—600 Americans, 3,000 British, and 70 Dutch nationals—each were given two bowls of rice and a small ration of vegetables daily. They also were given fish occasionally, but never any meat.

Picture of Jap Occupation.

There was no foreign food available, she declared, since the Japanese shipped it all to Japan.

Miss Harrop gave this picture of the Japanese occupation:

The invaders seized all the metal they could find. The famous bronze lions at the Hongkong and Shanghai bank building, where the United States consulate general had its offices, were shipped to Japan. Automobiles also were sent to Japan.

The colony has been looted thoroly. All industry has shut down.

When the Japanese occupied Hongkong they disclaimed any knowledge of the Geneva convention covering the treatment of prisoners of war. Except for two small military hospitals, the Japanese took over all the chief hospitals and equipment and gave the sick and wounded 24 hours' notice or less to get out.

ARMY MAGAZINE FINDS M'ARTHUR ADVICE IGNORED

General, in '31, Asked U.S. to Prepare.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, defender of the Philippines, is suffering from disregard of his own warnings to the American people for adequate preparedness and proper equipment, Army Ordnance, semi-official military publication, declared today in an editorial.

The publication cited articles by the general in its files which warned the American people of the necessity for industrial preparedness and adequate arms. Altho MacArthur foresaw 10 years ago the danger to the security of the United States from lack of sufficient military preparedness, his warnings were disregarded, the magazine stated.

Influence Paradoxical.

"The battle of Bataan, the first in which American stamina has shown itself in a campaign in this war, has reintroduced to the American people a great soldier whose influence on our national defense during the past three decades now becomes the most paradoxical in our military annals," the editorial said. "This man, great tactician and fearless soldier, is now suffering the effects of weak military peacetime policy which he himself begged an unheeding people to correct."

The editorial quoted from the writings of MacArthur in the publication in 1931:

"A fixed desire of our own people to avoid war does not eliminate the possibility of external aggression. The war department holds to the belief, so often reiterated by our first President, that a reasonable preparation for defense is one of the best guarantees of peace, because of its deterring effect upon any government that might contemplate attacking us. 'The soundness of this belief has been demonstrated more than once in our history, both affirmatively, when we were unusually well prepared to exert promptly a strong military pressure, and negatively, when we were relatively weak in this respect.

Efficiency in Weapons.

In 1933, Gen. MacArthur wrote: "The power that men exert in battle may be represented as the algebraic sum of a variety of elements, among which are leadership, numerical strength, morale, organization, mobility, logistic arrangements, individual skill and training, and the quality and quantity of weapons and equipment."

"The irony of all this," the Army Ordnance editorial concluded, "is that the man who, not 10 short years ago, begged for a proper recognition of industrial preparedness and adequate arms, today is bearing the brunt of our national neglect of his own warnings."

Ten women volunteers of the Red Cross motor corps began learning jujitsu yesterday from a Japanese instructor at Harry Auspitz's jujitsu school, 188 West Randolph street. After their first lesson, they posed for pictures and watched Orrin Tucker, the orchestra leader, practicing self-defense. Among the Red Cross workers in the class were Mrs. F. King Cooke of 222 East Pearson street, Mrs. Robert Spiel of 2440 Lake View avenue, and Mrs. Frederick Spiegel of 2300 South Green Bay road, Highland Park.

SUGGESTS JEWS NAME BABIES FOR DISASTER AT SEA

Memorial Trees Planted in Palestine.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, March 10 [Delayed]. —A Palestine newspaper today suggested that all Jewish girl babies born this spring be named Struma, to keep alive the memory of the 760 Jews who were killed when the refugee ship Struma was blown up in the Black sea recently. School children are planting memorial trees in honor of the lost refugees.

Denied Right to Land.

Newly divulged details of the disaster show that the refugees had bought the ship in Rumania at a high price and sailed to Palestine, but were denied permission to land. Returning to Rumania, they were told they had left the country illegally and could not return. Finally after two months of aimless sailing in Turkish waters the ship was towed by a Turkish tug into the Black sea and left there, apparently later striking a drifting mine.

It is pointed out here that constant efforts have been made by refugees to reach Palestine without permission, hoping that once they are here, they will not be turned back. The view of authorities is that unless they are strict in applying regulations, they would be swamped.

Desperate to Land.

Jews are so desperate to reach Palestine that one vessel, the Patria, was sunk by Jews in Haifa harbor in November, 1940 in the hope that the deportees aboard would be allowed to remain. But 200 were drowned in the sinking.

Jews who are here are anxious to have a part in the anti-Nazi fight, but want a separate army. In its absence Jews have been serving in many parts of the middle east, and thousands have done active service in Greece and Crete.

JAP IN LONDON SCOUTS ATROCITY CHARGE; SEIZED

LONDON, March 11 (AP).—Viscount Hisaakira Kano, former manager of the London branch of the Yokohama Specie bank, has been detained under an internment order, it was announced today.

In an interview yesterday Kano was quoted as saying the British government statement regarding atrocities at Hongkong was propaganda and that he didn't believe it.

Fifty-five years old, Kano was a director of the Bank of International Settlements and once worked in a New York banking house. So far the British government has made no general internment order for Japanese nationals, but has dealt with cases on an individual basis.

RUHR BATTERED FOR THIRD DAY BY BRITISH RAIDS

LONDON, March 11 (AP).—British bombers battered industrial areas of Germany's Ruhr valley last night for the third night in succession in a new aerial offensive of gathering power. Four planes are missing, it was stated. German aircraft dropped bombs at a point in the north Scottish islands, but it was declared no one was hurt and no damage was done.

REPORT FRENCH SEND FIVE SHIPS TO MADAGASCAR

LONDON, March 12, Thursday, (AP). —The Daily Mail reported today that the French cruisers Gloire and Montcalm had left Dakar, French West Africa, with three troop transports to reënforce the French Indian ocean Island of Madagascar.

Some unofficial sources here have hinted that the united nations might try to occupy Madagascar for fear the Japanese would beat them to that important point on the allied supply routes to India.

Barred to Japs—Welles.

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—Told of speculation that the Vichy government might agree to accept Japanese aid in Madagascar, Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles said today that assurances recently received from Vichy were diametrically opposed to any such arrangement.

These assurances, he asserted, were received about the same time as Vichy's assurances that the French fleet would not be turned over to the axis.

2½ BILLIONS, 1ST YEAR'S TOTAL OF LEND-LEASE AID

It's Too Little for Victory, Report Admits.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—During the first year of lend-lease operations the United States has furnished arms and other material aid to two-thirds of the world totaling 2½ billion dollars. This sum is from total lend-lease authorizations of 48 billions, according to the first annual report on the lend-lease program sent to congress today by the President.

The 2½ billion dollar figure represents actual expenditures for aid to other countries, but of this only 1 billion 100 million represents materials and commodities actually shipped to those countries.

A year ago today the lend-lease act became law. In that time congress has voted direct appropriations of 18 billion 410 million dollars to the President for lend-lease allocation. An additional $29,596,650,000 in equipment authorized for the United States armed forces may be transferred to the united nations, if the President chooses.

This places the total lend-lease program at $48,006,650,000.

Far from Victory Goal.

The President's report admitted that what has been done to date "falls far short of what is needed to turn the tide toward victory."

"Deliveries to date are inadequate because of the time and effort required to revolutionize our industrial system, and to attain the volume of production demanded of an effective arsenal of democracy," said the report prepared by the lend-lease administration under the direction of Administrator Edward R. Stettinius Jr.

"Lend-lease tanks cannot be purchased in the market place," the report continued. "The bulk of lend-lease aid must wait upon the tooling of factories, the pressing needs of our own armed forces, and the construction of new ships to carry the remaining weapons to our allies."

More Than 30 Allies Eligible.

The report related that to date the British commonwealth of nations and 33 other countries have been named as eligible for lend-lease aid.

Up to Feb. 28, allocations of 12 billion, 272 million dollars were made out of the first two direct appropriations of 12 billion, 985 million dollars, the report said. Of these total allocations, formal contracts or obligations covered 8 billion 459 millions of this total.

The latest appropriation of 5 billion 425 millions for lend-lease was authorized only on March 5. The breakdown on allocations and obligations is shown in the following table [in millions of dollars]:

Category.	Allocations.	Obligations.
Ordnance and ordn'ce stores.	1,993	1,307
Aircraft and aeronautical material	2,838	2,310
Tanks and other vehicles...	959	588
Vessels and other watercraft	1,664	1,236
Miscellaneous military equipment	457	134
Production facilities in United States	1,042	732
Agricultural and industrial commodities	2,735	1,859
Servicing and repair of ships, etc.	297	197
Services and expenses	279	92
Administration expenses	8	4
Total	12,272	8,459

Actual lend-lease aid of 2 billion 570 million dollars to Feb. 28 consisted of the following items, including the month of February [in millions of dollars]:

Type of Aid.	Cumulative to Feb. 28, 1942.	Month of Feb., 1942.
Defense articles transferred	1,411	263
Articles awaiting transfer or use	488	175
Articles in process of manufacture	128	6
Servicing and repair of ships, etc.	126	13
Rental and charter of ships, etc.	243	81
Production facilities in United States	170	29
Miscellaneous expenses	4	2
Total	2,570	569

In this table, it was explained, "articles in process of manufacture" represent expenditures for items such as ships, upon which payment is made as work progresses, and not the great majority of items where payment is made only upon delivery.

Detroit, Mich., March 11 [Special]. —Fourteen Chicagoans, including a woman, were sentenced to prison, fined, or placed on probation today by Federal Judge Edward J. CIVILIAN FLYERS TO HUNT SCRAP METAL FOR WPB

Ben Regan, chairman of the Illinois Aero commission and executive secretary of the Chicago Bureau of Industrial Conservation for the War Production board, yesterday found an opportunity to combine both jobs for national defense. As aero chairman he asked the civilian air patrol to send out 200 observation planes for the WPB. As the WPB executive he asked the pilots to spot scrap metal piles.

"The program should take about a week and in that time the entire state of Illinois can be covered from a low altitude by the civilian pilots," Regan said. "They will be able to cover every foot of the state and see abandoned cars, farm machinery, piles of junk, and scrap metals that would be difficult to see from the ground. I got the idea when flying last week-end."

The state has been canvassed once by the war board of the department of agriculture.

PERU TO OBTAIN ARMS FROM AMERICA UNDER NEW LEND-LEASE PACT

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—The United States and Peru signed a lend-lease agreement today providing for an undisclosed amount of arms and armament for the South American republic.

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles and Peruvian Ambassador Freyre y Cantander signed the document at the state department for their respective countries. At the same time the two officials signed an agreement by which a second United States army officer will go to Peru in an advisory capacity.

SHOTS AT SEA BRING TROOPS TO N. J. RESORT

Bay Head, N. J., March 11 [Special]. —Residents of Bay Head and neighboring Mantoloking had a bit of excitement today when an outburst of cannonading offshore resulted in the hurried arrival of details of mobile infantry and artillery that took up businesslike positions on the beach and remained on the alert for two hours.

Four heavy detonations were heard. Hundreds rushed to the beach, but could see nothing unusual. Visibility was described as poor, because of a heavy mist.

There was no official explanation of the offshore shooting or the arrival of troops, but Ward Gabriel, a tinsmith who was working on the roof of a beach front building, said he saw and heard four shots being fired in rapid succession from the stern of a freighter moving south. He said he did not see the target, if any.

NAVY PILOTS GET EXPERT'S ADVICE ON CHUTE JUMPS

Delay Opening, Save Life, Starnes Tells Them.

Advice on what to do and what not to do if it should become necessary for them to bail out of combat airplanes in battle was put before the navy's aviation cadets and pilot officers at the Chicago Naval Reserve Aviation base at Glenview yesterday by Arthur H. Starnes, parachute scientist. Starnes based his lecture upon information obtained while he prepared for and made a 5½ mile delayed parachute jump from an airplane last fall.

The lecture is the first of a series that Starnes hopes to give to army and navy flyers and fledglings all over the United States. He believes that lives of many combat pilots thus may be saved.

Rules to Obey.

Starnes told the pilots that their parachutes provide them with means of escaping from disabled planes only if certain rules are obeyed. Among these are:

1. Unless the combat is being conducted almost at ground level, pilots never should open their parachutes as soon as they leave the plane. They always should make delayed drops in order to fall clear of enemy planes, and to fall into dense atmosphere, where there is ample oxygen for normal breathing.

2. By delaying the opening of the parachute the speed of the falling pilot's body usually will decrease from the high speeds of modern military planes to about 120-140 miles an hour. This is the speed at which parachutes are designed to function most efficiently.

Starnes said air battles in England and Asia indicate that fights develop at great heights where pilots must have oxygen. He said that when their planes are disabled at such altitudes pilots should carry a "bail-out" oxygen bottle containing sufficient oxygen to allow them to obtain a normal amount of the gas while leaving their planes and falling to levels where air is dense enough to sustain life.

Machine Gunning of Pilots.

Failure to delay chute openings has cost the lives of American and allied pilots all over the world, Starnes said, because enemy flyers habitually machine gun other pilots hanging helplessly from their parachutes. By delaying their chute openings, Starnes said, the falling pilots make themselves difficult to sight.

Lieut. Commander Richard K. Gaines, commandant of the air base, said he believed Starnes' information was of great value. He indicated he would recommend to officials in Washington, D. C., that Starnes' program for lecturing be expedited.

PLOT IS CHARGED BY 3 HEIRS WHO SUE FOR $347,051

The recovery of $347,051 from Attorney Ben J. Altheimer, 134 South La Salle street, and several other defendants was sought yesterday in a suit filed in the federal District court by three heirs of Harry J. Stoops, Chicago real estate dealer who died in 1932.

Mrs. Marion Buckley, daughter of Stoops, and her nephews, Henry H. and William H. Owens, who reside in California, are the heirs. The other defendants are two corporations operating in the south, the J. H. Hines Tie and Timber company and the Frost Oil and Gas company, and the estate of J. H. Hines, whose home was in Memphis, Tenn.

It was charged that Altheimer, Hines and one James Allen conspired about 1928 while Stoops was a client of the attorney to deprive Stoops of large sums, and that the real estate man was persuaded while incompetent mentally to assume $350,000 of Hines' debts. The Stoops heirs asked that a receiver be appointed to handle the one-half interest they claimed in the two corporations.

Attorney Altheimer said that he had made a settlement with Mrs. Buckley and her counsel in 1936 covering the points in the suit. He also said that he had advanced much of his own money to Stoops and gladly would surrender all the collateral he received if reimbursed for his losses.

FOUND DEAD IN HER HOME.

Mrs. Lola Keeling, 41 years old, was found dead yesterday in her home at 1639 Estes avenue. A tube connected to an open gas burner was in her mouth. She had left a note to her husband, Walter, who lives in South Bend, Ind.

Twenty members of Garfield chapter, Order of Ahepa, a national Greek-American fraternal organization, purchased $11,350 in defense bonds at the TRIBUNE public service office in Tribune Tower yesterday. The chapter has pledged to buy $200,000 in defense bonds.

Mrs. Albert J. Ratz, president of the Women of the Rotary Club of Chicago, purchased $2,500 in defense bands in the name of the organization at Tribune Tower.

A. T. Sihler, vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, reported total defense bond sales by the bank had passed $695,632,000. Ernest J. Kreutgen, postmaster, said $27,975,243 in bands and $10,402,090 in stamps had been sold in Chicago post-offices.

CELESTINE IGOE KEEPS SPALDING JOB; PAY RAISED

Board Ignores Objection to School Principal.

The school board had a brief, stormy meeting yesterday and Miss Celestine Igoe, center of considerable protest, still is director of the Spalding Elementary and High School for Crippled Children. The board also approved a $300 increase in her yearly salary from $5,700 to $6,000.

Routine affairs were being disposed of rapidly when the subject of Miss Igoe's salary, along with other normal raises, came before the board. Instantly, Mrs. Walter F. Heineman, board member, was on her feet.

"I move that Miss Igoe be transferred from her post at the Spalding school and that Mrs. Olive Bruner [whom Miss Igoe displaced] be put back," said Mrs. Heineman.

Fails to Get Second.

President James B. McCahey asked for a second to the motion. None was forthcoming. McCahey's gavel rapped, and the motion was lost for want of a second.

Mrs. Heineman again claimed the floor and submitted a resolution calling for appointment of a committee to set up a plan for a merit system for the appointment and promotion of principals and higher administrative school officers. It was seconded by Samuel Levin.

Could Follow Merit System.

"That resolution is a wholly unnecessary action," said Irwin Walker, vice president of the board. "The superintendent has the power now to consider all promotions on merit—this is more sniping at Miss Igoe.

"It's an attempt to reflect on the superintendent," he continued. "It's a move for more publicity. And I'm getting tired of it! We've got a merit system now; we board members can veto any promotion we don't like. What more do you want?"

William H. Johnson, superintendent of schols, sitting near by, smiled his approval.

Only Mrs. Heineman and Levin voted for her resolution.

SENATE BLOCKS MOVE TO DELAY LANGER'S TRIAL

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—A delay in further consideration of moral turpitude charges against Sen. William Langer [R., N. D.] was avoided temporarily by the senate today when it sidetracked a motion to print all testimony and exhibits on the case.

Sen. Tom Stewart [D., Tenn.] who voted with a majority of the elections committee to deny Langer his seat, said he planned to renew his proposal, probably tomorrow, after conferring with senate leaders.

Declaring he assumed it would be necessary to suspend senate consideration pending printing of the voluminous testimony taken by committee investigators in North Dakota, Stewart told the senate:

"I don't care if it takes one, two or six months. This is an important matter involving the sovereign rights of the people of that state.

"While the testimony taken by investigators is available to all members of the senate, many statements were not made a part of the printed hearing and it places the senate in the light of passing on evidence not before it. I want every member to see what we committee members saw."

COUPLE ROBBED OF GEMS AND CASH.

Edward W. Carlson, part owner of an electrical insulation company, and his wife, Lillian, were robbed Tuesday night of jewelry and cash amounting to $246 by two armed men in front of the Carlson home at 6508 North Francisco avenue.

Eli Shonbrun (left) and John D. Cullen, also held in murder.

New York, March 11 (AP).—Two ex-convicts and a dancer were charged today with the strangulation slaying of wealthy Mrs. Susan Flora Reich, Polish refugee. They were booked as John D. Cullen, Eli Shonbrun, and Madeline Webb and charged with homicide and "acting in concert in the homicidal death" of Mrs. Reich. Her body was found last Thursday in an east side hotel where she had gone for a luncheon.

The trio was picked up yesterday and last night, first Cullen and then the other two after Cullen revealed their whereabouts. Police of 11 states had sought them since Saturday.

Shonbrun, 33 years old, and Miss Webb, 28, were taken into custody in a Bronx rooming house by Detective Daniel J. Mahoney, who said he found the stone from Mrs. Reich's $1,500 diamond ring under the former showgirl's pillow.

NAVY WILL MOVE SIGNAL UNIT TO U. OF C., DOUBLE IT

Five hundred navy signal training school enlisted men will move from the Naval armory to the University of Chicago next Wednesday. The group will be increased gradually to 1,000.

The sailors will be housed in Sunny gymnasium and fed in the dining hall of Ida Noyes clubhouse. The school will be commanded by Lieut. Charles Bowman, with instruction by navy personnel. Sixteen weeks of instruction will be given each class, but the schedule will be staggered so that some men complete the course each month. The university already is providing facilities for 500 coast guard recruits.

HILLMAN FAVORS CIO, ENGEL SAYS IN NEW CHARGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Rep. Albert J. Engel [R., Mich.] today renewed his charges that Sidney Hillman has favored the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers' union, which Hillman heads, and similar organizations working on men's garments in the award of war contracts for clothing.

Engel reiterated his charges in a letter to Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, who defended the policy in a recent letter to Engel.

Hillman is a member of the WPB and in charge of its labor division. Hillman draws $12,000 a year from the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' union while serving with the government.

Engel charged that the OPM, predecessor of the WPB, issued a ruling that ladies' garment makers and employés were not to work on contracts for army clothing, and this ruling never was corrected. The AFL International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, headed by David Dubinsky, a rival of Hillman, thus was barred from work on army contracts. Engel charged that a ladies' garment plant in his district submitted a low bid for army clothing but was denied the contract, exposing the OPM ruling.

U. S. SALES TAX URGED TO RAISE FOUR BILLIONS

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—W. J. Schieffelin Jr., New York State Chamber of Commerce official, told the house ways and means committee that since state sales taxes "had worked," congress should try it for the nation.

Schieffelin recommended that congress enact a graduated sales tax ranging from 2 per cent on food to 10 per cent on other items which he said would raise $4,000,000,000. He proposed that another $1,000,000,000 be raised from increased individual and corporate taxes.

Speaking for the chamber, he proposed that the rest of President Roosevelt's request for $7,000,000,000 be deferred until fall. Returning to the witness stand for a second day, members asked about the desirability of two tax bills in one year.

Friend of the Yanks

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and personally if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries. Persons are asked to keep their letters short because of the volume of mail.]

COMMISSIONS FOR ENGINEERS.

Recently the Friend of the Yanks department received a number of letters from men who hold various engineering degrees from their respective universities and colleges. They ask whether they are eligible for commissions in the armed forces because of their professional training. A survey of the services made early this week reveals the following opportunities for such men:

ARMY—Men with electrical engineering degrees are given immediate commissions as second lieutenants in the signal corps. Qualified men should write to the Chief Signal Officer, War Department, Washington, D. C., for applications. Other engineers—such as civil, mechanical, chemical, mining, and aeronautical—may obtain applications for commissions by writing to the army personnel placement agency, room 251, United States Courthouse, Chicago.

May State Preference.

In their applications candidates may state in which branch of the army they wish to serve. These applications will be forwarded by the placement office to the headquarters of the branch in which the applicant is interested. If men with the applicant's qualifications are needed, he may receive an immediate commission.

NAVY—Men with all types of engineering degrees are eligible for immediate commissions ranging from ensign to lieutenant commander in the naval reserve. Rank will depend upon the applicant's age and experience. Written applications should be made to the Commandant, 9th Naval District, Great Lakes, Ill. Letters should include detailed information as to education, type of degree, and business experience.

Training Course Given.

COAST GUARD—Graduates of engineering courses as well as other university graduates, with two one-semesters of college mathematics, are eligible for admission to the coast guard academy at New London, Conn., where, upon completion of four months' training, they are commissioned as ensigns in the reserve. Application may be obtained from coast guard recruiting officers.

MARINES—Men with degrees in radio engineering are eligible for immediate commissions as second lieutenants in the aircraft warning service of the marine corps.

Upon receiving their commissions they will be sent to a training school for three months before being assigned to active duty. Applications should be addressed to Headquarters, United States Marine Corps, Washington, D. C. Other engineers must enter service as enlisted men.

[Tomorrow: Physical Examinations by the Local Draft Boards.]

QUESTIONS.

C. B. K. writes: "Early last month I talked with a naval recruiting officer about enlistment in the naval construction corps, a branch I am interested in joining. He said I lacked two teeth and therefore was not eligible for enlistment. He said he thought this requirement would soon be lowered. Can you tell me when the requirements might be changed?"

ANSWER: Recruiting officers now are authorized to waive loss of teeth replaced by satisfactory dentures when, in the opinion of the senior medical officer of the naval station, applicants are in all other respects qualified for enlistment in class V-6, of the naval reserve, for construction duty. Try again.

F. G. asks: "Will a war veteran who has three fingers missing on his left hand be put in class 1-A."

ANSWER: According to the selective service regulations, men with three fingers missing on either hand will be classified as 1-B, physically fit only for limited military service.

Mrs. J. J. writes: "I have heard that young men in the army under 21 years of age will not be sent overseas for duty. Is this true?"

ANSWER: There is no regulation preventing men under 21 from being sent overseas.

FBI PROBES FIRE THAT DESTROYED PARACHUTE SILK

San Diego, Cal., March 11 (AP).—Fire of undetermined origin today destroyed thousands of dollars' worth of stored goods, including valuable parachute silk, on the sixth floor of the Bekins Van and Storage company structure.

FBI agents and army inspectors began an immediate investigation. Fire Marshal Earl Newton said the possibility of sabotage had not been dismissed.

It was reported unofficially that a number of disassembled airplanes, in crates, as well as 32 packed cases of parachute silk, valued at about $2,000 a case, were stored in the building.

G.O.P. TO PASS UP INDORSEMENT AT BROOKS' REQUEST

Senator Says Voters Must Have Free Choice.

BY PERCY WOOD.

At the request of Sen. Wayland Brooks, Chairman John T. Dempsey of the Cook county Republican central committee announced yesterday that he would not summon the committee to consider indorsing a candidate for the senatorial nomination. Dempsey added that he was supporting Brooks personally and believed most of the other members also were backing the senator.

Brooks wrote the chairman in response to a query as to the possible indorsement of his candidacy. The senator said he felt the people should be left entirely free to express themselves "in choosing those who are to represent them in the conduct of our national government in the trying years that lie ahead."

Welcomes Individual Support.

Brooks added, however, that he would welcome individual support from members and units of the Republican party. Dempsey promptly gave his. He was asked if he thought an indorsement of the senator would have been forthcoming from the committee, had it been formally sought.

"Brooks would have received an overwhelming indorsement by the committee," the chairman replied, "I, for one, am going to support him."

Dempsey's indorsement was considered important in view of his close friendship with Gov. Dwight H. Green, who was instrumental in Dempsey's election as county chairman. Green also named Dempsey public administrator of Cook county.

Brooks' leading opponent is Warren E. Wright of Springfield.

Elected on Definite Pledge.

"As you know," Senator Brooks wrote Dempsey, "I was elected to the senate by the people of Illinois on the definite pledge to do my best to develop the strongest possible national defense for our own country and to use my energies to prevent our becoming active, shooting participants in the wars of the world.

"I pledged further not to vote to send our boys to fight in foreign wars, unless we were attacked. That attack came and I promptly voted to declare war upon the nations who were aggressors against us.

"I believe that America faces a more serious problem today than she has ever faced in our history. To win this war will take such a toll of human life, sacrifice and resources of America, that I believe the people should have a completely free opportunity to express themselves in choosing those who are to represent them in the conduct of our national government in the trying years that lie ahead.

Pledges Made and Kept.

"For that reason I am glad to present myself to the people of Illinois in the coming primary election on the record of pledges made before the election and kept during my service in the senate. I, of course, am anxious to have and sincerely solicit the support of the individual members and individual units of the Republican party thruout the entire state.

"I would welcome their indorsement and their unqualified support in carrying out the battle which we have waged together during the last 10 years against terrific and powerful political machines and tremendous use of public funds which have heretofore controled elections."

Brooks concluded his letter by complimenting Dempsey upon his leadership in the party, and said he was grateful for the chairman's "continued approval and personal support."

Seized in Park Robberies

Report Confessions

Four young hoodlums, including two former inmates of the Illinois Training School for Boys, near St. Charles, confessed to police yesterday that they had strongarmed and robbed nearly a dozen victims in Lincoln park during the last several months. They were seized by Park Policemen Pierce Fleming and George Werner at the La Salle street entrance to the park earlier in the day.

The former inmates of the training school are Roland Lajoye, 21 years old, of 6048 Belmont avenue, and his brother, Louis Lajoye, 19, of 219 Wisconsin street. Roland served 20 months for stealing bicycles and Louis a year for store burglaries. They were released a year ago.

The others who confessed are Harry Edwards, 17, of 442 Webster avenue, and Edward Long, 15, of 1804 North Wells street. When arrested Edwards had in his possession a watch worth $175. It was taken from Kelvin Van Nuys of 750 State street, Elgin, in a robbery two weeks ago. The police also held for questioning Dominic Cullotta, 19, of 225 Wisconsin street, who was with the others when they were arrested.

EX-LOUISIANA U. HEAD ASKS FOR PRISON PAROLE

New Orleans, La., March 11 (AP).—The state pardon board has under advisement a plea for clemency on behalf of Dr. James Monroe Smith, former president of Louisiana State university, now serving a state prison term of 8 to 24 years for embezzlement and false pretenses.

Dr. J. M. Smith.

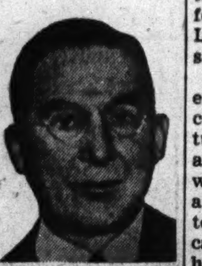
W. D. Bazer, Louisiana penitentiary warden, testified yesterday that the former educator, who fled to Canada in June, 1939, had made a model prison record.

Attorney Walter B. Hamlin asked a pardon on grounds that Smith's prison term was excessive in comparison with sentences given his associates convicted in the Louisiana scandals trials.

Federal authorities have placed a detainer against Smith to gain custody after he completes his state sentence. He is under a 30 months' federal sentence for a mail fraud conviction.

KANSAS CITY'S REFORM GROUP WINS IN PRIMARY

Kansas City, Mo., March 11 (AP).—The reform group which ousted the old Pendergast machine from the city hall two years ago, came triumphantly thru its first test at the polls since taking office.



Mayor John B. Gage.

Mayor John B. Gage was renominated yesterday by a vote more than 7,000 greater than the total for his two opponents, each supported by a faction of the machine formerly controlled by boss Tom Pendergast.

All of the reform council candidates won places in the runoff March 31, several of them, like the mayor, receiving a majority of votes cast in their districts. The total unofficial vote for Gage was 70,601.

ILLINOIS TO SHIFT FAIR IF AIR CORPS TAKES GROUNDS

Springfield, Ill., March 11 [Special].—Illinois will hold a state fair in 1942 despite the possible loss of the state fair grounds to the army, unless this is made impossible by now unforeseen war developments, Howard Leonard, state agriculture director, said today.

Leonard said the fair will be shifted to some other city if the army accepts Gov. Dwight Green's offer to turn over the fair grounds as an army air corps training center. Surveys will be made at once of fair grounds at Aurora, Du Quoin, and other cities to determine their availability and capacity, he said. All such grounds, however, are much smaller than the Springfield grounds.

Shifting the fair from Springfield will require its 1942 activities to be carried on a reduced scale, Leonard declared. He said the number of entries will be limited, the size of judging classes reduced, and the duration probably cut from nine days to one week.

BROOKS ACCEPTS RED CHALLENGE; PRAISES U. S. WAY

Opposes Communists in This Country.

Informed that the Communist party in Illinois is campaigning for his defeat, Senator Wayland Brooks said last night that he accepted the challenge and would always oppose the destruction of American government by communists or any other subversive elements. Brooks spoke at the brotherhood meeting of the Bethel Lutheran church, 6200 South Peoria street.

"For some time," the senator said, "the people of America have been disturbed by reports of the vast number of men employed in the federal government, who are now or have been affiliated with the communist party and other subversive and un-American organizations.

"Today, when every loyal American is to be called upon to sacrifice his life, his money, his job, in his effort for the winning of a war on all the fronts and all the seas of the world, our people are particularly concerned about guarding our form of government and preventing its destruction from within as well as without.

No Harmony with Communists.

"Today, the appeal of the Illinois state committee of the communist party, demanding my defeat, came to my attention. I accept that challenge. I am not and never have been in sympathy with, nor had anything in common with the communist party," said the senator between bursts of applause.

"I voted to provide funds for the lease-lend program after the congress approved that program. A substantial part of these funds is being directed and sent to Russia, in her defense of her own home, her own land, and her own form of government.

"While it is to the best interest of the American people to have Russia defend her own land, she has not indicated as yet that in return for our help she would aid in any way in our battle against the Japanese. But thru their communistic activities Russians have constantly indicated they would like to destroy our form of government in America.

Says Church Significant.

"The fact that tonight we meet in a church as free men is significant, for our form of government protects the dignity and the right of the individual citizen, particularly in his right to worship God as he chooses. We respect and guard the rights of the Protestant church, the Catholic cathedral, the Jewish synagogue, and all other creeds. This is foreign to the communistic theory of life.

"I have supported and will continue to support every effort to build our national defense and carry out efficiently our war effort but, with equal emphasis, I will oppose the destruction of our government here at home by the communist party or any other subversive element."

M'KEOUGH OPENS DOWNSTATE TOUR IN BID FOR VOTES

Peoria, Ill., March 11.—Raymond S. [Small Potatoes] McKeough began a campaign swing thru downstate Illinois today after assailing critics of President Roosevelt in an address opening his bid for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

The Chicago congressman, who heads the primary state ticket backed by the Cook county Democratic organization, said the big question to be answered by Illinois voters in the elections this year is whether they will send to Washington men who will "uphold the hand of the President in winning the war and the peace to follow."

McKeough centered his attack on Republican Sen. Wayland Brooks in a speech last night opening a three week speaking schedule in downstate cities. McKeough appeared with Benjamin S. Adamowski, Chicago, candidate for congressman at large, and his other state ticket running mates at a rally attended by several hundred persons including Peoria county leaders of both former Democratic factions.

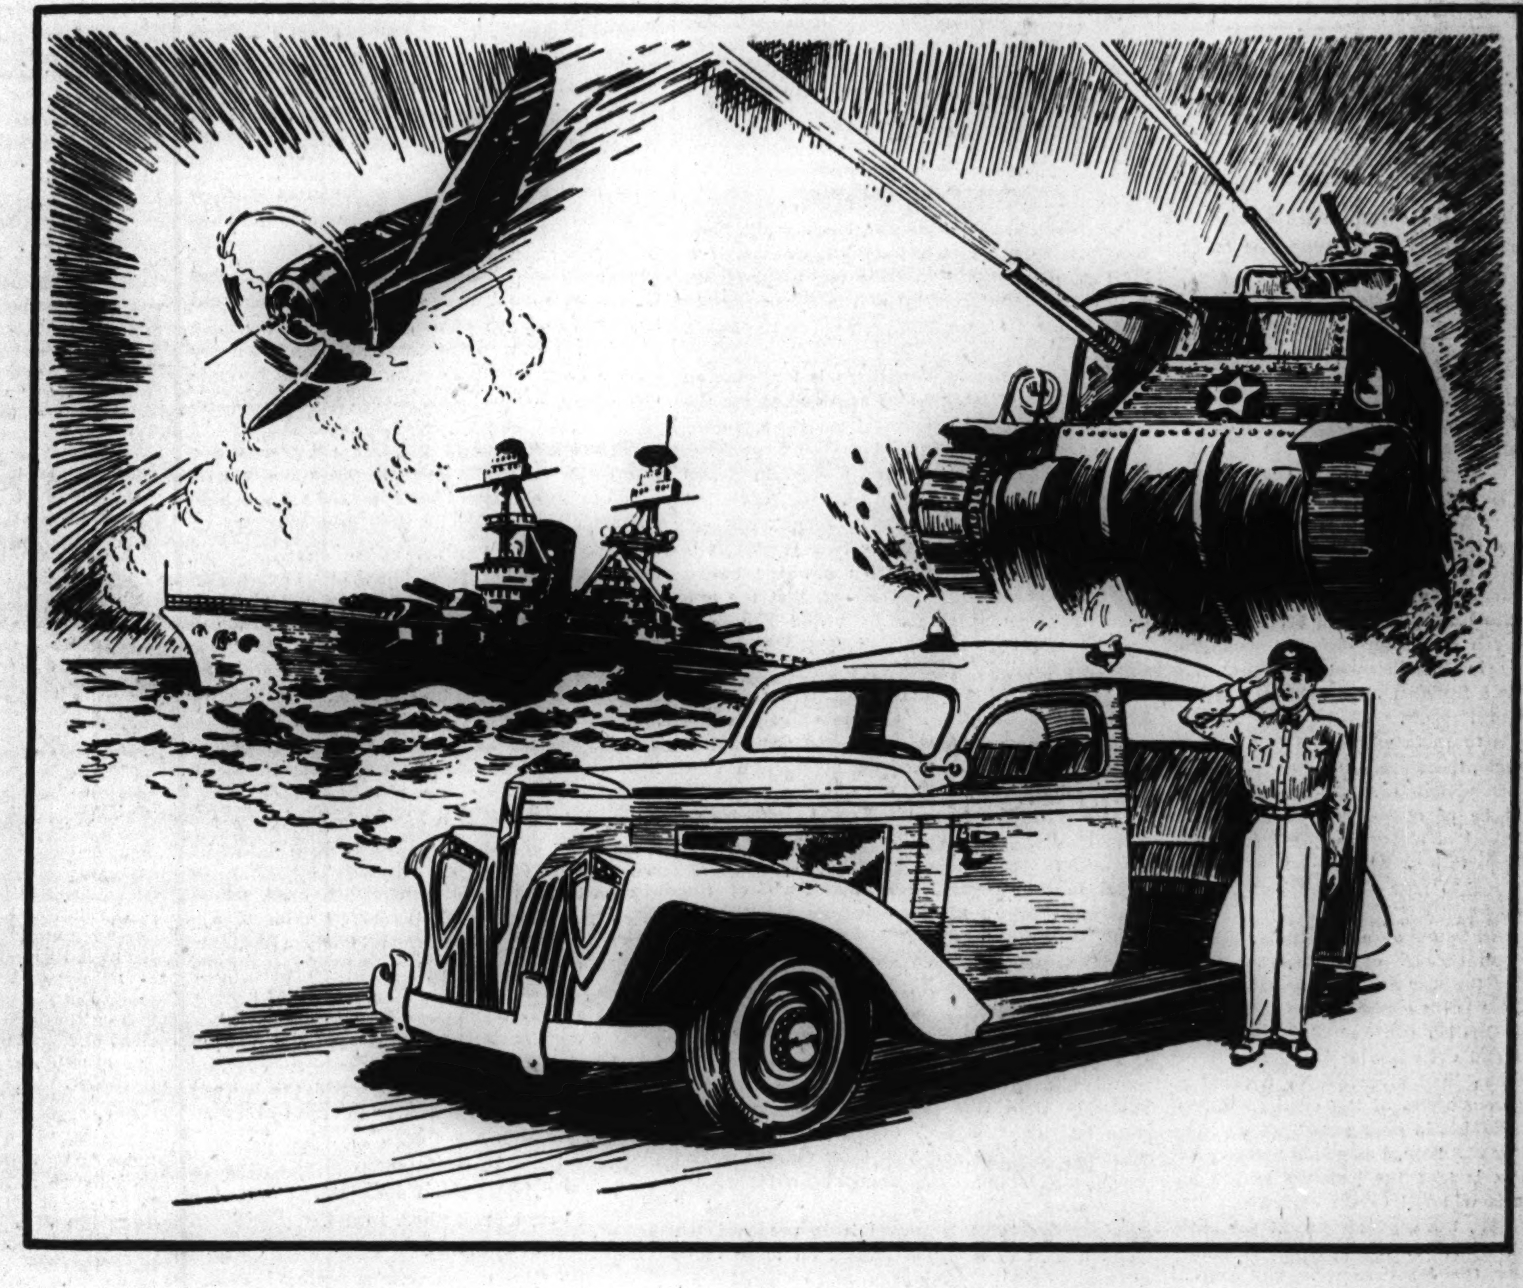
CHICAGO'S TAXICAB SERVICE



IN PEACE ALWAYS A CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY

IN WAR A VITAL, INDISPENSABLE FORCE .... A PRICELESS AID IN EMERGENCIES

PLEDGED TO OUR CITY AND COUNTRY

Chicago's taxicab industry has unreservedly pledged all its facilities and wholehearted support to our city and country in this desperate fight for freedom!

Mayor Kelly, acknowledging this pledge, states:

... "Chicagoans have once more demonstrated the fact that they are prompt and forthright in recognition and performance of their patriotic duty."

GRAVE EMERGENCY NOW EXISTS

Because rubber and certain other essential materials are vital to the war effort, a grave emergency now exists. Chicago taxicab operators already have taken action to meet it.

WAR PROGRAM DEMANDS MET BY CHICAGO TAXICABS

The restriction on tires and eventually on other supplies for automobiles will reduce individual driving and increase dependence on public transportation. War Program business is making additional riding necessary by a daily increasing number of people. A large part of these demands is being met by Chicago taxicabs.

"CRUISING" ELIMINATED

One of the taxicab industry's prime objectives is the elimination of useless or "dead" mileage. Few of the empty cabs now in the streets are "cruising." Practically all of them are either on the way to answer a call or have just discharged passengers and are returning to a cabstand. It is obvious from the foregoing that Chicago's taxicab industry is eager to do everything in its power to assist the government in the all-out effort to win the war.

"GROUP-RIDING" HELPS WAR PROGRAM

As an aid in the solution of this problem, the government has suggested that we offer "group-riding" to the Chicago public. Chicago's taxicab companies are ready to comply. We are confident that loyal, patriotic Chicago will respond—for "group-riding" means fewer automobiles in use, and decided savings in rubber and other products needed in the War Program.

"GROUP-RIDING" PATRIOTIC AND ECONOMICAL

"Group-riding" means that two, four—even six—persons can ride as a unit. We suggest you organize your own group; then as a unit always leave from the same cabstand of which there are over 200 conveniently located throughout the city. The prorated cost for "group-riding" is nominal, so that you not only serve your country but also conserve your money. For example: When six persons travel at one time, on an average trip the cost per person for convenient door-to-door transportation that is safe, flexible, and in many instances indispensable, is surprisingly low. Today, the taxicab is more essential than it has ever been. From the standpoint of economy it does not pay to operate your own car during the present emergency.

HALF OF CHICAGO'S POPULATION MOVED IN 24 HOURS ... BY TAXICABS!

The average taxicab trip is fifteen minutes. Assuming all of Chicago's 3,000 taxicabs were used on such trips with 6 persons (in addition to the driver) riding in each taxicab, 1,728,000 people —half of the city's population—could be safely and expeditiously carried during a 24-hour period!

CHICAGO'S TAXICAB DRIVERS AMONG BEST AND SAFEST

Chicago's taxicab drivers are among the best and safest in the world. They know the highways, the locations of hospitals, police and fire stations, public buildings, transport terminals, defense plants, etc. They are especially valuable in an emergency because they are accustomed to confusion, noise, excitement, and can act quickly and efficiently in emergencies. Their character and responsibility have been investigated by employer and local civil authorities.

TRAINED RESERVE BATTALIONS IN CATASTROPHE

Excepting the established police, fire and health forces of Chicago, taxicab drivers constitute the only trained civilian reserve battalions which, in a catastrophe, can be called to instant service and move men and material from point to point as necessity demands.

SPECIAL NOTE TO THE:
OFFICE OF CIVILIAN DEFENSE—POLICE, FIRE AND HEALTH DEPTS.—AMERICAN RED CROSS

IN THE EVENT OF A CATASTROPHE

There are more than 2,500 taxicabs in Chicago with landaulet roofs which can be automatically lowered and raised in a few seconds. These vehicles can be quickly converted into ambulances with a comfortable carrying capacity of two injured persons on stretchers.

INDIA AS A PRIZE.

Sir Stafford Cripps is going to India to present an offer of dominion status after the war. He went to Russia when British relations with the soviets were about as bad as they could be and returned to England at the conclusion of his mission a much more important figure than he was when he left. What part he may have played in bringing Russia into the war is not known and can hardly have been determinative, but at any rate Russia is in and Sir Stafford is entitled to much credit for creating something like cordiality in British-soviet relations. The fact that he is a Socialist must have helped him considerably in Moscow.

Now he goes to India where the fact that he is a Laborite and, therefore, not an arch-imperialist of the Curzon-Kipling-Amritsar-Black-and-Tan school should be of considerable advantage to him. The Indians of almost all persuasions will no doubt consent to hear what he has to say and may be expected to give him the benefit of a good many doubts.

Americans will follow events in India with the closest attention because of the bearing which India has upon the war against Japan. As matters stand, there is little evidence to support the view that the British can defend India against the Japanese and even less evidence to suggest that the Indians themselves are in a mood to fight to remain subjects of the empire. Unless Sir Stafford succeeds in giving the Indian people something they will regard as worth fighting for, the probability is that the greatest of the imperial treasures will fall to the Japanese.

At the moment, the Japanese are at the gates of India in Burma. If the advance continues we shall know the Japanese were not content to have closed the supply road to China, but were determined to attempt the larger conquest.

Meanwhile it can be noted that the Russians have made no move against the Japanese and that Russian spokesmen have even let it be known that they are not willing to place their Siberian possessions at the disposal of the United States as bases for the attack on Japan. The Russians appear to have moved troops and supplies from Siberia to the European front and it has been said that these reinforcements were largely responsible for the German repulse. At any rate, Siberia is now lightly defended, by all accounts, but the Japanese are not taking advantage of the situation to seize territories which they have long coveted.

There is in these circumstances the basis for a good deal of speculation. It looks as if the Russians and the Japanese may have come to some sort of an understanding. Just as the Russians, now peculiarly vulnerable in Siberia, have not been attacked, so the Japanese are apparently unworried about the threat of enemies based only a few hundred miles from Tokio on the Asiatic mainland.

And so we come back to India. Russia has always cherished ambitions to control India and as recently as the Kipling era Russia was the Indian empire's prospective enemy. More recently Japan has been openly covetous. India has its place in the so-called East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere. The conquest of India would give Japan an immense market and would more than pay the costs of the war. No doubt the pearls of the rajahs have a considerable fascination for the Japanese.

If Japan stops at Burma it may be because Japan has conceded India to Russia in exchange for a free hand in Malaya, the Dutch Islands, and perhaps Australia. Within a short time—probably within a few weeks or months—the outlines should be a good deal clearer. Meanwhile it is interesting to speculate on the future of British-Russian relations should the soviets seek control of India. Will India be the price of keeping Russia in the war against Germany?

THE PROFITS OF WAR.

A chart on the financial page showed the economic effect of the second World war upon the various groups of the population. The national income since 1939 has gone up 26 per cent. Some groups in the population did better than this. Some did worse. This is the average for all kinds of income.

The income of farmers has gone up 35 per cent. They comprise one group which appears to be profiting from the war. Factory workers have had a 61 per cent increase in their total wage payments. This group has so far profited richly from the war. The income of capitalists as represented by dividends and interest has gone up 11 per cent.

The cost of living from 1939 to 1941 went up 12 per cent. When income rises more than the cost of living the recipient is better off. When income rises less than the cost of living the one who receives it is worse off. The increase in the income of all the people from 1939 to 1941 was substantially greater than the rise in the cost of living. Taking us all together, we were better off. The increase in farm income in the period covered the cost of living with a nice margin to spare. The increase in the income of factory workers was very largely in excess of living costs. The increase in the income of those living off dividends and interest did not offset the rise in the cost of things to be purchased.

The income figures plotted in the chart were for gross incomes. From them, to get an idea of the amount of spending money left to the group, the income taxes need to be deducted. Income taxes do not constitute an important drain on farm and labor incomes. Only a relatively small number of farmers pay the federal tax. Since a married man's exemption is $1,500 with $400 apiece more for each of the children and as much extra for a dependent parent or in-law, the large proportion of labor income also gets off scot free.

Receivers of dividends and interest, the class whose gross incomes have gone up least, have been taxed right along and now are paying an increasing share of their incomes to the government. The income tax in 1939 took 5 per cent of a $10,000 income. That has now been advanced to 15 per cent and the secretary of the treasury has recommended 27 per cent for 1942. For the $50,000 capitalist the tax equaled 18 per cent in 1939, now amounts to 42 per cent, and will be raised to 55 per cent if the proposed changes are adopted. Taxes on corporations have also been steadily advanced and the administration tax plan provides for a normal and surtax rate on corporations amounting to 55 per cent. It was 31 per cent in 1941 and 19 per cent in 1939. This will inevitably force a severe reduction in corporate dividends.

This review will suggest who is not making a profit out of the war, even if it does not establish clearly who is.

PORK IS PORK.

It used to be the rivers and harbors bill. Now, according to a dispatch from Washington, it is the appropriation bill "for the war department's civil functions." The total of the appropriations asked in the measure, just reported to the house, is $357,150,820.

Of this sum nearly 57 millions is for work on the third set of locks being constructed for the Panama canal. A statement from the governor of the Canal Zone stresses the vital importance of the canal at this time and the strain placed by wartime traffic on its present facilities, but passes over the fact that the new locks will not be ready for use for three or four years. It is to be hoped that a year from now the nation will not wish, in tragic retrospect, that the millions had been spent for forts and guns and fighters and bombers to protect the locks we already have.

A still larger item, $151,473,700, is for general flood control measures. Of these projects the appropriations committee says: "Flood control is vitally important to national defense. A very grave setback conceivably might ensue from the overflow of railroads and highways, the suspension of water transportation owing to flood conditions, the inundation of industrial plants engaged in the production of munitions, or the inundation of approaches used by workers in industrial establishments."

A much graver setback will occur if we don't have the industrial plants, with or without the hazard of inundation. Right now the nation is facing that hazard. Sullivan W. Jones, director of housing priorities for the war production board, told an audience of Chicago builders Thursday night that the war construction program is bogging down. Construction work on munitions factories and homes for defense workers, he said, is running 50 per cent behind schedule this year.

In the face of this record it is proposed to spend a fifth of a billion dollars on locks that will not be available for years and on flood control projects. It is not only the money that counts. It is the steel and concrete, the labor of thousands of workmen, the supervisory brains, including the brains of army engineers who ought to be released to give all their energies to the problems of mechanized warfare.

Flood control will win the war. Sugar rationing will win the war. Quotas to limit agricultural production will win the war. The NYA, the CCC, the REA, and fan dancers in the OCD will win the war—if we accept the stories of the people who want to use these agencies to keep themselves on the public pay roll.

There is only one way to win the war. That is with men, weapons, and generalship. Anything that we do that does not contribute directly to putting in the field the greatest number of the best trained, best armed and best led fighting men that the nation can muster does not contribute to winning the war. Every dollar, every pound of material, and every man hour of labor that is not directed to this primary objective is not winning the war, but is expended at the risk of losing it.

The rivers and harbors bill has been for decades a notorious vehicle for political pork. Calling it appropriations for war department civil functions doesn't change it. Pork is pork. A congressman who votes to waste a million dollars on a nondefense project is just as guilty of sabotage as a spy who blows up a million dollars' worth of shells.

MAILING LISTS.

The government is asking the public to save waste paper but apparently has not considered means of saving some paper before it becomes waste. A considerable saving, for example, could be effected if the mailing lists of direct by mail advertisers were brought up to date. There is a great deal of duplication on these lists as well as a large number of dead names.

The mail agencies frequently keep sending advertising letters to the old address after a customer has long since moved; and no attempt is ever made to remove the names of persons who have died from the lists. Shoppers are accustomed to receiving two or more announcements of the same sale from a store.

Perhaps the direct by mail agencies retain duplicate and dead names on their lists because they charge the advertisers they serve so much a thousand, but a great deal of paper is wasted in the process that could be saved by verifying the names on the mailing lists at regular intervals.

Editorial of the Day

NELSON VS. HITLER.

[Boston Herald.]

No more inspiring speech has come over the radio in many days than that of Donald M. Nelson. He reminded his "fellow Americans" that whining wins no wars, and he denounced the too prevalent tendency to pass the buck. His plain purpose is to rally all the industrial forces of the nation for extraordinary exertions by appealing to their pride as well as their patriotism.

How does Hitler regard these appeals from Washington, urging us to do better than we have ever done before? He himself has told us in words which should intensify our determination to work night and day against him. Speaking in November, 1940, and again last February, he said:

> As far as American production figures are concerned, they cannot even be formulated in astronomical figures. In this field, therefore, I do not want to be a competitor. But I can assure you of one thing: German productive capacity is the highest in the world. And we will not climb down from it, because we are in a position today to mobilize the power of almost all Europe—and that I shall do so industrially you may well believe. Germany today, in any case, is, together with her allies, strong enough to oppose any combination of powers in the world. There is no coalition of powers that could equal ours.
>
> Then they said: "Time is on our side." But time is only on the side of those who work. No one has been harder at work than we. Of that I can assure them. In fact, all these vague hopes which they are building up are absolutely childish and ridiculous.

It is for the American people to determine whether "absolutely childish and ridiculous" can be applied to the program which the President has outlined and Mr. Nelson has re-emphasized.

ORIENTAL BREAKFAST FOOD.

Rangoon has been reported in flames, and we're putting in a call for information about the Shwe Dagôn, without which no travel lecture on Burma was ever complete. What has happened to that famous pagoda, taller than St. Paul's cathedral in London and gilded from base to summit?

* * *

We have admired the Shwe Dagôn as revealed by the magic lantern of Burton Holmes, and have seen hundreds of photographs of it in newspapers and magazines. Yet during the fighting around Rangoon we didn't hear any one ask, "What has happened to the great temple?" . . . If the radio announcers want to pronounce its name in a hurry let them say Shway Dagoan, which will be close enough to the original Burmese to satisfy us.

Frederick Townsend Ward, the American soldier whose career in China 80 years ago was recalled in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, was a romantic character whose exploits have been obscured by his famous English collaborator, "Chinese" Gordon. Ward went to China seeking adventure after serving with the French army in the Crimean war and filibustering with Walker's expedition in Nicaragua. He won high honors with his "Ever Victorious" army, defending Shanghai against the Taiping rebels, and is buried there. For his story in detail, see "Gentlemen Rovers," by E. A. Powell; "In the Days of the Taipings," by H. B. Morse, and "A Yankee Adventurer," by H. Cahill.

Chicago's Japanese language experts, who are popping up in unexpected places with authentic explanations of the meaning of "maru" when hitched to the name of a merchant vessel, should listen to a story by Vincent Starrett in his "Bookman's Holiday." He wanted to buy a portfolio for his Japanese prints, but could not make Tokio understand his description of that article of commerce. Finally he moaned to a bookseller:

"If I only knew the Japanese word for 'portfolio'——"

"That will not be difficult," said the learned Japanese in perfect English. "In Japan we usually call a portfolio a portfolio."

Let 'Em Eat Old Masters!

I am collecting Old Masters. Not because I have suddenly become an esthete, but for protection and as a war emergency measure. With rationing gradually taking us back to a primitive state, I have found refuge and the solution of food shortage in Primitives.

The painters of the 14th century used wine to dilute their glutinous painting vehicles; white wine was used with light colors and red wine with dark. Beer, too, was similarly used. Among the early Italian painters egg was a highly favored medium, and in the history of art, egg painting has its particular place, the yolk of egg being used as an emulsifier. Brandy, too, was sometimes added to glair—glair being a sort of varnish —to make it work more freely. Today it has the same effect on speech. Beyond this honey, marrow, sugar candy, and sirup of snails were all used as ingredients, thrown into the giant paint pot of the Primitives—and, ah, yes! the master touch, the pièce de résistance, ONIONS and GARLIC used as priming or underpainting.

It all sounds like something from Antoine's or some other famous restaurant, and is doubtless the reason why they call masterpieces of art chef-d'œuvres.

So, friends, when the lean days come, partake with me of Raphael, Michelangelo, Da Vinci, et al.

LINES TO A "LEGACY."

(In college fraternity talk, a neophyte whose father also wore the badge is often called a "legacy.")

From a diaper start it now appears
I have pinned things on him for eighteen years:
Small misdeeds mostly, tho fathers, of course,
Must lecture and lecture, and even grow hoarse
Explaining, expounding how breaking, upsetting,
Losing, tearing, soiling, forgetting
Are very bad habits which he must mend
Or really come to a terrible end.
Then the other night I topped off this pinning,
Started with safeties in the beginning,
By fastening his badge of fraternity—
The very same one long ago pinned on me.
Time always leaves scars of some sort or other—
And also rewards like his saying, "Hi, brother!"
But I wished she were here, here with us to see
What a grand looking boy he has turned out to be.

DO NOT ALLOW NOSEBLEED TO PERSIST.

BLEEDING from the nose is common. The explanation lies in the fact that there is a particularly sensitive spot, known as "Little's area," wherein many blood vessels come together. In consequence, a slight injury may break one of these structures. Even blowing the nose forcefully may dislodge a dried mucous crust, causing a tiny capillary to rupture.

Rather than assume that this is nature's way of relieving engorgement, the wise thing to do is to stop the flow, if clotting does not occur within a few minutes. But old time remedies have little effect. We can recall the numerous injunctions which we received as youngsters to place a cold cloth on the back of the neck, to hold a wad of heavy brown paper beneath the upper lip, or to inhale the fumes of vinegar.

It is necessary to bring about coagulation of the vital fluid. In severe cases, wherein oozing has persisted for 20 to 30 minutes, strips of ribbon gauze, a half inch in width, wrung out of a solution which contains a bit of adrenalin, may be inserted into the airway on the bleeding side. The "dam" can be allowed to remain in place for approximately 24 hours. Prior to removal, it may be well to soak the tape with an oily preparation, such as liquid paraffin, using a small glass dropper. This facilitates extraction and prevents further damage to the mucous surface.

Almost any one can pack the nasal cavity, and this may be accomplished without using a great deal of force. Gauze is better than cotton as tiny flecks of this latter material may remain and be responsible for infection. If one is in a hurry, the finger of a clean rubber glove may be pushed backward along the floor of the nostril, and then filled snugly with cotton. This supplies a source of pressure which is practically as effective as tying a string about the bleeding artery.

Another happy suggestion involves the use of compound tincture of benzoin, with which gauze is impregnated before it is inserted. This is somewhat antiseptic and aids in contracting the capillaries. This plan has been successful when other methods have failed.

With those who are afflicted with a blood disorder, who lack calcium or some constituent necessary for the deposit of fibrin, we may be obliged to employ heroic measures. A transfusion may be called for. In addition, snake venom may be applied locally or administered into the muscles.

In any circumstance, where the flow continues for a half hour, the services of a skilled physician should be secured. Now and then, the application of cautery or of an astringent chemical will be beneficial. The old fashioned Monsel's solution of iron has prevented many a case of collapse. Thin strips of salt pork placed in the nasal cavity likewise have been of benefit.

When epistaxis [nosebleed] occurs in elderly persons, it is usually because the vessels are somewhat more brittle than they should be. But this doesn't mean that something shouldn't be done—and that promptly.

NO RELIEF FROM THE LINDELL COMMITTEE.

Chicago, March 7.—My rent was raised 13⅓ per cent over what I paid during 1941. I for one thought the city council committee on prices and rents was set up to prevent profiteering. But I have changed my mind now. I wrote to them and told them how much my rent was raised this year, and that since April, 1941, there had been a 21½ per cent raise. I asked if they thought this was a fair increase on a three room apartment.

In reply I received, not an opinion on whether the increase was fair or not, but a form letter saying my agent "insists he is within his rights demanding such an increase." I didn't write to find out what my agent thought about the matter. Most certainly he would insist that he was right and, knowing that, I could have saved my time and energy of writing.

Maybe I'm wrong, but I certainly can't see what good the committee is doing Chicago and I think they're just a bunch of seat warmers.

E. S. P.

FROM MR. POLAK.

Chicago, March 5.—In my interview yesterday with THE TRIBUNE I did not suggest that there would be a denial of Indian self-rule by the British government. It has, in fact, been offered already more than once, on certain well-known conditions.

What I stated was that the most prominent Indian leaders, from Gandhi onward, feel that without substantial agreement among the parties and communities on the main principles of a self-rule constitution, no such constitution could be formulated. And unless it embodied effective mutual assurances of security it would not endure.

As regards a wartime interim arrangement, which would provide for quasi-dominion status, I am of the opinion that, tho for constitutional reasons and the impossibility, during the war, of large scale constitutional changes, the establishment of a national government in India would not render it responsible to the Indian legislature, such a government would undoubtedly be responsive and acceptable to it.

I am not of the opinion, as your caption would suggest, that Moslems and Hindus are racially apart. On the contrary, some 89 per cent of the Indian Moslems are of Hindu descent or origin, and, as in the case of the Punjab [where the Moslems are in a majority] they are ordinarily governed by the personal law of the Hindu tribe or caste from which they are derived.

Hindus and Moslems are as a rule interdependent economically, and it is for these and other reasons that the best minds of Britain and India view the result of constitutional negotiations between the communities and groups hopefully.

WAITING FOR CLAUDE.

A SOLDIER.

DISGUSTED LANDLORD.

Chicago, March 9.—I have been a landlord for many years and am becoming thoroly disgusted with the sympathy which Mr. Henderson and our mayor seem to have for the "poor tenants," altho these same tenants who are complaining about a few dollars a month increase in rent seem to have plenty of money to spend in theaters and taverns and for automobiles, golf, bowling, expensive fur coats, traveling, etc., and never complain about the costs of these luxuries. No sympathy was exhibited toward landlords some years ago when rents often dropped not 10 per cent but 50 per cent, and a great many of them consequently lost their buildings.

I can heartily indorse all the statements made by a former president of the real estate board in a recently published letter in which he stated that "Anybody who reads the newspapers knows [1] that rents in Chicago are lower than in almost any other city; [2] that building operating costs are higher than in almost any other city; [3] that such costs have increased 6 per cent in the last year; [4] that apartment building incomes today pay less than 3 per cent on reproduction cost; [5] that taxes take 20 per cent of approximate income, and that these exorbitant public levies have been hiked for the last seven years and the end is not in sight." If rents are to be frozen then taxes and other building expenses should also be frozen.

I am sure that if these complaining tenants really want to save themselves some money in the way of rents they could do so if they would discontinue their unreasonable demands for the best in decorating every year or two, in heating [80 degrees possible at all times, even with windows open], the newest in refrigerators, stoves, etc., and complete changes in decorating every time they move.

LANDLORD.

COLD RECEPTIONS FOR THE BLOCK CAPTAIN.

Chicago, March 7.—I am only 17 years old, but I feel that I have a right to speak as freely as an older person. I live in a four flat building. Last evening as I was returning home from work I met the block captain in the hallway. He had rung all four door bells and not one person, including my family, would let him in, even after he had told them who he was. Is this the proper attitude for the American people to take? The block captains are probably giving up many evenings of entertainment to help the city to be prepared in case of an emergency. All they want you to do is to answer a few questions and give them a little help if an emergency situation arises. Let's all welcome them to our homes with open arms and be glad that we are still free to do as we please.

AMBROSE.

TIRE SHORTAGE.

Chicago, March 5.—I am a refrigerating machine service man. I service packing houses, grocery stores, meat markets, restaurants, institutions, etc. I am so badly in need of tires that unless I can get some I shall have to quit work. Yet I am informed that definitely I cannot get tires.

I purchased two used tires at $18 apiece and a used tube at $3.50. I drove one mile and the one blew out— I got about 40 miles on the other before it went. The man who sold them to me is considered reliable, but there can be nothing done. I am just out the cost of the two tires.

It seems to me, considering all that is said and written about economy, public health, etc., that some steps should be taken to keep these ice machines in repair. We cannot get to them to service them without a car. Should a whole cooler of meat spoil just for lack of tires?

The ration board tells me that if we get trucks we can have tires. Where am I and the 400 men like me in Chicago going to buy trucks? A truck requires a heavier tire. Wouldn't it be better to give us the lighter one since the idea is to conserve rubber, not the number of tires?

INHERITANCE TAX.

Chicago, March 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. When a defense bond is purchased in the names of husband and wife as co-owners, could the children of husband by a former marriage from which he is divorced, claim any part of his share in case of his death?

2. If this bond is bought in husband's name with wife as beneficiary would the wife have to pay inheritance tax in case of husband's death?

J. M.

1. No.

2. In general, an inheritance tax is payable on the portion that passes by survivorship in case of joint tenancy and we would regard this arrangement as similar to joint tenancy.

The exemption between husband and wife is $20,000 worth under Illinois law.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROPERTY TAXES.

Chicago, March 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is it illegal to have a property tax fixed, and if it were fixed by an attorney [2] would this attorney in any way have to answer to the proper authorities if the fix were found out?

T. R.

1. Depends on what you mean by the word "fixed."

2. Same. If you mean that public officials are bribed to neglect the tax collection then all parties involved could be punished.

ORDNANCE PLANT BLAST LAID TO VALVE CONTROL

No Sabotage Evidence in Deaths of 22 Men.

Burlington, Ia., March 11 (AP).—Vigorous manual operation of a valve controling the flow of TNT is considered the most likely cause of the explosion at the Iowa ordnance plant here March 4 which killed 22 men, preliminary findings of the ordnance department safety board showed today.

The findings, handed today to Maj. Gen. Charles M. Wesson, chief of ordnance, and released here by Maj. John H. Edgerly, acting commander of the Iowa plant, said, "No evidence of sabotage has yet been discovered."

Asserting that millions of pounds of TNT have been handled safely over a period of years with similar equipment, the safety board pointed out that the equipment is "not absolutely foolproof."

Changes To Be Made.

The board said changes will be made in the "draw-off valve system to make it more foolproof, before resuming operations."

Lieut. Gen. William S. Knudsen, who interrupted a tour of midwest defense plants to come here for the start of the investigation, announced then that the melt units at the plant had been shut down and would remain closed until the cause of the blast was determined.

The explosion was the second at the plant in less than three months. The other explosion, which killed 13 persons, happened last Dec. 12.

Officers on Board.

The safety board was composed of Brig. Gen. E. McFarland, assistant chief of ordnance, Lieut. Col. A. B. Johnson, Capt. W. M. Cobb, and Charles Schneider, civilian expert. The report said in part:

"1. The explosion originated in the TNT melt system of plant unit 3-05-01.

"2. Many millions of pounds of TNT have been handled safely with this same type of equipment.

"3. This equipment is not absolutely foolproof.

"4. Changes will be made in the draw-off valve system to make it more foolproof, before resuming operations.

"5. The equipment has not been operated to the fullest degree of safety.

[It was revealed after the explosion that Marc Burbridge, safety engineer at the plant, had warned Washington officials that inadequate safety precautions were being taken and that a second explosion might occur, but his warnings were ignored.]

"6. The contractors have operated the plant conscientiously, and with vigor.

"7. No evidence of sabotage has as yet been discovered."

MILK DEALERS CHARGED WITH EVADING ORDER

A. W. Colebank, acting administrator of the federal milk market in Chicago, announced yesterday that suits had been filed against two suspected violators of the milk marketing order. One suit was filed in Chicago, the other in Madison, Wis.

The Chicago defendant is J. H. Prall and Son, Inc., a milk dealer at Dixie highway and Burville road, in Crete. The company is accused of having altered its records of the use of milk in such a way as to sell the milk in a higher class than it was bought for. The government seeks to recover $25,333 realized by the company from this practice.

The Wisconsin defendant is the Albion Coöperative Creamery company of Albion, Wis. The adjustment sought in this case is $630. Permanent injunctions are asked in both suits to restrain further violations.

THE QUESTION.

What unconventional suppressed desire do you have?

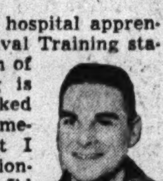
WHERE ASKED.

The Edison building, 72 West Adams street.

THE ANSWERS.

Shirley Pearson, clerk, 4444 Malden street—A music store is not exactly a quiet place to begin with, but I'd really like to do it up right. I'd like to turn on, full blast, every radio and record player in the store just to see what it would sound like and how the people would react.

Grace Double, key puncher, 2651 North Dayton street — When I see freshly laid soft cement I'm tempted to put on an old pair of shoes and wade thru it to see if it feels as funny as it looks when you see it in the movies and funny papers.



Steven R. Bodner, hospital apprentice, Great Lakes Naval Training station—When the seam of a woman's stocking is all twisted and crooked I'm tempted to do something about it, but I don't get unconventional. A remark that I'd rather see a runner than a crooked seam usually brings the desired results.

Marian Pfister, clerk, 4156 Belle Plaine avenue—Nothing tempts me quite like those huge pyramids of canned goods in grocery stores. I've often felt tempted to remove just one vital can to see what would happen and what the crash would sound like. Something like that might be managed accidentally.

Lucille Gritzner, clerk, 8500 Loomis boulevard — There's a long, winding staircase with a shiny banister in the Federal Reserve Bank building. If it weren't for what people might say, I'd love to take a pillow to the very top and slide all the way down to the bottom.

David F. Owen, clerk, 834 South Austin boulevard—On my way home on the train I've been tempted more than once to make a drastic move when I find another passenger reading over my shoulder. Just to see the expression on his face, I'd like to hand him my paper and tell him it's all his.

ACCOUNTING PLEA REFUSED, PAIR OF UNION MEN SAY

Two witnesses yesterday testified before Master in Chancery Stephen Love that they had failed to obtain a financial statement of the funds of local 46, Laundry Workers' International union. The two, Alfonso Nelson and Charles Jackson, both colored, are members of the union.

Jackson said that he attended a meeting on last Aug. 9 when about 2,000 members were present and a demand was made for a financial statement of the union accounts and also for a copy of a contract made by the union with the employers.

"William J. Donovan [secretary-treasurer] told us that they would be furnished later, but we never heard anything more concerning both requests," he said.

Nelson said that he and others joined in a written demand for a financial statement, but that their demand was ignored.

The hearing is on a suit filed by a group of members of the union, seeking an accounting and an election of officers.

ILLINOIS PLANT'S SHUTDOWN IN CIO DRIVE ASSAILED

House Hears Plea for Corrective Law.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—A dues collecting committee of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, which recently stopped work at the Granite City, Ill., plant of the American Steel Foundries company, put in a good day's work for Hitler and the Japs, Rep. George A. Paddock [R., Ill.] told the house today.

Altho no question of wages was involved, he said, approximately three hundred men were prevented from entering the plant, which is working almost exclusively on gun mounts, turrets, and gun slides.

Quotes Official's Letter.

Paddock quoted from a letter written by F. B. Ernst, vice president of the company, who charged that the country was deprived of the plant's output for an entire day because of the CIO activity.

The company's main offices are at 400 North Michigan avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Beside bringing discredit to their organization and injuring the thousands of loyal union workmen, Paddock declared, the dues collectors "struck from behind" at the soldiers and sailors who are in the front lines in sore need of weapons with which to meet the axis challenge.

Action Called "Treasonable."

"Some one of our numerous government agencies ought to find out who ordered this interference with our war effort," he said. "The leaders ought to be taught Americanism, immediately, vigorously. If they are eligible for military service, a training camp would do the job.

"We will not win this war if we tolerate treasonable sabotage of our production. Our axis enemies, in a similar case, would make use of the concentration camp or the firing squad. Our own methods, while less violent, should be equally effective."

CIO AND AFL CHIEFS JOIN IN FIGHTING BILL TO REGISTER UNIONS

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—The CIO and AFL sought today to defeat a house measure requiring government registration of labor unions, trade and business associations, as the senate heard a request by Sen. Josh Lee [D., Okla.] for the immediate passage of anti-strike legislation.

In statements to the house judiciary committee, both William Green, president of the AFL, and Philip Murray, CIO chieftain, denounced the registration measure proposed by Rep. Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], chairman of the house naval affairs committee.

"We cannot afford," Murray said, "to take time out from our drive to victory in order to engage in a revival of the petty sniping and labor baiting which a bill of this type represents."

Green asserted that the bill would destroy the voluntary character of labor unions and would not "remove any instance of labor racketeering that may exist."

Jury Raises U. S. Offers for Elwood Plant Land

A jury in the court of Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday awarded $26,000 to Michael J. Riley and $14,298 to James Riley, his brother, farmers whose farms near Blodgett in Will county were condemned to make way for the Elwood ordnance plant. The awards were more than the government originally had offered. Michael was offered $22,000 and James $11,073.

DRIVERS SLOWER, FEWER NOW, SAY TRAFFIC EXPERTS

Boulevard Travel Is Down 9 Pct. in Survey.

Chicago's drivers are taking it easy and there are fewer of them at any given time now that the public is tire conscious, according to traffic experts, bus drivers, and policemen questioned yesterday.

Otto Jelinek, park district traffic engineer, produced figures that tell part of the story. His survey last week covered the car miles driven on the boulevard system now as compared with before tire rationing.

"The overall average for the system is down 9 per cent," the expert said, "including a decline of 2 per cent on the north side, 16 per cent on the south side, and 27 per cent on the west side system."

Slowing Up, Says Chief.

He classed as "imagination" the suggestion that drivers are slackening their speed, but Chief Roger Shanahan of the park district police said drivers are slowing up.

"Speeding arrests are down 10 per cent since the first of the year," the chief said, "and that isn't because we've relaxed enforcement.

"My men report the drivers are taking it easy. Why shouldn't they go slow? When those tires are gone here aren't any more. The wild driver today will walk tomorrow."

Chief Shanahan's observations were backed up by his men.

Two policemen in a squad car just off the Outer drive south of Foster avenue said they had been lurking there for "quite a while" and hadn't seen any speeders.

"Ordinarily we'd have gotten at least one by now," one said. "Drivers stick within the limit altho there are fewer cars and they have a chance to step on it."

Gets Relief Earlier.

Policeman Walter Kaden, stationed at Sheridan road and Foster avenue since June, said the morning rush hour at that busy intersection used to thin out at 9:20 a. m. Now it lets up 15 or 20 minutes earlier.

"Of course this corner is so jammed I don't have much chance to count noses," Kaden said, "but I figure there are more passengers in most cars now.

"They [the drivers] don't ride fast up to the light, then throw on their brakes and set their buggies back on their heels like they used to. It's something I never expected to see—99 per cent of the motorists using common sense!"

Buses Make Schedules.

Alex Chisholm, a bus checker at Sheridan road and Devon avenue for three years, said his Chicago Motor Coach company buses are making their schedules 90 per cent of the time and that passenger car traffic is down at least a third.

"Take a night with snow," Chisholm said. "Our buses used to pull in 20 minutes behind schedule. There's nothing like that now. Three or four minutes late is the limit. There's only one answer: less traffic, because traffic is all that ever slows us up. There seem to be more passengers, too."

WOMAN SAVED AS COP SWINGS INTO 10TH FLOOR

New York, March 11 (AP).—While hundreds watched from nearby roofs and the streets below, a policeman swung today into the bathroom of a 10th floor apartment where a nude woman had locked herself in for five hours. Other patrolmen broke thru a door.

Police had hesitated to break down the locked bathroom door because they said the woman, Mrs. Anastasia Taylor, 38 years old, had shouted that if they attempted to enter "I'll only jump out of the window." An emergency squad rigged up a rope net two floors below as a precautionary move and then a patrolman was lowered from the 14th floor to the bathroom.

The police were summoned by the woman's husband, Harry Taylor, a municipal engineer, who said his wife had locked herself in the bathroom and had begun to talk incoherently.

Mrs. Taylor was taken to Bellevue hospital for observation.

19 COUNTIES PUT IN STATE HEALTH DEFENSE ZONES

Springfield, Ill., March 11 (AP).—Dr. Roland R. Cross, state health director, today officially designated 19 counties as "health defense zones" in which the department will have authority to set up full time local health boards.

Designation of the vital health areas was made under authorization by the recent special session of the legislature and gives the state health director authority to name the zones. Cross said the department might be prevented from carrying on adequate activities in the defense areas due to limitation of funds. The special health zone legislation's companion measure, which would have provided extra funds for the program, was defeated in the legislature.

Counties named today are Carroll, Champaign, Cook, Edgar, Fulton, Henderson, Kankakee, Knox, Lake, Lee, Madison, Peoria, Rock Island, St. Clair, Sangamon, Vermilion, Will, Williamson, and Winnebago.

Kane County Doubles Fees for Bars in Country Clubs

The Kane county board of supervisors yesterday decided that country clubs in the county must pay bar license fees of $50 a year instead of the former $25. Some of the supervisors, who met in Geneva, wanted a still higher fee, but club representatives objected on the ground that tire and golf ball shortages and other factors were expected to cut their revenues greatly.

YOUTH ON HIS WAY TO WORK KILLED IN CRASH; 2 HURT

Car and Truck Crash at Intersection.

Edward Clark, 19 years old, of 7236 Maryland avenue, was killed yesterday and two of his young friends injured seriously in a collision between an automobile and a truck at 73d street and South Chicago avenue. The injured, taken to the Jackson Park hospital, were Bernard Solomon, 20, of 7548 Langley avenue, a clerk, the driver of the automobile, and Mrs. Ethel Jacobson, 18, of 7342 Maryland avenue.

On Their Way to Work.

The three were on their way to work when the accident occurred. Claire Murbach, 31, of Bowling Green, O., driver of the truck, was uninjured.

Mrs. Mathilda Wencel, 58, was severely injured last night by a hit and run driver at Armitage and Winchester avenues. The driver lost control of his car a block away and it plunged into the window of an ice cream parlor at 1960 North Damen avenue. The driver fled on foot. Mrs. Wencel, who lives at 2041 North Winchester avenue, was taken to County hospital.

Thomas Gleason, 45, of 5604 South Union avenue, died in Evangelical hospital of injuries suffered Sunday when he and his wife, Mary, 41, were struck by the automobile of a hit and run driver at Garfield boulevard and Halsted street. Mrs. Gleason is in a serious condition.

Dies After Auto-Train Crash.

Carl A. Lindstrom, 55, of 1534 Wilmette avenue, Wilmette, died in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, of injuries suffered Sunday when his car was struck by a train at the Gross Point road crossing of the North Shore railroad in Skokie. His death was the second resulting from the accident. Mrs. Lillian Wagner, 37, of 365 Ridge road, Kenilworth, who was riding with him, died Tuesday.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 166 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 129 were killed in Chicago, where 3,853 were injured in traffic accidents in the same period.

TWO FIFTH AVE. KILLERS TO DIE IN CHAIR TONIGHT

Ossining, N. Y., March 11 [Special].—William and Anthony Esposito, the "mad dog killers" in a Fifth avenue holdup and gun battle on Jan. 14, 1941, are scheduled to die tomorrow night in the Sing Sing electric chair.

Authorities said today the two brothers probably will have to be wheeled or carried to the death chair, as they are virtually bedridden and have refused to leave their cots, except when compelled by guards, since they were half dragged and half carried thru the prison gates ten months ago. Since a joint hunger strike was broken by forcible feeding they have taken small amounts of food and water but have refused to speak to any one.

The Espositos killed a protesting holdup victim and killed one policeman and seriously wounded another. Thruout their trial they displayed symptoms of insanity, but sanity commissions ruled them sane. Both have long records of previous crimes.

DOCTOR, 36, DIES LEAVING DATA ON UNUSUAL DISEASE

Clinton, Ill., March 11 (AP).—Dr. A. Lorne Bryant, 36 years old, died at his home today and left for science a detailed record of the progress of his 10 year illness of Buerger's disease, a form of gangrene causing inflammation and clots in blood vessels.

Bryant, who was a native of Buckingham, Que., contracted the disease in Canada when he was 26 years old. He came here two years ago. He had suffered the loss of two fingers on his right hand and both legs above the knees in an effort to stop progress of the disease.

X-rays, colored drawings, and complete data on his case will be turned over to medical science.

PICKETS SET FIRE TO GUARD SHACK IN PEORIA STRIKE

Peoria, Ill., March 11 (AP).—About 75 men took over picket lines at the entrance to the Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad company's yards in East Peoria tonight, evicted a company guard from his one room shanty, tipped it into a creek and set it afire.

Tonight's disturbance followed a day of activity by pickets from the ranks of the AFL and CIO who offered their aid to members of brotherhoods striking against the road and stopped four freight trains. Another train, however, sped thru the picket line, forcing strikers and sympathizers to jump from the path of the locomotive.

There were seven pickets at the company's East Peoria yards tonight when the volunteer pickets arrived and went to the guardhouse to evict the guard. Vernon Bailey, who said he represented the CIO farm equipment workers organizing committee, said the men were from CIO unions. A squad arrived from East Peoria shortly after the building was set afire.

N. U. TECH TESTS MACHINE THAT'S BRUTAL, TENDER

A new testing machine, two and one-half stories high, which can crush 18 inch thick concrete or gently crack an egg shell, received its first test yesterday in the Technological institute at Northwestern university.

The machine, which is capable of exerting a pressure of 1,000,000 pounds on a beam 55 feet long, has the largest transverse testing capacity of any machine in the world. It also is capable of measuring loads to an accuracy of 1-10 of 1 per cent.

Objects measuring 18 feet by 7½ feet may be used for compression tests, and a beam up to that size may be placed between two ends of the machine and pulled until it snaps. It is expected that the machine, which should be usable for at least 100 years, will be in demand for research by several Chicago war industries, according to Ovid W. Eshbach, dean of the institute.

COUNCIL FAVORS CREATION OF TAX COLLECTION BODY

The city council yesterday adopted a resolution by Ald. Frank Keenan [49th], chairman of the council taxation committee, urging that a joint tax collection bureau be set up to help reduce the 400 million dollar load of unpaid tax bills in Cook county. The committee would include a special deputy tax collector and representatives from the offices of the assessor, state's attorney, county clerk, corporation counsel, and the Circuit and Municipal courts.

The council adopted a resolution asking the state's attorney to seek the dissolution of federal court injunctions restraining many properties in receivership from paying their property tax bills. Keenan, who proposed the resolution, said the collection of 20 million dollars in back taxes is stymied by the injunctions.

COMMUTER FARE BOOST OPPOSED BY 100 TOWNS

Two Roads Defy Order of Commission.

Attorney General George F. Barret and attorneys for nearly 100 suburban communities voiced opposition to the 10 per cent increase in commutation fares sought by 18 railroads serving Chicago when the Illinois Commerce commission opened hearings yesterday on the railroads' petitions.

Barrett particularly criticized the Illinois Central and Chicago and North Western railroads, which last Sunday boosted some classes of suburban fares by 10 per cent despite the protest of the commerce commission. The Illinois Central rates were increased on 10 and 25 ride bearer tickets, and North Western rates on 10 and 25 ride bearer tickets and 60 ride monthly tickets.

Claims ICC Authority.

Joseph H. Wright, attorney for the Illinois Central, said a federal court injunction in 1925 deprived the commission of jurisdiction over the classes of tickets involved in the increase. Perry Gault, attorney for the North Western, said his road had boosted suburban rates under express authority from the Interstate Commerce commission.

C. R. Young, Illinois Central road personnel manager, said a 9½ per cent wage increase last year increased operating costs by 10 million dollars.

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday sustained the North Western by issuing a temporary order restraining the state commission from interfering with the increases. A hearing was set for March 20.

Eighteen Railroads Affected.

The 18 railroads last month asked the state commission to approve the suburban rate boosts, effective March 8, after the Interstate Commerce commission had authorized a general 10 per cent increase in passenger fares.

The commission, headed by John D. Biggs, suspended the proposed increases until July 6 and ordered the hearing begun yesterday.

The carriers involved, in addition to the Illinois Central and the North Western, are the Rock Island, Burlington, Milwaukee, Chicago and Western Indiana, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Wabash, Alton, Baltimore and Ohio, Santa Fe, Grand Trunk, Great Western, North Shore, South Shore, Chicago Aurora and Elgin, and the Nickel Plate.

Washington Porter's Suit to Recover Home Settled

The suit thru which Washington Porter II. sought to recover his home at 4043 Lake Park avenue and an adjoining museum, purchased in 1939 at a sheriff's sale by Mrs. Frank G. Logan, art patron, was dismissed yesterday by Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington on the motion of Stephen A. Mitchell, Mrs. Logan's attorney. Attorney William Gemmill, representing Porter, said there had been an out of court settlement of the dispute. Porter is an art collector.

Mrs. Charles Carroll Haig (left) of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. J. De Forest Richards of Chicago, also DAR convention planners.

The 51st annual continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be held at the Stevens hotel from May 1 to May 7, D. A. R. leaders decided yesterday at a meeting at the Stevens. This congress, originally planned for April 12 to April 19, will be the first to be held outside of Washington, D. C.

The anniversary of the battle of Lexington, April 19, traditionally is included in the congress dates but because of the impossibility of securing hotel reservations at that time, the dates have been changed.

"We felt it our duty to national defense not to hold the congress in crowded and congested Washington," Mrs. Charles C. Haig of Washington, chairman of the congress, said yesterday. "We chose Chicago so that midwestern and western women who previously have not been able to attend the congress may come."

Gets 3 Years in Prison for Violating Draft Law

Joseph C. Rivers, 26 years old, colored, of 1224 Wentworth avenue, Chicago Heights, a former welterweight boxer, yesterday was sentenced by Federal Judge William H. Holly to three years in the penitentiary for violating the selective service act. Rivers originally was questioned for failure to record a change of address. He was indicted when investigation showed he was supported by his sister while his questionnaire showed he was supporting a wife and child.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

Citation.

Decoration for bravery goes to the three hungry, innocent males, reported by Marjorie, who were informed by the elevator operator that business men frequented the dining room quite as much as business women. Surrounded entirely by women, they ordered sandwiches which proved to be slightly on the dainty side. After one dismayed look, they devoured the sandwiches in two hearty bites, but not quickly enough to escape the beautiful models, displaying career clothes, who entered . . . as the men exited.

Teachers' Pay.

The average net income of public school teachers [counting all of them in the United States] is $1,266 per year; college teachers, $2,655 per year; nurses [before the declaration of war and increased demand for nurses], $935 per year.

Business Words.

Words used commonly in business reports:

Accession rate—The percentage of new employés in relation to the average number of employés.

Callable—Subject to redemption when the lender so wills, or at a stated time.

Durable goods—Ordinarily used to describe goods continuously serviceable for more than three years [like trucks, refrigerators, washing machines].

First-in, first-out—A method of charging as the cost of a commodity the price paid for the oldest purchase still in inventory.

Price level—Average price of a commodity at a given time.

Seniority—The status of an employé in consideration of the length of service with the company.

Wage earner—A person paid for the time he or she works [at a specified rate per hour or per piece].

But Not Read.

"Now look here, I fired three girls for revising my letters, see?" said the boss to his new steno.

"Yes, sir."

"All right; now take a letter and take it the way I tell you."

And the next morning Mr. O. J. Squizz of the Squizz Soap company received the following letter:

"Mr. O. K. or A. J. or something, look it up, Squizz, what a name, Soap company, Detroit, that's in Michigan, isn't it? Dear Mr. Squizz, Hmm. The last shipment of soap you sent us was of inferior quality and I want you to understand—no, scratch that out. I want you to understand—Hmmm—unless you can ship—furnish, ship, no furnish us with your regular soap you needn't ship us no more, period, or whatever the grammar is, and pull down your skirt!

"Where was I? Paragraph. Your soap wasn't what you said—I should say it wasn't. Them bums tried to put over a lot of hooey on us. Whadda you want to paint yer faces up for like Indians on the warpath? We're sending back your last shipment tomorrow. Sure, we're gonna send it back. I'd like to feed it to 'em with a spoon an' make 'em eat it, the bums. Now read the letter over—no, don't read it over, we've wasted enough time on them crooks, fix it up and sign my name. What do you say we go out to lunch?"—From the Cleveland Trust Monthly.

This Above All! Easter Outfits to Be Feminine

If the stock of spring hats Chicago stores are showing is any indication, the 1942 Easter parade will be a colorful and festive affair—one for which Milady already is preparing.

Big hats and little ones, flowered hats and feathered ones—each one is the essence of femininity. Mostly because men have expressed the desire to see them looking fragile and lovely, women are selecting Easter outfits that are a direct contrast to the tailored uniforms they wear while on Red Cross or canteen duty.

Spring's own flowers, the hyacinth and tulip, will decorate the crowns of many headpieces. The calo of multicolored French flowers is proving extremely popular. Besides its colors, this hat's only decoration is a large red rose, surrounded by a cluster of lilacs. The hat, as colorful as a bowl of Easter eggs, is finished off with a lilac colored veil. This can be worn over the face or pinned up.

The bright colors of their hats will assure that women are not lost in the parade, in which many men in military uniforms will be prominent. Red, as courageous as MacArthur's stand in the Philippines, will be one of the outstanding colors.

Pervonche blue is another popular selection. One hat in that shade is a silk crêpe visor brim, following the forward movement of hats. Trimmed with a variety of soft toned French flowers, the brim of the hat is covered by a fuchsia veil, which may be worn over the face or thrown back over the crown.

For after 5 o'clock flat sailors are being selected for wear with new Easter frocks. One sailor, the brim of which is 18 inches in diameter, is of rough braided black straw, completely covered by Kelly green and pink accordion pleated veiling. The soft pink faille ribbon which rounds the shallow crown only adds to its femininity.

Patent leather is taking its place in the hat parade. One hat is of black stitched patent cut to resemble feathers and styled to form a high turban—for the more sophisticated paraders.

With Easter only slightly more than three weeks away and tire rationing in effect, the words "Put on your old gray bonnet, with the blue ribbon on it, and hitch old dobbin to the shay," have a new meaning.

Smart in Black and White

One of the smartest black and white costumes from the spring collections is this distinguished jacket suit. The simply cut and gathered skirt is of black crepe, appliqued with white dots the size of a 50 cent piece. The jacket is of dull black, with white cuffs to edge the three-quarter length sleeves and a gilet of white crepe to turn over or under the collar of the black jacket. Snowy white gloves, a black hat trimmed with white, and a double boutonniere of carnations complete the costume. Hat and ensemble are available in a Chicago shop.

Lenten Services Start Monday in Loop Temple

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Chicago Church federation noon Lenten services in the Chicago temple will open Monday and continue thru Good Friday, April 3. Next week's services are announced as a series of midday meditations in which scripture, music, poetry, and prayers will be woven into a devotional pattern.

In previous years only the last two weeks of Lent have been used for noon services by the federation. However, the Rev. Clarence H. Dierks, chairman of the series, said the federation's department of evangelism added a third week for those workers who might only spend five minutes in worship. He announced the preachers from many denominations who will speak during the closing two weeks of Lent. Services will not be held on Saturdays.

Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Methodist area of Chicago will open the preaching series on March 23. Other speakers scheduled are Dr. James W. Clarke, Presbyterian Theological seminary; Dr. Harold L. Ruopp, Central church, Orchestra hall; Dr. Charles Heimsath, First Baptist church, Evanston; Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson, Fourth Presbyterian church; Dr. Iver M. Johnson, Chicago temple; Dr. F. W. Otterbein, North Austin Lutheran church; Dr. Lynn L. Radcliffe, First Methodist church, Oak Park, and Dr. Albert W. Palmer, Chicago Theological seminary.

Old St. Patrick's church, 718 West Adams street, for the 85th time will be the magnet for the devout of Irish origin next Tuesday, St. Patrick's feast day. The Rev. T. J. Hayes, pastor of the Irish shrine, announced that he would be the celebrant of the 10:30 solemn high mass, assisted by the Rev. Patrick Enright and the Rev. James Brian Fleming. The patronal sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Howard Patrick Doherty.

The general council of the Northern Baptist convention met yesterday at the Hotel La Salle to lay plans for the meeting of the convention at Cleveland, O., May 26 to 31. Ten thousand delegates are expected to register. A joint meeting of Northern and Southern Baptist conventions in 1944 was also considered yesterday.

Max A. Kopstein, president of the Chicago division of the American Jewish congress, announced yesterday that the centennial of the founding of Chicago's Jewish community will be observed May 16 to 18, with the first national conference of the congress ever held in the central west.

The Rev. Lambert Brase of the Lutheran army and navy commission will be the Lutheran vespers speaker Sunday afternoon in Kimball hall.

Your Handwriting

BY SHIRLEY SPENCER.

The signature of Leslie Howard doesn't look like him, and that brings up a point. Handwriting often gives one surprises if one is judging by physical appearances. Large physical types do not necessarily write a large, heavy script, nor do shy and diffident men, like Mr. Howard, all write a light, delicate script. Even Mr. Howard himself says: "Believe it or not, this is my handwriting." It probably surprises him as much as any one else.

An interesting mentality is revealed in his writing strokes. See how cleverly the letters of the first name are combined. The underscore shows Mr. Howard is confident, assured, and poised. The gentleness we have come to associate with him is outside padding.

Humor, of course, is evident in the letter forms, and so is a keen mind. While Mr. Howard is quietly observant, his mind is extremely agile, and those angular strokes show that when the moment arrives he can hit the mark with a straight, keen thrust.

For handwriting analysis send 10 cents (in coin) and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, together with a sample of handwriting to Shirley Spencer, Box 116, General Postoffice, New York City. IMPORTANT: Write 25 words and signature in ink.

You can buy ham already tenderized, but beef heart—no. Tenderize it yourself by soaking the heart in sour milk, then cook slowly in a small amount of water until done.

Save those flavorful sausage drippings for seasoning green beans or combine them with vinegar and pour over lettuce for a wilted salad.

It's a good idea to substitute honey for only one-half the sugar in a recipe, but it's a better idea to use honey only in recipes especially developed for its use. Then you'll be sure of good results.

Cut down the fuel bill by choosing a vegetable that will cook in the oven along with the roast. Spinach en casserole, baked onions and scalloped tomatoes are just a few examples.

Niacin is the new official name for the pellagra-preventing vitamin generally known as nicotinic acid.

Make the carver happy for a change by giving him plenty of elbow room at the table, a large enough platter for the roast or fowl, and keep the garnish away from his side of the platter. You will hear no complaints from him, now!

* * *

Don't discard those tough little mushroom stems and peelings. They can be cooked separately from the caps and the stock used for tasty soups and sauces.

For a light, but tempting dessert, try tart apple slices spread with a zippy cheese and circled around a plate of crisp crackers.

The appliances we are now advertising are limited to those we have on hand, or those that are made available without interference with war production.

They have all been selected because their normal operation in the home comes at a time of day when our electrical facilities are more than adequate to meet present power requirements for both war production and civilian use.

Furthermore, we believe that their use in most cases will conserve energy and tend to release home labor for helpful wartime activities.

Rubber Dearth Doesn't Bother Form Molders

BY REA SEEGER.

Any limited supply of rubber or the freezing of present supplies need not fret smart shoppers in search of form smoothing underlayers. This means the spring models of girdles, corsets, and the smart one piece affairs that combine both bra and corset. Since it is so important that spring suits fit without unsightly bulges, the first purchase of any spring wardrobe should be a girdle or the one piece combination.

There are still ample supplies of the elasticized girdles and corsets and other underlayers, but you never know when some superefficient soul will clap on the priority and end it all. So while the stuff is in the shops and stores it's certainly just smart shopping to buy what you need.

This also applies to the present new arrivals of nylon. It's no time to sag or let down or to give up any pride in your figurelines . . . . it's definitely the time of all times to stand erect, hold your chin up and walk straight and slim. The best basis for this sleek, straight streamline is the proper foundation. These 1942 versions of featherweight nylon are the answer.

Off the figure these nylon finds look and weigh like nothing at all; a matter of ounces, but fitted over the figure lines they accomplish the curve control of much heavier materials or elasticized fabrics.

They've introduced a clever new color idea in these featherweight nylons in one shop. You may choose from black, white, or flesh color. The whites are the whitest things in town, assuring that immaculate appearance especially appealing for summer wardrobes. These white models come in the one piece and the separate girdles and corsets.

Color is introduced with scarlet feather stitching along the seams where the panels are combined. The black are accented with flesh colored featherstitching. All flesh colored models are fagoted in flesh colored thread. Other models are made of bubble nylon, a trick printed nylon with a bubble pattern, fresh and pink as a rose.

Resorts Draw Visitors from Chicago Area

BY JUDITH CASS.

WAR news and a flurry of home defense duties may have caused many Chicagoans to cancel vacation plans earlier in the winter, but reports from Florida, Arizona, and California playgrounds prove that there's no dearth of vacationers from the middle west this month. Each day now Chicagoans speeding south and west by streamliner pass their friends homeward bound after a week or two of sports and sunshine.

Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, who has been a yearly visitor to Hobe Sound, Fla., for some time, will leave for her favorite resort on Saturday, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. T. Philip Swift, and Mrs. Swift's daughter, Betty. Next week Mr. Swift will join them, as will Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Cummings [Emilia Hoyt] and their two younger daughters, Ruth and Nancy. To complete the family reunion three of Mrs. Hoyt's grandchildren will be spending their spring vacations from school in Hobe Sound. Joyce Cummings is going down from Miss Walker's school, Edward F. Swift III. from Yale, and Phelps Swift from Hotchkiss.

Mrs. George M. Bard of Highland Park and her daughter, Mrs. Ralph A. Bard of Washington, D. C., and Highland Park, have left Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the senior Mrs. Bard for Atlanta, Ga., and her daughter for Washington. Mrs. George Bard spent four weeks in Fort Lauderdale and is expected at home within a few weeks.

Brawleys and Gethros Other Recent Visitors.

Other recent visitors to the southern resort were Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Brawley and Dr. and Mrs. Fred Gethro. Mr. and Mrs. James S. Knight of Evanston, who are spending the winter in Fort Lauderdale, have lent their penthouse at the Lauderdale Beach to a new Bundles for America group formed by guests in the hotel, who meet in the penthouse daily. The Charles Knights and their children, Dorothy Ellen and Jimmie, recently returned to Kenilworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field will be leaving some time this week for their lovely estate in Sarasota, Fla., where they will be staying for the remainder of the season. The Joseph M. Cudahys, however, won't be opening their winter home in Palm Beach. Altho they had hoped to go south this winter, their plans have been changed.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walker are expected at home from Palm Beach about March 23. One Chicagoan whose memories of Palm Beach this season won't be wholly pleasant is Mrs. Leo M. Nicolson, who has been living in Washington since her husband was called there this winter on government business. While visiting Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Pardridge in Palm Beach Mrs. Nicolson came down with chicken pox and had to extend her visit beyond her expected week.

Seen at the opening of the racing season at Tropical Park in Coral Gables, Fla., this week were those Arlington Park inveterates, Mrs. Bert L. Atwater and her daughter, Mrs. George F. Getz Jr.

Southwest Getting Its Share of Chicagoans.

The southwest, too, is coming in for its share of Chicago visitors. Mrs. Freeman Hinckley and her elder daughter, Miss Eleanor McClurg, are in Tucson, Ariz., where Miss Barbara McClurg is enrolled in the Geneva College for Women. Recently they visited Santa Barbara and Palm Springs, Cal., where they stayed at the Desert inn.

Also in Tucson and gone from Chicago for the rest of the winter is Mrs. Charles Y. Freeman, who is busy settling the family's new winter home there. Mrs. Freeman went west early in February, and her husband joined her several weeks later. Recent Tucson visitors were Mrs. Hopewell Rogers and Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes.

John E. Crayne reports a gallon jar of leeches on the counter of a West Grand avenue drugstore. Beside it is the doleful warning, "You won't be able to get 'em much longer. These are imported leeches."

Homecoming.

A south side girl who has been doing some research on mice with Dr. Maude Slye of the University of Chicago had a feeling of distinct uneasiness as she walked thru the lobby of her apartment hotel the other night. Heads turned as she passed, and conversation stopped. As she entered the elevator, the manager stopped her. "We have your pigeon down in the basement," he observed coldly. "What pigeon?" she asked. "The pigeon we found in your room," he said. Surprised by all this, she accompanied him to the basement. There was a pigeon, a nice, friendly little number with a band on its leg. Calling a pigeon breeder, she read him the hieroglyphics on the band, so that its owner could claim it. Instead the FBI came and cross-examined the girl. Again they came, and again. She is considerably baffled by it all. After all, her field is mice.

Quiet Journey.

Mrs. Lovet Fraser of England, pausing here on a British mission, reported a very unadventurous voyage across the North Atlantic by convoyed freighter. Contrary to wartime custom, the passengers at no time wore their life preserver jackets and spent much time sunning themselves on the forward deck. The day they landed she asked the captain why no one ordered them to wear the life preservers. "Well, if you honestly want to know," he replied, "I didn't think there was any use bothering you. It wouldn't have done any good. Every time I saw you sunning on the deck, I had to laugh. Our cargo was T.N.T."

Savannah and the Signs.

Savannah was large, dusky and substantial with a halo of white hair. She wore her starched apron over striped calico with the pride of Josephine, ermine caped, at a Napoleonic court scene. And believed in signs, a creaking gate, a chair that rocked when unoccupied, a loose brick in the chimney, a hoot owl, a squeaking shoe. All these were omens of good or ill to Savannah.

This, however, was only one side of Savannah's sign life. She saved the cardboards returned with laundered shirts, and in the six years she was in our home never made a domestic request. Instead, she printed her requests neatly in red crayon on the shirt boards and set them up in appropriate corners. In the bathroom we would be greeted by "Don't splash. Put the cap on the toothpaste. Hang up your towel." One day we found tacked on the book case, "Dog ears belong in kennels," and once a birthday produced, "Happy birthday. Next time you climb that water tower I'll tell your pappy." But the sign that gave us the greatest delight was the one she wrote when a garrulous relative came to dinner. This time the sign read:

There were many voices
Quiet at the feast.
But mostly I remember
Yours, who said the least.

Prize Sculptor's 2 Aims: to Win at Art and War

BY JUNE GESERICK.

Abbott L. Pattison, winner of the Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan medal and prize money of $500 for his entry in the Art Institute's 46th annual exhibition by artists of Chicago and vicinity, has two chief ambitions: to continue his art work and to have a part in defeating the Japanese and other axis powers.

A bronze sculpture of two girls titled "Kneeling Women" won the awards for the young Chicago artist. He made the statue last year, and it took only two weeks to complete.

Pattison, who is 25 years old, is now a student at Northwestern university naval reserve training school at Abbott hall. Before he entered training, he maintained a studio in the Fine Arts building, where he painted and modeled, selling several of his works to private and civic groups. Prior to that he won a travel fellowship at the Yale Fine Arts school which enabled him to spend a year in China and Japan, where he did painting.

"I'm too busy at Abbott hall to do much about my art work," he said yesterday. "I'll have to take that up later. Right now I'm going to devote all my time to trying to be the best kind of an officer. I want to get back to Japan—this time to do some fighting."

Pattison is thrilled at having won the awards, but he is even happier that one of his works will have a place in the permanent collection at the Art Institute.

The artist's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Pattison, live at 419 Belmont avenue. Young Pattison attended the F. W. Parker preparatory school in Chicago, and later attended Yale university. It was while doing post-graduate work in 1940 at the Yale Fine Arts school that he won the travel fellowship.

Educators to Convene in Chicago March 23

Women in War Work . . . . By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Dr. Josephine von Miklos, well known photographer and designer of cosmetics and perfume packages, answered the question so many women are asking these days, "How best can I serve my country?" by severing all her former business connections and going to work in a New England munitions plant. She gave up her New York studio, canceled her contracts, and transferred her mechanical skill, developed in her own tool shop in making package and product models, to the shop where she felt she was needed more. Dr. von Miklos came to this country from Austria 12 years ago and she feels that in this way she is repaying part of the great debt she owes this land of the free. Native born Americans are not all so appreciative of the opportunities and privileges granted to us who live in a democracy.

"No, he's not in service, and we are hoping his business will keep him from being drafted," recently replied a young wife and mother to the question of whether her husband was in the fighting forces. This particular young man inherited a large fortune, so he is not dependent for support upon his own labors. He is tall, handsome, and strong looking, exactly the sort of young American—outwardly at least—who should be fighting for our freedom. And inwardly, too, we'd wager, if he gave thought enough to the situation and analyzed what would happen if every young American held the idea expressed by his wife. Perhaps it was her idea, tho, not his. If so, he should caution her about saying such a thing, for it is unpatriotic and thoughtless, if not worse.

Morale is very much a woman's business in wartime. Keeping high the morale of our fighting men and those at home is a full time job every woman can and should take on. There is nothing more detrimental to the morale of a young wife of a soldier or sailor than to see her neighbor carrying on life as usual when there is no real reason for his being at home.

A dependent wife and children are good reasons [at least now] for a man not being in uniform, and men in this category deserve understanding, tolerance, and the same respect given a soldier or sailor or marine. But patriotic women have nothing except scorn for men who hide behind petticoats or rompers at a critical time like this, and even more contempt for wives who deliberately give up paying positions, or start families, in order to keep their husbands from doing their duty for their country. If they could hear the whispering campaign going on about these slackers—feminine as well as masculine—the miscreants might change their minds and their actions before the campaign becomes loud voiced.

Slacker is an ugly word that was overworked during the last war, but there is no synonym. During the last war girls reached the point where they did not like being seen in public with young men not in uniform. The day will come when this will be true again, and it may not be long in arriving, either. Such sentiments may be hard on some young men whose health or responsibilities prevent them from being in uniform, but they must be strong enough to bear this burden. Better that five such men should be treated unfairly than that one able bodied one should be in civvies when he is needed in uniform.

The system of volunteer workers at the Chicago Service Men's center, 176 West Washington street, will remain the same under the center's new administration by the Chicago park district, Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence, chairman of the women's committee, has announced. The only newcomer will be Miss Alice Beyer, park art-craft supervisor, who will be coördinator of women's activities. Mrs. Edward J. Kelly will continue as canteen chairman, Mrs. Sartelle Brooks as hostess chairman, and Miss Kay Nelson as chairman of the girls' membership. Mrs. Brooks reports that no applications for hostesses will be accepted until May 1, but Mrs. Kelly is always in search of regular, faithful canteen workers.

The naval and military divisions of Bundles for America [formerly Bundles for Bluejackets and before that Bundles for Britain] will not have the same headquarters in Chicago, for the naval one is at 337 North Michigan avenue and the military one at 424 South Michigan avenue. Mrs. John P. Cohane is president of the midwest section and chairman of the naval unit. Mrs. Millard B. Kennedy is vice president of the section and chairman of the army unit. Owen Coon is treasurer.

Volunteers are needed in both divisions. They may apply at either headquarters. Phonograph records, books, playing cards and pingpong, checkers, and chess equipment are needed in the training stations in this area, and Bundles for America is attempting to supply them. Any one wishing to contribute these articles may do so thru either office. Tickets for the fashion show and tea to be given at Field's on March 18 for the benefit of Bundles for America may be obtained at 337 North Michigan avenue. They are $2.20 each. Mrs. George F. Henneberry heads the committee planning the benefit. One of the gowns that will be displayed in the show will be given as a prize by Adrian, the designer.

SYNOPSIS.

Because Dave Wallace asked Ed Seegrist, Dun River Cattle company hand, about the death of Tip Macy, Ed directed Dave to waterless tanks in the desert where Dave lost two horses and almost perished. A stage picks Dave up and takes him into the desert town of Vermillion. On the same stage is Beth Hilliard, who inherited two-thirds of the cattle company from her father, returning home after a two years' absence, only to learn from her partner, Jess Gove, that the past winter killed 2,000 head of their cattle and she is now practically penniless. Arriving in Vermillion, Dave knocks Ed down and Sheriff Kinsley orders Dave to leave town when Arnie Chance, Hilliard foreman, furnishes an alibi for Ed. Ed claims Tip died in a blizzard but Dave decides to talk to Martha, Tip's widow, before leaving Vermillion. He finds that Martha has been whisked out of town earlier in the day and sent to Hilliard, the cattle company town. He voices suspicion of Jess to Beth but she resents it. Dave boards the stage leaving Vermillion, but still determined to see Martha, forces the stage driver to give him a couple of horses and rides straight to Hilliard. Old Ives, friend of Beth's father, arrives in Hilliard that night and goes to the saloon where Ed Seegrist and two more of the Hilliard crew are drinking. He talks to Con Buckley, saloon keeper, and they both voice doubts about Jess Gove. Dave enters the saloon and beats up Ed again while Pete and Ray, the other two Hilliard hands, look on. Dave makes a getaway on a Hilliard horse and is followed by Ives.

INSTALMENT X.

GREETING.

Pete thought fleetingly of Dave Wallace, whose name he had learned from the hotel register in Vermillion, and he decided he like him. What Wallace had done tonight took a brand of nerve that Pete wasn't sure he had himself.

The cause of Wallace's quarrel with Ed was obscure, but there was nothing obscure about the way he was settling it.

Pete turned and called, "Ray," and then, hearing horses on the street, turned his head.

The light coming out thru the saloon windows vaguely lit the street, and Pete saw a team and top buggy pull up. Jess Gove was leaning out of the buggy, and he called sharply, "Who is it, Pete?"

"Ed Seegrist."

Gove spoke to somebody in the buggy and then stepped out and came up to Pete, who rose. At that moment Ray stepped out from the saloon.

Gove came over and paused in front of Seegrist, looking down at him. "That's twice Gove's done this," Pete thought; "he don't like it, either."

"What was the trouble?" Gove asked.

"The same," Pete said dryly.

Gove looked up quickly, and Pete surprised a look of consternation on his face. "Wallace?"

"He come in and chose Ed and rode off on a Chevron horse."

Jess Gove was facing the light, his features plain to see, and Pete caught a swift anger that came and died in it.

"While you two did what?" Jess wanted to know.

"Watched. I got no quarrel with Wallace."

"Chevron's got a quarrel with him," Jess said gently. "You even let him get away on Ed's horse."

"My horse," Pete corrected.

"That's worse. Why did you?"

Pete couldn't have answered that if he'd wanted to, because in the answer would lie the history of his association with Chevron, which he didn't understand himself. His loyalty to it was superficial, and only two months old. It had taken several scraps to win the respect of the crew, and when he'd won that respect he found he didn't want it.

It was a hard case crew and Arnie Chance rode them with his work and kept his mouth shut and took his pay and blew it, and none of it was much fun. And because it wasn't, Pete had rejected helping Ed tonight; it was Ed's fight, not Chevron's, and oddly, during that scrap his loyalty had been with Dave Wallace.

So, in answer to Jess Gove's question, Pete only shrugged and was silent.

"Buckley in there?" Gove asked. At Pete's nod Jess said: "That's Miss Hilliard in the buggy. Take her down to the hotel." He stepped past Pete into the saloon.

Pete went out to the buggy, said: "Evenin', Miss Hilliard," and climbed into the seat and picked up the reins.

"What happened?" Beth asked.

"Just a little ruckus," Pete answered evasively.

"But wasn't that Ed Seegrist?"

"Yes'm."

The horses started moving, and then Beth asked, "Was it that same man?"

"Yes'm."

It was only a short way to the hotel. Pete pulled up there and climbed out and handed Beth to the steep steps. By the time he had lifted out her valise Beth had gone up the steps and into the hotel.

When Pete came in a moment later Beth was standing in the middle of the small dimly lit lobby, and was looking toward the sidewall. Pete glanced over, and saw Tom Hyam who owned the hotel, asleep. Hyam had pulled up two lobby chairs facing each other, and half lay in one, with his feet sprawled out on the other. His coat and collar were off, his slim hands folded across the plaited bosom of a soiled shirt. Awake, Tom Hyam was a surly, hard drinking man whom Hilliard didn't like. Asleep now, the ghost of his youth was with him, and Pete saw the handsome cynical gambler in a face that was tired and worn.

Pete said, "I'll wake him."

"Can't we just take a key?" Beth asked.

Pete nodded and went over to the small desk by the stairs and lifted a key from the board. He led the way upstairs and into the room, where he put down the valise and lighted the lamp.

When he turned, he surprised Beth's glance appraising him. Caught, Beth smiled. "You're new with us too, aren't you?" She put out her hand. "I'm Beth Hilliard."

Pete yanked off his hat and grinned and shook hands, telling her his name.

Beth said, "I wonder if you'd do one more thing for me, Pete? Jess said Martha Macy was working here. Do you suppose you could find her and tell her I'm here?"

Pete said he could, and stepped out into the hall, closing the door behind him. In the two months since he'd worked for Chevron, he'd found nothing about it he liked half so well as this friendly girl. It made him think of Chevron with a new tolerance. It was only on the stairs that the other thing came to him, and he stopped dead.

Martha Macy! Why, that was the same name Dave Wallace had asked about in the restaurant in Vermillion. He thought of it a moment, and could make nothing of it, and went down into the lobby. Hyam was still asleep and Pete tramped past him into the dark dining room, carefully picking his way past the long tables toward the kitchen, whose door showed light under it.

Pushing open the door, Pete stepped into the hot kitchen. The cook, a Mexican, was setting the night's bread. On the zinc drainboard by the sink, a woman stood sorting silver, her back to him.

"I'm lookin' for Mrs. Macy," Pete announced.

The girl whirled, dropping the silver that was in her hand as she turned. There was alarm in her face now as she regarded Pete, and then it slowly drained away. She stooped and picked up the silver she had dropped. Pete, puzzled, regarded her carefully, and with his smile came a slow feeling of pleasure.

Martha Macy was pretty, and she was young and she was tired, and Pete smiled out of pure friendliness. She was a small girl, with black, straight hair that she had done in an artless knot atop her head to get it out of the way. The work flush in her cheeks couldn't disguise her weariness, and she didn't answer Pete's grin. Her eyes were big, dark, veiled with caution.

"Miss Hilliard says to tell you she's here. Number eight."

Martha Macy stared at him a moment and then said tonelessly, "All right."

She rolled down her sleeves, removed her apron, and walked past Pete without looking at him. He followed her out into the lobby, heading for the street door, but watching her as she climbed the stairs. Tom Hyam snored faintly as Pete reached the porch.

Beth answered the knock on her door, and when she saw Martha she gave a cry of delight, put her arms around her and hugged her. Martha's smile was automatic, and when Beth led her to the bed and sat her down and then stood away from her, looking at her, Martha sat there, tense, uneasy.

"It's been two years, Marty. You haven't changed much," Beth said.

"I have," Martha contradicted dully. "You haven't Beth. You're prettier than ever."

"I'm so sorry about Tip, Marty," Beth murmured.

"Yes."

"What have you been doing?" Beth asked. There was something in Martha's voice so lifeless and beaten, that Beth hurried away from the subject of Tip.

"Working," Martha said dully. "Just working."

"Has—has it been hard?"

The moment Beth spoke, she regretted it. The look of unspeakable bitterness in Martha's eyes was a reproof that brought the color to Beth's cheeks.

"No," Martha said without irony. "Everybody's been good to me."

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

The question of adequate trump support has loomed large in the teachings of all bridge authorities and, indeed, it is vital that the beginner appreciate the importance of trump support. Unfortunately, in their zeal to hammer this fact home, many writers and teachers have gone too far or, rather, done too thoro a job. We now have reached the point where average players will have to learn that trump length is not always a prerequisite for a raise. Let us consider the following situation:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♥ K J
♦ 9 5 4 3
♣ A K 7 5 2

WEST
♠ Q J 10 6 3
♥ 10 7
♦ K J 7 2
♣ 9 3

EAST
♠ A K 7
♥ 8 5 3
♦ Q 10 6
♣ J 10 6 4

SOUTH
♠ 8 4 2
♥ A Q 9 6 4 2
♦ A 8
♣ Q 8

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	?

It would be interesting to collect statistics on how thousands of players would respond at the point where I have left the question mark. Actually, North has a very simple problem, but I strongly suspect that comparatively few players would make the right bid. So many of them are bound by habit to look with disfavor on a raise based on only two trumps that they overlook the implications of South's rebid and remain blind to the tremendous importance of the two heart honors in the North hand. The fact that North has only two hearts is inconsequential, when one considers the picture that North must form concerning South's heart suit, after his rebid.

Hands of this type are continually dropped short of game, to the great dissatisfaction of both partners, or, even worse, they land in an unmakable no trump contract. This is a great pity, because game at four hearts is the next thing to certain. Only if the cards broke outrageously could four hearts be defeated, and even then declarer might, thru superlative play, collect 10 tricks.

I cannot be too emphatic in pointing out the vast difference between raising a once-bid suit, and raising a suit whose length and strength have been confirmed by a rebid. Even without the jack of hearts in the North hand [if North's heart holding were king-small] a raise to three hearts would be the logical course.

Good Morning!

In "International Lady," Illona Massey sang a spy code. . . . In "Paris Calling" Elisabeth Bergner plays a piano—and a hidden radio transmits code messages to the British.

This is the Viennese actress' first Hollywood made movie, and she has acquitted herself well among strange surroundings and teammates. . . . As adaptable, apparently, to persons and places as she is to rôles.

There were many loyal French people who never surrendered to the Nazis nor admitted that their cause was lost. . . . "Paris Calling" tells a story of underground intrigue against the invaders after France's formal capitulation. . . .

Miss Bergner is seen as the deeply adored sweetheart of one Andre Benoit, a wealthy and traitorous French politician. . . . He knows the moment of the invasion and orders his Marianne and her mother to leave Paris. . . . As their car crawls southward, hindered in its progress by the pitiful hordes of fleeing common people, Marianne's heart beats with pity—and fury. . . .

Her mother dies from shock. . . . The girl, deserted by her chauffeur, drives back to the chateau she has so recently left. . . . There she finds in session a meeting of anti-Nazi conspirators. . . . She signs up to work with them, and, later in a harbor café, plays the aforementioned piano to great advantage, cannily fronted for by the bartender and the proprietress. . . .

It is here that she meets a young American aviator, Nick Jordan, who had been flying with the RAF and was left behind when the British evacuated the continent. . . . He becomes an important factor in her life and the affairs of the underground system. . . .

The clever Andre Benoit? Ah, in the hands of one woman he is as wax. . . . Caution descends upon him—but too late! What a rôle for Basil Rathbone! And HOW he plays it.

The acting is all brilliant. . . . Randolph Scott qualifies nobly as the American and outstanding portrayals are by Edward Ciannelli, as the bartender, and Lee J. Cobb as head of the Nazi intelligence service.

I wish they had known what to do about a finale—but they didn't—and it proves a poor end to a well spent film.

See you tomorrow.

Avoid finger marks on papered or painted walls by protecting the electric light switch with a shield made especially for the purpose. In two styles, with either one or two openings for switch buttons, these protecting covers come in white or ivory finish and in clear, transparent plastic. They slip over the metal switch and cover the surrounding area. They cost very little.

Good Memory Is Best of Social Assets

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"If your memory is poor, you're almost sure to fall victim to any number of embarrassing situations," says Actor-Comedian Allen Prescott. "You'll be in deathly fear, during a long and intimate conversation, of picking the wrong name for your new friend.

"The best thing to do is to sharpen your memory just as you press your clothes. It's good to remember that people love the sound of their name and they'll naturally lean toward you if you mention it often in conversation.

"A good memory is vital in retaining old friends, too. Constant companions love to reminisce, and you'll always find that the more interesting conversationalists of your set are those who remember the little incidents that usually slip the average mind. These happenings gain flavor in the retelling, awaken nostalgia, and delight the senses of the speaker's auditors.

"Remembering dates and occasions is of immense social importance, and the ability to do this distinguishes the attentive person from the thoughtless one. Birthdays and anniversaries usually are significant to the persons who are celebrating them, and they often are offended when their close friends and relatives overlook these occasions."

Fish fillets, fresh or frozen, are a joy to cook, because they're all ready for the skillet or the broiler, and need little handling. They cook quickly, too.

Brown them in butter, or brush them with butter, and broil until brown on both sides. Or bake the fillets, if they come from a fat-fleshed fish. Then serve them with lemon, or with lemon butter or a special fish sauce. Remember that the lean fish are best with the butter sauces, while the fat ones need no extra fat and are better with lemon alone, or perhaps with a white sauce variation.

Codfish, flounder, and sole are lean fish, in case you don't remember. Halibut is fairly fat, and salmon and whitefish are fat.

Tartar Sauce.

½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon minced pickle, dill or sweet
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon minced pimiento
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Combine ingredients thoroly. This sauce is best with lean fleshed fish.

Lemon Butter for Fish.

[Four Servings.]

¼ cup butter, melted
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Paprika or white pepper
⅛ teaspoon salt

Heat together and pour over fillets when they are ready for serving. Use only with lean fish.

Creole Sauce.

[Good with any baked or broiled fish.]

¼ cup butter, melted
½ cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup finely chopped green pepper
⅛ teaspoon paprika
2 cups canned tomatoes, sieved

Cook onion, green pepper, and garlic in butter for 10 minutes. Remove garlic. Add other ingredients and simmer for 15 minutes longer. This is a large recipe, enough for whole baked fish, or about eight servings of fillets.

Egg Sauce for Salmon or Other Fat Fish.

1 cup thin white sauce
1 egg, beaten
1 hard cooked egg, chopped fine
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Salt, pepper, cayenne

For the white sauce, melt 1 tablespoon butter, blend in 1 tablespoon flour and ¼ teaspoon salt. Stir while adding 1 cup milk, and cook, constantly stirring, until thickened and smooth. Pour this thin white sauce very slowly into the egg, which has been beaten very light, stirring continually. Add parsley and lemon juice, hard cooked egg and seasoning. Only a speck of cayenne is needed. Remember, it's a hot pepper!

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE.

Mrs. J. H. Snell, 314 5th street, Grand Haven, Mich., wins today's $5 prize for her rich gelatin salad recipe. It's the kind of salad you'll serve in lieu of dessert, a good idea in these days of sugar rationing.

Perhaps you have some very special recipe that would be worthy of the $5 prize given daily in the Mary Meade Recipe Contest. It may be as simple or elaborate as you like, but it must be distinctive and good to eat. Write it in standard form, and do make your directions simple and easy to follow.

Cherry Dessert Salad.

1 package cherry gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup juice drained from cherries
½ cup port wine
1½ cups drained large, black, pitted cherries, canned or fresh
1 3-ounce package cream cheese
¼ cup pecan meats

Dissolve gelatin in the boiling water. Add juice and wine. Stuff cherries with cheese which has been creamed until smoothed and softened with a little cream, if necessary. Add cherries and nuts to gelatin and turn into shallow pan or molds that have been rinsed in cold water. Serve with whipped cream dressing or any other favorite.

[Send in your favorite recipe.]

The Chicago Clarke College club will meet tomorrow night for dinner at the Normandy house. Miss Lauretta Flick is in charge of arrangements. The group will hear a talk on fashions by Miss Elizabeth Manley.

Versatile Jumper Frock

MISS' JUMPER DRESS.

There are many ways you can style this jumper frock which, incidentally, is a model you'll wear simply everywhere in spring and summer. It's a good idea to have the skirt and blouse in contrast, but that contrast may be many things. For example, a "wild" print blouse with full, long sleeves teamed with a pastel woolen or crepe jumper; or a dark colored jumper mated to a pastel or white blouse with shirtwaist styling and short sleeves.

Style No. 2597 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 2⅞ yards of 39 inch material for jumper; 2⅛ yards for long sleeved blouse; 1½ yards for short sleeved model.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The spring pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Stage Notes

The final title for Martha Graham's new ballet, to be given its world première at the Civic Opera house on Saturday evening, is "Land Be Bright." The provisional title, now abandoned, was "The Litany of Washington Street." The composition, which involves the services of Miss Graham, Erick Hawkins, Merce Cunningham, and the entire dance group, is characterized as "a celebrating for Washington's birthday, Lincoln's birthday, Jefferson's birthday." A quotation from Vachel Lindsay describes its style. "This is somewhat in the spirit of statehouse and courthouse and dollar bill mural paintings. It is somewhat in the spirit of the best Fourth of July decorations and speeches, and the way patriotic people remember their heroes in fancy and oratory."

"Papa Is All," the engaging Pennsylvania Dutch comedy, has added Sunday evening performances to its schedule at the Blackstone theater. Among other plays, current and future, only "Angel Street," at the Harris, will offer Sunday performances.

The Actors Company of Chicago, whose playhouse is at 218 South Wabash avenue, will present a series of week-end performances of Frank Vosper's mystery comedy, "Love for a Stranger," beginning tomorrow evening. Minnie Galatzer is the director.

Burton Holmes Takes Audience to East Indies

BY CECIL SMITH.

An inevitable undercurrent of nostalgia and regret persists thruout Burton Holmes' lecture this week, despite the eminent globetrotter's determination to be casual and cheerful about his subject matter. For he is taking his fellow travelers to no less tragic an area than the Dutch East Indies, and at this moment in the world's history it is not easy to be an escapist when one is contemplating the life and geography of the western Pacific islands.

Of course, Mr. Holmes did not visit the Dutch East Indies last summer. None of his pictures are actually new, altho all of them were undoubtedly unfamiliar to most of the audience, as they were to me. He last visited the Indies a decade or so ago [if one may judge from the vintage of the automobiles on the streets of Batavia and Bandoeng], and he couples slides and excellent, if uncolored, movies from that visit with more historic documentary pictures dating from an earlier trip in 1908.

If the rest of the audience was no better informed than I, the pictures and lecture served to show quite dramatically the difference between prosperous Java, modernized and speeded up by the colonizing Dutch, and primitive Sumatra, with its impenetrable jungles, its carabao drawn wagons, and its extravagantly gabled and heavily thatched houses.

Of exceptional archæological interest is a great pyramid, nearly a thousand years old, in which the earlier Buddhist culture of Java is preserved in sculpture and symbolism deep in the heart of the island. [The Javanese are now Mohammedans.]

The lecture will be repeated in Orchestra hall tomorrow evening and Saturday afternoon. Next week Mr. Holmes concludes his 1942 series with a lecture on Russia.

Club Luncheon Today.

Obedience Not Always Gained by Severity

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"My daughter and son-in-law wanted me to extend my visit with them," observed a grandmother, "but I just couldn't stand their constant punishment of the children, so I came home."

I knew the daughter, and I also know that her upbringing had been a gentle, happy one, so I was interested to hear more about the reasons for her mother's inability to prolong her visit with the family. I urged her to tell me.

"Well, to begin with," explained the grandmother, "Alan is 7 years old and one of the kindest and most lovable of youngsters, if his parents would only try to understand him. If, when he did something of which they'd disapprove, they'd refrained from hitting him, banishing him from the table, and depriving him of various pleasures, without letting him give a single word of explanation, perhaps I could have stood things with more fortitude.

"Being only a child, he'd forget his galoshes, his cap, or his gloves; be perhaps 10 minutes late getting home in the evening when he'd been sleighing on the hill; come bouncing into the house, noisy and excited over a fire in the next block, when there were guests, and be dilatory about this or careless about something else. He never got by. He was always punished.

"Then there's little Betty, just turned 3, with whom the same tactics are being tried, but she's made of sterner stuff. Spankings roll right off her like water off a duck's back. She stands up for what she wants and, instead of making her docile, they make her stubborn and willful. She gets into all sorts of hot water because she insists upon doing what she's set out to do.

"I remonstrated with my daughter, but her only answer was that children are different now and the only way to bring them up is to demand obedience. I spoke about her own childhood and she replied that the problems parents face today aren't as easily solved as they were when she was a child. Do you wonder I preferred to come home?"

Not a single worthwhile thing can be gained by constantly intimidating a child, by chastising him, or alienating his affections thru other kinds of punishment, and you do find out in the long run that you have created a smoldering animosity by unrelenting severity. On the other hand, everything is to be gained by guidance thru love, patience, tact, and sympathetic study and understanding. Such methods bring out the best in children and help them morally, mentally, physically, and spiritually. Try it and prove it for yourselves.

French Harpist Is Greeted by Crowded Hall

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Harpists are as rare as whistlers on Chicago's concert calendar. Lovers and students of the ancient instrument, who have had to exist for years without a full length harp recital, crowded Kimball hall last night to hear the distinguished Frenchman, Marcel Grandjany, play an interesting program of transcriptions and originals.

Any one who believes that the harp is valuable chiefly as a romantic background for swooning Victorian misses would have been confounded by Grandjany's performance. It was bright, alive and well accented. Often it boasted an honest forte.

Above all it was thoroly musical. Flaky pianissimos, scintillating examples of passage work, delicate shadings and refined dynamic schemes never existed for themselves alone but were introduced only to clinch some musical point. There was a sense of direction and purpose about Grandjany's work which marked it off sharply from the amorphous, reverylike school of harp playing.

Among the most important of the works originally for harp on the program was a noble movement from a Handel concerto. The transcriptions were of the greatest variety—an excerpt from the Fitzwilliam Virginal book and pieces by composers as far apart as Bach and Debussy. The transcriber was Grandjany himself.

Thru the Looking Glass

Never, if you value your social security, permit yourself to be drawn into a discussion of what is beautiful or otherwise in the matter of translations of the scent of pine. It is one of those delicate, not for the dinner table subjects, like politics or religion, about which people feel violently. What one man—or woman—considers a heavenly version of that woodsy scent, another is apt to consider an absolute stinker. Some like their pine very, very tangy, others want it very pretty.

Personally we think pine is good only if it is piney. When it is ersatz it's something else again. And as pines go, we like a pine bath oil that right now recommends itself to the attention of those who like this fragrance because it's a beauty bargain and a softening preparation that makes bathing less of a drying out process for the thin skinned.

This bath oil is dark green in color, which may not endear it to those who prefer their bath aids pastel. But a few drops of it are all that are necessary to give the hot bath water an invigorating aroma and to impart to it a refreshing and relaxing quality. It's the pine woods brought home—and if you like pine woods what more could you ask?

There is that lovely cool green note, plus that invigorating undernote of what clings to your palm when you handle a cone. It soothes and stimulates at one swoop and translated to a bath oil it seems just what most pine fanciers would like. It is a bath glorifier that can step you up in the morning and can lull you to sleep at night. We asked some of the most exacting critics of pine versions to try it and those we trust most have reported it just about perfect.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

Simple, everyday things! America is coming back to a new appreciation of them. Family ties have become more precious. Thrift, long forgotten virtue, is with us again. Homey foods fill kitchens with heartening smells. And speaking of foods that make folks glad, read the big news below!

George Rector
Food Consultant to Wilson & Co.

No more wasteful evaporation of precious meat juices. No more flavor losses. That thin, clear coat of sparkling gelatine on the fresh beef, lamb and veal you see at your dealer's keeps out dust, and keeps in the juices that spell "flavor."

It's Wilson's Gela Seald fresh Beef, Lamb and Veal. You can get it in any cut, from roast to stew. Look for the clear, sparkling gelatine coating.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY DINNER
Paddy O'Grady Soup
(Split Pea)
Wilson's Roast Gela Seald Leg of Lamb
Erin Potatoes
(baked on the half shell, sprinkled with chopped chives)
Green Beans
Shamrock Salad
(Green Peppers stuffed with cream cheese)
Killarney (Lime) Sherbet
Harp-shaped Cookies

Allow a Wilson's Gela Seald leg of lamb to come to room temperature. Place it on a rack in an open roasting pan, skin side down. Roast from 300° F. to 325° F. 35 minutes per pound. When half done, season with salt and pepper, turn, season on the other side and continue cooking till done. Make gravy with pan drippings.

• • •

TO STRETCH MEAT MONEY

Why not cut food costs with sausage dinners? Yes, a pound of Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links (regular size) serves 4 generously.

And there's something about the wonderful fragrance of these choice sausages as they sizzle in the pan that seems to build up the morale of the whole family.

Economy with Glamour

Fry sausages lightly and lay them spoke fashion on top a casserole of cooked macaroni in white sauce. (Make the white sauce with sausage drippings.) Bake in a 350° F. oven till sausages are done (about 30 minutes).

• • •

If you like a lunch meat that's not too spicy or salty, try Wilson's MOR. As perfect in flavor as Wilson's Tender Made Ham.

• • •

Rector Recommends . . .

For Lent, asparagus with Hollandaise sauce. (Made with Clear Brook Butter and Eggs.) Don't have the water in the bottom of the double boiler touch the top part. Result—the Hollandaise will not separate from being cooked too rapidly. And so, till next week, good-by. G. R.

CARRIES FIGHT ON RENTAL RULE TO WASHINGTON

Real Estate Board Official Will See Henderson.

Leonard Downie, business manager for the Chicago Real Estate board, left yesterday for Washington, D. C., where he will confer with Leon Henderson, head of the Office of Price Administration, in an effort to prevent any federal rent control here.

Leonard Downie.

Mayor Kelly has appealed to Henderson for aid to prevent unwarranted increases, and Ald. Benjamin Grant [3d] yesterday introduced into the city council a resolution asking that Chicago be declared a defense rental area and rents be "frozen" as of Jan. 1. The resolution was referred to the committee on rents and prices of the Chicago Commission on National Defense of which Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th] is chairman.

Charges Lack of Coöperation.

Lindell asserted that while real estate board officials are attempting to coöperate with the committee, many members of the board are failing to do so and have permitted unreasonable rent increases. Lindell said, however, he had been told of one large real estate concern which revised its rentals, nullifying a previous increase.

Downie, before leaving for Washington, said that the board could be of greater help to Lindell's committee if it would refer to the board the names of landlords whose rent increases were considered unreasonable. Lindell said that he considers it illegal for him to release such names.

All Complaints Investigated.

John C. Weigel, regional OPA director, said all complaints received by his office from this area were investigated, but that results of the investigation are sent to Washington for consideration as part of the entire rent picture. He said also that if the city should be declared a defense rental area, city officials would be given a 60 day period to remedy the rent situation before any rent ceilings would be set.

He said that the low income groups were hardest hit by rent boosts,

TYPEWRITER MEN SEEK TO DEAL IN OLDER MACHINES

While Chicago's typewriter industry and the public yesterday awaited the War Production board's order freezing the sale or rental of machines, the Chicago Typewriter Dealers association took action. After a meeting of 40 of the association's 300 members, a telegram to Washington requested that dealers be allowed to rent and sell typewriters more than five years old.

Meanwhile, Miss Mary Higgins, chief nurse of County hospital clinic, reported to police that a youth stole a $100 machine from the clinic yesterday while his companion conversed with her.

LINDBLOM BEATS WELLS SENIORS TO REACH FINAL

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Lindblom seniors reached the finals of the city league's basketball championship competition by beating Wells, 38 to 31, yesterday in Gage Park High school gymnasium. This victory gave Lindblom the right to meet Kelly in the final. Kelly had advanced by defeating Crane, 36 to 28, in the other senior semi-final on Tuesday.

The two junior finalists also emerged from yesterday's games. These are Tilden and Marshall. Tilden whipped Parker, 29 to 24, on the Chicago Teachers floor while Marshall was beating Waller, 33 to 27, in the Lane gymnasium.

Confer on Finals Today.

The coaches of the four teams are to confer today to decide upon the time and the places at which the finals will be run off. These games are expected to be played either tomorrow or Saturday. The Lindblom-Kelly game is set tentatively at Chicago Teachers' college Saturday.

Lindblom, which took second place in the central section, came thru with a third period rally to take the lead at 29 to 24 after trailing Wells 8 to 7 at the quarter and 18 to 17 at the half.

As the last period progressed, however, the Wells boys threatened repeatedly. They cut their opponents' lead to 30 to 28. Then George Scalamera eased the situation for Lindblom by tossing in a basket. Cichone of Wells came right back with two points, but again Lindblom moved clear as Willie Vander Ploeg flipped in a clever shot to make it 34 to 30.

John Cosentino of Wells then sank a free throw and with a little more than a minute and a half to play the score was 34 to 31. Then baskets in quick succession by Scalamera and Wally Silko ran Lindblom's advantage to 38 to 31 and clinched the game. Silko was Lindblom's leading scorer with five baskets and three free throws.

Tadelman, Goldberg Star.

Hymie Tadelman and Buddy Goldberg each made five baskets for Marshall in that team's victory over Waller. Tadelman also scored a free throw. High point man of the game, however, was Bill Booker, who totaled 12 for Waller.

Bob Burke led Tilden to its victory over Parker with five baskets and a free throw.

Marshall will be seeking its third consecutive city junior title. Yesterday's victory brought its string of consecutive successes to 57, counting nonleague games.

Cleveland, O., March 11 (AP).—Jimmy Bivins gave Gus Lesnevich a slugging lesson tonight to win a decisive verdict over the light heavyweight champion in a 10 round nontitle bout. The winner weighed 176¼ pounds and Lesnevich 178.

The Cleveland Negro, who drank a quart of water in order to scale over the 175 pound limit, turned loose his artillery to knock the champion down briefly in the second round.

It was a right to the jaw that floored Lesnevich in the second. A crowd of 9,429 paid $22,892 to see the bout.

OSHKOSH BEATS DETROIT, 43-41, FOR PRO TITLE

BY WILFRID SMITH.

History did not repeat itself last night in the National Pro basketball tournament. Before a near capacity crowd of 7,500 in the International Amphitheater, the Oshkosh Stars defeated the Detroit Eagles, 43 to 41.

One year ago, on this same court, the Eagles whipped the Stars for the professional championship.

Eagles Lead Once.

Detroit deserved all the praise its supporters gave, for the Eagles, who were behind 20 to 10 at the intermission, took the lead from Oshkosh at 39 to 38. It was Detroit's only advantage in the game.

Eddy Riska's field goal sent Oshkosh ahead but Detroit tied, 41 to 41, when Bud Jeanette made his fourth field goal. One minute remained to play.

Each team passed cautiously, waiting a close-in shot. Then Gene Englund, Oshkosh center, took the ball, faked low, and got clear under the board for the winning basket.

Detroit Declines Penalty.

With seconds to play, Lou Barle, of the Stars, committed his fifth and disqualifying foul. Detroit declined to shoot and took the ball out of bounds.

On the pass-in, John Pelkington got a hurried shot that bounded away from the hoop as the gun ended the game.

Englund's six field goals and three penalty points paced all players, but the Oshkosh veteran, Leroy Edwards, probably saved the game. Edwards was in and out at center three times because of his injured knee. In his last appearance, and with the score tied at 33 each, Edwards scored five consecutive points and when Englund returned to the fray Oshkosh led, 38 to 35.

The Grummans of Long Island, N. Y., won third place by defeating the Harlem Globe Trotters, 43 to 41. The Grummans took an early lead after a tie at 6 to 6 and never were headed.

White Sox Sigh with Relief; Drudgery Drills to End Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 11. — The White Sox, to the last man, will let go tomorrow with a deep sigh of relief. It will be their way of expressing delight that the tough part of spring training—the calisthenics, the running, the monotony of putting on a uniform every day to go thru the same dull program—has come to an end.

Even Holdout Luke Appling may feel the relief in his far away Atlanta, Ga., hideout. Luke always was an advocate of the argument that spring training is silly or something, and now that the objectionable part is about over, he might decide to come on out unless the fishing is too good back home.

Of course, there are two separated open dates later on, but there will be games in between and by that time the boys won't object to going back to common labor. Manager Jim Dykes might even award vacations on those days if his charges do well enough in the exhibitions.

It's Rookie Time for Dykes.

So far the rookies haven't received much attention from their boss, but it always is that way in Prof. Dykes' school. The professor doesn't try to make them happy with a few encouraging words. He just lets them run loose so they can toughen up. But with the barnstorming dates they get their chance. Instead of concentrating on winning games that will not show in the standings of the clubs he aims at what the freshmen might or might not do in actual competition.

The most strenuous bidding for jobs, at least utility rôles, will develop among the infielders. Murrell Jones is better than an every day first base candidate for an emergency. Leo Wells, who will be the shortstop until Appling arrives, was sought by several big league clubs before the Sox closed a deal with St. Paul. Then there's Chester Hadjuk, either for first or the outfield, Harvey Johnson for second base, and Dave Philley for the outfield.

Root vs. Lyons—Maybe.

The Hollywood club, which the Sox play next Sunday, is trying to rig up a gate attraction for that afternoon. The scheme is to have Charley Root, back in the minors for the first time since he became a full fledged Cub in 1926, start against Chicago's south-side veteran, Ted Lyons.

It may not materialize because in recent springs Lyons never has been ordered to pitch. When he thinks he's ready, he seeks the assignment. Right now Ted is slowed down a bit because of soreness in his knee, the result of hopping around too freely the first few days.

Stanley Goletz, the big southpaw who failed to report at camp, today informed Vice President Harry Grabiner that his army enlistment effort had failed and that he would wait in Oklahoma City until his draft board made a move. If he is given indication that his number will not come up in the immediate future he may join the club during the interval. Dykes would like to have the rookie around mainly because of his pinch hitting ability.

What Say, Luke?

Today's drill was slightly hampered by a heavy field and Dykes eliminated everything that might invite pulled leg muscles. But the boys did a lot of throwing and some straightaway jogging back and forth on the outfield turf.

O, yes, we almost forgot to mention that Dykes heard of Holdout Appling's reply to the manager's declaration that Luke wasn't any good at driving in runs. Luke said he couldn't drive 'em in because there never was anybody on base. Well, Dykes says he'll bet that Appling left more runners on the bases than anybody on the team. Appling drove in 57 runs last year. Taft Wright drove in 97 in far fewer games. Dykes claims he has no official figures to prove his point, but he must know something or he wouldn't be inviting Appling to pick up some easy money.

SERVO ILL, SUB FACES ROBINSON ON MARCH 20

New York, March 11 (AP).—Marty Servo, a ranking welterweight fighter and now a member of the United States coast guard, was taken to the naval hospital at Ellis Island today and had to withdraw from his March 20 bout with Ray Robinson in Madison Square Garden.

In his place against Robinson, Promoter Mike Jacobs put Norman Rubio, rugged Albany 147-pounder. The fight will be at 10 rounds.

Servo was suffering from grippe and tonsilitis, physicians said.

MUSIC STILLED AS CUBS LEAVE CATALINA TODAY

Say Farewell of Other Years Just a Memory.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 11.—Catalina Island tomorrow will say aloha to the Cubs and vice versa. A fleet of water taxis bearing General Manager James [Canoe] Gallagher and 60-odd parcels of human freight are scheduled to take off from the fish pier at 9 o'clock in the morning.

If the man at the submarine nets is in an affable mood the party should land at Wilmington, on the mainland, at about noon. An hour after landing they should be established in the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles, there to maintain headquarters until departing for Tucson, Ariz., on the night of March 31.

Here's the Lineup.

The first of the Cubs' 31 exhibition games will be played Friday in Los Angeles against their old pals, the White Sox. Today Manager Jim Wilson announced this starting lineup and batting order:

Stan Hack, third base; Charley Gilbert, center field; Harry [Peanuts] Lowrey, left field; Bill Nicholson, right field; Babe Dahlgren, first base; Clyde McCullough, catcher; Lou Stringer, second base; Bob Sturgeon, shortstop; Claude Passeau, pitcher. Passeau will pitch the first three innings and probably will be followed by Vallie Eaves and Johnny Schmitz, with Bill Lee and Russ Meers as alternates.

While it is expected there will be a scattering of natives at the docks here tomorrow, no formal ceremonies are anticipated. Señor José Mendoza, plump and polite master of the bass violin, and his four lyrical associates who daily for years strummed aloha as the big boat pulled away from this magic isle, were bounced shortly before Christmas when the steamer was taken out of service. They are not scheduled to be on hand tomorrow, if indeed, they still possess their instruments, things having been that tough on the island in a musical way. Juke boxes had hurt the boys even before the big boat was taken off.

Wilson Has Regrets.

Today the Cubs held their last drill of a highly successful training period, probably their last on the island for several years, at least. The squad was prevented from working out the first full day here, Feb. 21, but since then there hasn't been a second's interruption to the training program.

Seven intracamp games were played, four for money between selected teams and three between Regulars and Yannigans. After their deadlock battle in the four games for a cash pool the players were listless, playing solely for exercise. This was particularly true of the Regulars, who were whipped in all three meetings with the Yannigans.

Manager Wilson declared this morning he regretted he hadn't let the boys battle on for dough, but said he expected to see the players' competitive qualities stirred again when they meet major league opposition in the exhibition games.

In referring to the restlessness of the Regulars, Skipper Wilson said he suspected several of them thought they had their jobs cinched, while others who played on the Yannigans thought they simply were transferred to give the Yannigans strength.

Two Jobs Up for Grab.

In this connection Wilson said that two jobs, aside from the pitching staff, are wide open. These spots, he said, are left field and shortstop. Currently Harry [Peanuts] Lowrey has first call in left and will be given a thoro trial in the position.

Charley Gilbert and Bill Nicholson apparently have the other two spots clinched. This does not mean that Dom Dallessandro has been discarded, or will be. But right now, mostly because he is left handed like Gilbert and Nicholson, he is under a handicap.

Neither Dallessandro nor Lowrey can throw, so they are a standoff. Lowrey can run faster than little Dominic, but it is Lowrey's right handness that is giving him the edge just now.

NOTRE DAME TO MEET SAILORS, SAYS LEAHY

Minnesota Suggests Oct. 10 Date.

Sailors' Schedule

SEVERAL midwestern universities last night confirmed reports they will meet the Great Lakes Naval Training station football team next fall. The tentative partial schedule as obtained from a canvass of the school:

Oct. 10—Great Lakes vs. Minnesota.
Oct. 31—Great Lakes vs. Missouri, in either Columbia, Mo., or St. Louis.
Nov. 7—Great Lakes vs. Purdue in Lafayette.
Nov. 14—Great Lakes vs. Marquette in Milwaukee.
Nov. 21—Great Lakes vs. Iowa at Iowa City or Dyche stadium.
Dec. 5—Great Lakes vs. Notre Dame in Soldiers' field.
Sept. 26, Nov. 26, or Nov. 28—Great Lakes vs. Northwestern in Dyche stadium.

A 10 game football schedule, including contests with Big Ten elevens, is being arranged for Great Lakes Naval Training station athletes next fall. This was announced last night by Rear Adm. John Downes, commanding officer.

No Big Ten team was specifically mentioned, pending the outcome of negotiations. Four days ago, Lou Keller, acting director of athletics at the University of Minnesota, said that the Gophers were agreeable to playing the Sailors on Oct. 10. On this date Minnesota originally was scheduled to meet Illinois in Champaign, but the game has to be shifted to Nov. 28. Minnesota also has offered to play the naval training base eleven at the University of Iowa, coached by Bernie Bierman, former Gopher coach. The tentative date is Oct. 3.

Football Stars at Great Lakes.

No announcement has yet been made concerning the coaching staff at Great Lakes, but the name of Fritz Crisler, athletic director and football coach at the University of Michigan, has been unofficially mentioned in reports from Ann Arbor, Mich.

Football stars now stationed at Great Lakes include Paul Christman, formerly of Missouri; Joe Kuharich, formerly of Notre Dame, and Al Forte, former Chicago Bear.

The football squad at Great Lakes will set the pace for a strenuous physical hardening program at the United States Naval Training station. Under the leadership of nationally famous coaches, the 50,000 men passing thru the station in each training period will undergo strict physical disciplining designed to bring each to the peak of condition.

Cites Athletics' Importance.

In announcing the program, Adm. Downes recalled that the United States navy always has recognized the fact that athletics are of utmost importance during wartime.

"Both the navy's wartime and peacetime sports programs," he said, "have been built on the premise that athletics promote sportsmanship, clean living and above all, team play. Those are vitally essential to the molding of men as good citizens in times of peace, and good sailors in time of war.

"Events of the recent past have proved that America must become physically hardened if it hopes to beat off attacking forces and fight on to ultimate victory. We of the navy already are at work on that program, training each man that he may be physically equipped to become a victorious sailor."

Increases Sports Program.

Encouraged by the success of the Great Lakes basketball team, which scored 29 victories in its first 34 games, Adm. Downes has broadened the station's athletic program to include intramural baseball and now intercollegiate football.

"The purpose of such competition is threefold," he said. "First, it entertains recruits at the United States Naval Training station in our games at home. In travels to the leading universities of the 9th naval district it brings the navy 'home' to many men, women and children who have never seen the oceans and seldom the men who sail our fighting ships.

Receipts to Navy Fund.

"Finally, there are the proceeds to the Navy Relief society, which cares for the widows and orphans of navy men who are dying that Americans may be free. The 9th naval district gives the navy 35 per cent of its enlisted personnel and when there are casualties that ratio, of course, continues."

Adm. Downes' announcement came four days after Western conference athletic directors and faculty representatives meeting in Chicago approved extending the Big Ten football schedule from 8 to 10 games in order to play service teams.

After the Great Lakes announcement had reached midwestern points, the following expressions from universities of the area were forthcoming.

60 3-YEAR OLDS NOMINATED FOR RICH PREAKNESS

Alsab, Some Chance and Sun Again Head List.

Baltimore, Md., March 11 (AP).—Sixty 3 year olds, including Alsab, the 1941 juvenile king, and most of the colts which battled him for that honor, are eligible for the $50,000 added Preakness stakes to be run for the 52d time at Pimlico May 9.

The Maryland Jockey club, announcing the nominations for its richest race, said 33 interests were represented. Warren Wright's Calumet farm, whose Whirlaway won the Preakness last year, led the list with five nominations.

W. E. Boeing and E. R. Bradley named four horses each, while William Woodward, Mrs. Isabelle Dodge Sloane, Mrs. Payne Whitney, Louis B. Mayer, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, and William Ziegler Jr., each nominated three.

One Sabath Entry.

Alsab was the lone entry from the Albert Sabath stable. The little colt, winner of 15 races and $110,600 last year, hasn't been able to win this season but his good fifth to older horses in the Widener was heartening to his supporters.

Other 1941 stakes winners nominated include William Woodward's Apache and Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Dogpatch.

Some Good Ones Missing.

Notable absentees include Requested, winner of the Flamingo, Bright Willie, American Wolf, and Incoming, all conquerors of Alsab in Florida this winter, Contradiction, winner of the Pimlico Futurity, Black Raider, Fair Call, and Chuckle.

Following are the entries:

F. M. Alger Jr.'s White Bait; Belair stud's Blandisher, Apache, and Gloucester; W. E. Boeing's Enter, Sense, Larrup, and Recap; Mrs. W. E. Boeing's Tacoma; E. R. Bradley's Better Hurry, By Conscript, Bless Me, and Bliss; W. L. Brann's Manador; Breymann farm's Ramillies and Bleu D'Or; Brookmeade stable's Landslide, Reaper's Blade, and Sun Dial; Calumet farm's Some Chance, Sun Again, Wishbone, Pharatheen, and Col. Teddy; R. Sterling Clark's Esterling; Darby Dan farm's Patriot; Foxcatcher farm's Star Beacon and Fairy Manah.

Greentree stable's Devil Diver, Pemmican, and Shut Out; Hal Price Headley's Equinox and Air Current; W. M. Jeffords' Caduceus; King ranch's El Caballero; Log Cabin stud's Paladin; Louis J. Lepper's America Fore and Song o' War; Mrs. E. G. Lewis' Rodney; Breckinridge Long's Equipet; T. B. Martin's Call of Duty; L. B. Mayer's Domingo, King's Abbey, and Overland Trail; Milky Way farm's Sun Forever and Dog Patch; Millsdale stable's Yankee Cousin.

Cleaveland Putnam's Man's Man; Mrs. Albert Sabath's Alsab; A. G. Vanderbilt's Talent Scout, Spare Man, and Rascal; C. V. Whitney's Coat of Arms; J. H. Whitney's First Lord; Woodcock and King's Yukon; Woodvale farm's To Boot; Woolford farm's Reconciled; William Ziegler's Romping Home, Wait A Bit, and Exceptional.

Dog Show Is Carded for March 28-29

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago's annual spring dog show, which ranked fourth among the 230 all-breed shows held in the country last year, will attract more than 1,300 of the nation's finest purebreds to the International amphitheater March 28 and 29.

The show, sponsored by the International Kennel club of Chicago, was the largest in the middle west in 1941 when 1,349 dogs were exhibited. The only shows with larger entries were the Morris and Essex show at Madison, N. J., the Westminster Kennel club show in New York City, and the Katonah, N. Y., event.

Largest Show Canceled.

The Morris and Essex show has been the largest in the country for several years, but has been canceled for 1942. Its sponsor, Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge, will attend the Chicago event and select the best dog in the show. The group judges will be Alfred Delmont, Wynnewood, Pa., sporting dogs; W. L. Smalley, Plainfield, N. J., hounds; R. L. Patterson, Madison, N. J., working dogs; Alva Rosenberg, Brooklyn, N. Y., terriers; William H. Pym, Vancouver, B. C., toys, and George N. Owen, Biltmore, N. C., nonsporting dogs.

Premium lists and entry blanks already are in the mail to exhibitors all over the country. The final entry deadline is March 23.

THE TRIBUNE again will sponsor the obedience competition in the International. In 1940 and 1941 new American records for number of competitors were established at this show. Last year 122 trained dogs took part.

Tribune Offers Trophies.

The trophies to be awarded by THE TRIBUNE to the owners of obedience winners are similar to those given last year. Sterling silver trophies will go to the winners of first and second place in the regular classes, and each member of the winning team will receive sterling silver trays.

The team obedience event, which was placed on the obedience schedule last year as an exhibition, will be a competitive event this year. Every training club in the Chicago area has been sent the rules which will govern this novel event featuring teams of four dogs and their handlers.

Individual star was Wally Freitag, who, substituting for Capt. Bill Flesch of the Monarchs, fired a 192 267 255 714 series. Scores:

WILKINSON QUITS SYRACUSE FOR MINNESOTA JOB

Syracuse, N. Y., March 11 (AP).—Charles [Bud] Wilkinson, football line coach at Syracuse university for five years, resigned today and said he would leave tomorrow for Minneapolis to accept an offer to become Minnesota freshman coach and varsity scout.

Wilkinson was an outstanding lineman of Minnesota's nationally high ranking elevens of 1934 and 1935 and in his senior year, 1936, shifted to the Gopher back field as quarter back. He came to Syracuse in 1937 when Ossie Solem took over as head coach.

The Irish will conclude their season tomorrow night against University of Detroit. Omer Sturm, sophomore from Jasper, Ind., replaced Niemiera.

FIELD OF 280 TO COMPETE IN BUTLER RELAYS

Indianapolis, Ind., March 11 (AP).—Michigan's eight year domination of the Butler indoor relays may be ended in the 10th annual meet here Saturday and two or three records may go into the discard under assaults by 280 track and field men from 24 universities and colleges.

Ohio State's Western conference indoor champions, Indiana, and Notre Dame are the chief challengers of the Wolverines.

Michigan, Ohio State, Indiana, and Purdue are threats to the university two mile relay record of 7:44.4.

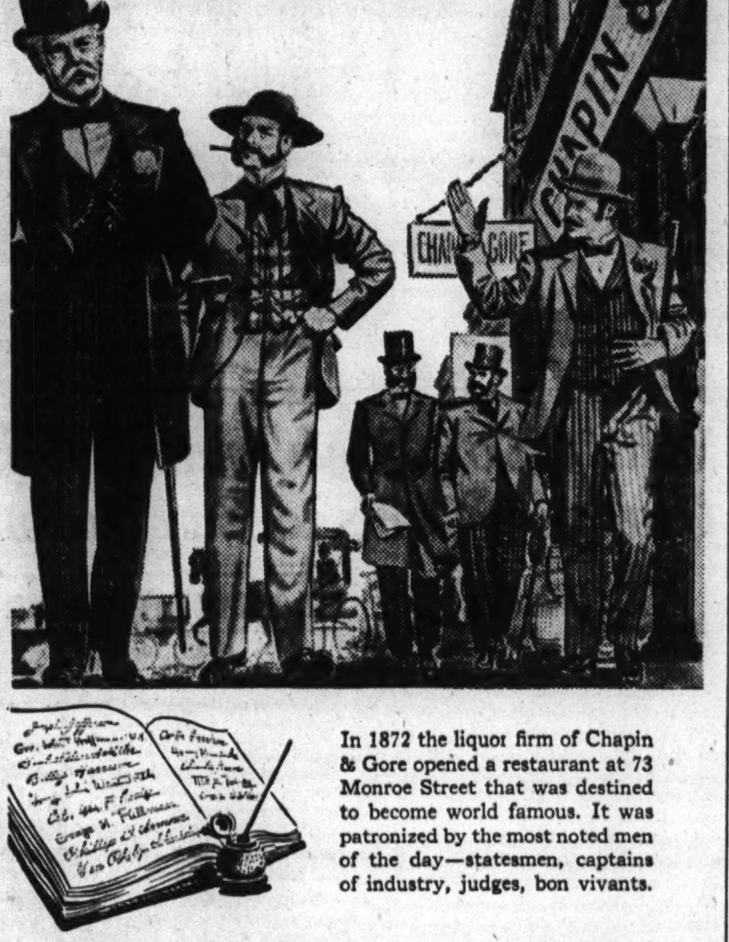
Indiana's great milers—Campbell Kane, Fred Mitchell, and Paul Kendall—may crack Michigan's four mile relay record of 17:49.8 if Fred Wilt becomes eligible to join them.

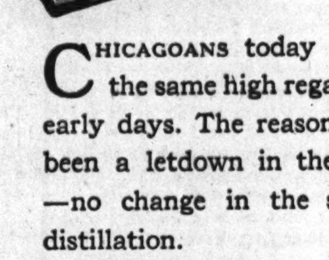
Both Western Michigan and Wayne bettered the one mile college relay record of 3:25.9 in the central intercollegiate meet last week.

Other universities entered are Illinois, Northwestern, and Purdue of the Big Ten and Texas, Nebraska, Pittsburgh, Marquette, Drake, and Kansas State college.

College entries in addition to Western Michigan's defending champions and Wayne are Alabama State, Butler, DePauw, Earlham, Indiana State, Pittsburg [Kas.] Teachers, Miami, Prairie View, and Rose Poly.

Famous men made "CHAPIN & GORE" a famous name





In 1872 the liquor firm of Chapin & Gore opened a restaurant at 73 Monroe Street that was destined to become world famous. It was patronized by the most noted men of the day—statesmen, captains of industry, judges, bon vivants.

CHICAGOANS today hold C & G Bourbon in the same high regard it enjoyed in the city's early days. The reason is that there has never been a letdown in the high quality of C & G—no change in the slow, careful method of distillation.

Ask for this mellow old bourbon of distinctive taste at your favorite bar. Take a bottle home tonight. You'll agree that you've never enjoyed a finer whiskey—that C & G Bourbon is truly a great value.

THE NATIONAL EMERGENCY

The railroads have again demonstrated their capacity and ability, under private management, to meet successfully and completely the demands made upon them by the National Emergency. The efficient performance has been well recognized.

During 1941 the freight traffic was greater than any previous year in their history and the passenger traffic was greater than any year since 1929. Although the ownership of freight cars was 600,000, or 26% less than in 1929, with a greater capacity of cars and locomotives it was possible, by continuous improvement in facilities and operating methods, to handle this large traffic without congestion or car shortage.

The railroads of the country are alert to their responsibility in the moving of men and materials so essential to our National Defense. The Company is participating with all its resources, including expenditures for improvements, towards producing the maximum of transportation efficiency.

FINANCE

The Company's net funded debt was reduced $12,947,970 during the past year. Equipment Trust Obligations increased $4,704,000 due to the issuance of $11,925,000 Fifteen-year 1¾% obligations, which were sold on a 1.744% basis to finance, in part, the cost of new equipment. This in turn was offset by the payment of obligations amounting to $7,221,000.

The System's funded debt in the hands of the public was reduced almost $30,000,000 through securities retired at maturity, bonds redeemed through sinking funds, and bonds acquired by System Companies.

EQUIPMENT

To meet the requirements of National Defense new equipment placed in service during 1941 included 4954 freight carrying cars, 200 cabin cars, 3 locomotives, 41 large capacity tenders, 668 freight containers, 4 passenger coaches, 3 car floats and 1 tug boat. In addition 110 passenger train cars were remodeled. On order at the end of the year were 6,922 freight carrying cars, 250 cabin cars, 23 locomotives, 16 large capacity tenders, 14 passenger coaches, 10 car floats, 15 barges, 10 lighters, 1 tug boat and 1 track sweeper.

Capital expenditures were also made for additions to, and betterments of, roadway, structures and equipment, many of which were necessary in connection with National Defense.

In the 12 year period ended December 31, 1941, in addition to new and improved types of passenger coaches and dining cars, and remodeling and air-conditioning of passenger train equipment, more than 35,000 new freight cars and 336 locomotives of the most efficient type and advanced design were placed in service. There was also expended nearly $670,000,000 for additions and betterments to equipment, roadway, structures, and other facilities in the interest of improved service to the public.

This program of additions and betterments is indicative of the Company's efforts to be prepared to meet the defense needs of the country.

PASSENGER SERVICE

During the year, passenger services were further improved and three entirely new trains were added: (1) "The Jeffersonian", an all coach train operating between St. Louis and New York on a 20½ hour schedule; (2) "The Patriot", operating between Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, and Boston, with modern coaches, dining and lounge cars, and pullman sleepers, on an 8 hour, 40 minute schedule, the fastest service ever provided between Washington and Boston; and (3) "The Pennsylvanian", between Chicago and New York, affording the latest evening departure from Chicago with morning arrival at Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore and Washington.

In cooperation with its connections and other railroads in the Chicago-Florida passenger field, the Company participated in a comprehensive plan for full coordination of fast passenger service between Chicago and various parts of Florida, effective December 17, 1941, which resulted in substantial operating economies while at the same time affording the travelling public the fastest and most attractive sleeping car and coach service ever offered in that territory.

A number of other improvements in passenger train service were also effected, including further quickening of schedules of several through trains between the East and the West.

WAGES

During the year, demands were made upon the railroads of the country by the labor organizations for heavy increases in wages, and modification of working conditions, as a result of which the basic rates of pay of certain employes were increased 9½ cents per hour and 10 cents per hour for others, with certain additional concessions for paid vacations. On the basis of 1941 payrolls, the increased cost to the Company per annum is $38,000,000.

FREIGHT AND PASSENGER RATES

In addition to the wage increases which involved an increase of approximately $332,000,000 per annum in the operating cost of the railroads, the railroads anticipated, with the war on, increases in other expenses which would not be taken care of by the probable increase in volume. Thus, unless increased rates could be obtained, the railroad's efforts to continue to provide the adequate and efficient railroad transportation, made necessary by the war, might be seriously affected. The railroads of the country, including the Company, therefore, petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission on December 13, 1941, for authority to increase freight and passenger rates, other than the special rates provided for the military and naval forces of the United States travelling on furlough.

Hearings have been held in this proceeding. The Commission on January 21, 1942, authorized an increase in passenger fares; and on March 2, 1942, authorized a slight increase in freight rates.

TAXES

Taxes amounted to $66,159,548, an increase of $22,274,360, or 50.8%. Of this $18,648,885 was chiefly due to larger income and higher Federal Income tax rate. Higher payrolls resulted in an increase of $1,812,474 in Unemployment Insurance taxes, while Railroad Retirement taxes increased $1,813,001.

All taxes require about 10.8 cents out of each dollar of operating revenue, equivalent to 10.1% ($5.04 per share, an increase of $1.69 per share) upon the capital stock.

The railroads continue to be the only form of transportation used generally by the public that provides its own right of way and terminals, pays for their maintenance, and in addition pays taxes for the support of Government.

STOCKHOLDERS

The Capital Stock of the Company, at the close of the year, was owned by 205,012 stockholders, the average holding being 64 shares. Information concerning the Company and its activities will be furnished stockholders upon request and constructive suggestions respecting the Company or its service are always appreciated and receive careful consideration.

The Board takes pleasure in acknowledging the continued efficiency and loyalty of all the employes during this period of great national stress. We know that they will continue to do their full share in meeting the additional heavy responsibilities that have now been placed upon them.

NAME 3 ILLINI RIVALS IN NCAA COURT TOURNEY

Dartmouth, Kentucky and Penn State Chosen.

Announcement that Dartmouth, Penn State, Kentucky, and Illinois would compete in the eastern tournament and that Rice institute and Colorado would be two of the four teams in the western competition leading up to the National Collegiate Athletic association finals at Kansas City, Mo., was made yesterday by Harold G. Olsen of Ohio State, chairman of the NCAA basketball tournament committee.

Champions Face Each Other.

The Oklahoma Aggies and University of Kansas, champions of the Missouri Valley and Big Six conferences, respectively, will meet in Kansas City March 17 to determine the third of the west's four entrants. Stanford and Oregon State, Pacific coast conference sectional leaders, will clash in a three game series beginning tonight to determine the coast circuit's representative.

The eastern teams will meet in the Tulane university fieldhouse, at New Orleans, March 20 and 21 to pick the east's representative. Pairings will be made by the eastern tournament manager, Dr. Wilbur C. Smith.

Dartmouth Conceded Title.

Dartmouth has one game remaining—with Princeton—but is conceded the Eastern intercollegiate championship. Dartmouth has won 19 of 22 games. Penn State is regarded as the east's outstanding nonaffiliated team, having compiled a record of 17 won and 2 lost, while Kentucky is champion of the Southeastern conference and Illinois of the Big Ten.

The west's tournament will be held in the Kansas municipal auditorium, also on March 20 and 21. Finals will also be held in the Kansas City auditorium on March 28.

The tournament will be the NCAA's fourth. Oregon won the first, defeating Ohio State in Patten gymnasium, while Indiana won in 1940 and Wisconsin last year.

Royal League Rangers Score 32 to 26 Victory

The Royal League Rangers defeated the Franklin Park Aces, 32 to 26, in a basketball exhibition game at the Franklin Park gym. Sol Rizzo led both teams in scoring with 11 points. The score at the half time was 12 to 10 in the Rangers' favor.

Three Yankee Pitchers Blank Senators on Two Hits, 4 to 0

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 11 (AP).—Three of the New York Yankees' pitchers were almost perfect today and the result was a 4 to 0 triumph over the Washington Senators. Spurgeon Chandler, Marvin Breuer, and Atley Donald, dividing the nine innings evenly, held the Senators to a pair of hits. Score:

New York...........110 100 10x—4 7 1

Batteries: Wynn, Zuber, Cathey, and Evans, Early; Chandler, Breuer, Donald, and Rosar.

CARDINALS, 9; INDIANS, 4.

Clearwater, Fla., March 11 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Cleveland Indians, 9 to 4, today in the latter's first home exhibition game of the training season. Les Fleming, up from Nashville of the Southern association, got a homer and a single in two chances for the Indians.

Enos Slaughter and Martin Marion hit home runs for the National leaguers, who took advantage of 11 walks and three Cleveland errors. Commissioner K. M. Landis attended the game. Score:

St. Louis [N.]......011 113 020—9 9 0
Cleveland [A.]......012 001 000—4 11 3

Batteries—Munger, Shoun, Hutchinson, Brecheen and W. Cooper, O'Dea; Poat, Center, Aukins and Desautels, Denning.

TED WILLIAMS STRIKES OUT.

Sarasota, Fla., March 11 (AP).—A crowd of 800 applauded Ted Williams in friendly fashion today when the American league's 1941 batting champion struck out as a pinch batter while the Boston Red Sox were losing to the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 5. The Reds pounded Oscar Judd for two runs in the first inning and four more in the fifth, when they filled the bases on two errors and a pass. Four runners scored when Haas and Lakeman singled against Yank Terry. Williams, who was worried about the crowd's reactions to his draft deferment, expressed delight at his warm reception.

Cincinnati ....200 040 000—6 11 1
Boston ....101 100 101—5 10 1

Batteries: Starr, Vander Meer, and Lakeman, West; Judd, Terry, Butland, and Peacock, Conroy.

PHILS BLANK GIANTS, 2-0.

Miami Beach, Fla., March 11 [Special].—The Phils' pitching combination of John Podgajny, Tom Hughes, and Rube Melton blanked the New York Giants today, 2 to 0. The Phils made only three hits off four rookie New York pitchers. Score:

New York ....000 000 000—0 5 2
Philadelphia ....000 011 00*—2 3 1

Batteries: Sunkel, Feldman, Adams, Fischer, and Danning, Blaemire; Podgajny, Hughes, R. Melton, and Warren.

TELLS YORK: SIGN OR LEAVE.

Lakeland, Fla., March 11 (AP).—Jack Zeller, general manager of the Detroit Tigers, today issued a 24 hour ultimatum to Rudy York to end his holdout or leave the training camp here. York said he would go home.

Zeller said he had asked York to sign the original contract offered him. The Tigers drastically cut virtually all salaries this year and York's was one of the hardest hit.

York is the only holdout working out here now. Others unsigned are Buck Newsom, Johnny Gorsica, Luther Thomas, and Billy Sullivan.

ATHLETICS WIN, 8-6.

Anaheim, Cal., March 11 (AP).—The Athletics smashed over six runs in the first inning today, but it took a sixth inning scratch single by Larry [Crash] Davis, to drive in the run that gave the A's an 8 to 6 victory today over Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league. Score:

Sacramento ....002 202 000—6 15 5
Philadelphia ....600 001 01*—8 8 2

Batteries—Turbeville, Pintar, Brown and Mueller; Marshall, Beckman, Shirley and Castiglia.

JOHNNY ALLEN SUSPENDED.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 11 (AP).—A heated clubhouse session overshadowed the diamond drill of the Brooklyn Dodgers today resulting in the indefinite suspension of Pitcher Johnny Allen and reprimands for three other players.

"I have suspended Allen indefinitely for violation of training rules in Havana," said Manager Leo Durocher. "A series of incidents left me no alternative. I have reprimanded at least three other players for conduct unbecoming Dodgers and each one of them will have to make satisfactory explanations to me before I take further action against them."

Durocher also said Allen's punishment would be fixed after the manager and the pitcher had some discussions with Larry MacPhail, Dodger's president.

BRAVES' ROOKIES WIN.

Sanford, Fla., March 11 (AP).—With Rookies Willard Donovan and Johnny Sain hurling in effective fashion, the Boston Braves' yannigans defeated the regulars, 12 to 1, today in the club's first intrasquad practice game.

While they were limiting the regulars to a single run, the result of a wild throw and an error, their mates gave Johnny Hutchings and Jim Tobin a battering. Homers by Lou Gremp, Frank Lamanna, Clyde Kluttz, and Johnny Stats helped to pile up the rookies' total.

BROWNS TO USE ROOKIES.

Deland, Fla., March 11 (AP).—Manager Luke Sewell of the St. Louis Browns announced today he would use three rookie hurlers, Clarence Iott, Loy Hanning, and Ewald Pyle, in the opening exhibition game of the season with Kansas City Saturday. The remainder of the lineup will be composed largely of veterans.

Bad weather has handicapped Brown training this spring, but Sewell says his team will be in good shape by opening day.

Johnson Creek [population 511] gained its 25th consecutive victory, but barely escaped the same fate dealt to Altoona and Chetak, also previously unbeaten. Johnson Creek won by a single point, 22 to 21, from Spring Valley, another small town of 973 population.

Galesville Loses, Too.

Neenah stopped Altoona's 19 game winning streak, 42 to 22, and Prairie du Chien eliminated Chetek, 34 to 18, handing the latter its first loss in 18 games.

The three unbeaten entrants appeared on the court in successive games after Shorewood High of Milwaukee won the tournament opener this morning, beating Galesville, 28 to 22. Galesville, too, had a sensational record swept aside, previously having won 22 out of 23 games.

1941 Champions Beaten.

Two Rivers, the defending champion, was eliminated by Madison Central, 26 to 19.

Altho missing nine of its free throws, while the losers failed only once, Marinette defeated Wisconsin Dells tonight, 22 to 21.

WYATT SPURNS $13,500 SALARY OFFER, HE SAYS

Buchanan, Ga., March 11 (AP).—Whitlow Wyatt, the holdout Brooklyn pitcher, and Larry MacPhail, Dodgers' president, seem to be getting nowhere in their efforts to reach agreement on a 1942 contract.

Wyatt, who won 22 victories for the National league champions last season, revealed today he had been offered $13,500 by MacPhail and said this was a very small increase over his 1941 salary. He indicated his salary demand was not as high as the $20,000 some reports placed it.

BIMELECH SIRES COLT.

Lexington, Ky., March 11 [A.P.].—Bimelech, winner of racing fame for E. R. Bradley in 1939 and 1940, is a sire. Baby's Breath foaled a bay colt by Bimelech yesterday at Idle Hour farm.

Morton and Streator Advance; Dundee Nips Waterman, 42-40

Morton High school of Cicero, 1941 state basketball champion, defeated Waukegan last night, 39 to 30, as first round play ended in the Maywood sectional tournament in the Proviso High gymnasium. Waterman previously had won 25 out of 27 games.

York of Elmhurst and Wheaton, victors in the other first round contests on Tuesday, clash in tonight's first semi-final in Maywood. The championship game in this and the other 14 sectional meets in Illinois will be played tomorrow night.

Cut Field to 60 Teams.

Completion of first round sectional play whittled the field in the Illinois title race to 60 teams outside Chicago. The 15 sectional champions and the Chicago Public School league champion will advance to the state tourney in Champaign, starting next Thursday.

Streator, Big 12 conference champion, gained its 28th victory in 29 games by defeating Kankakee, 56 to 26, in the Joliet sectional last night. Joliet won from Wilmington, 45 to 13.

Centralia and Johnston City, two of the foremost southern Illinois teams, set up a battle between themselves tonight by two smashing victories in Centralia. Johnston City whipped Ramsey, 78 to 30, while Dwight Eddleman and his Centralia mates defeated Woodlawn, 64 to 20.

Allendale Beats Flora.

One of the principal surprises was Allendale's 34 to 27 victory over Flora in Bridgeport. West Frankfort achieved its 31st victory in 35 games by beating Vienna, 50 to 25, and Carbondale won from Cairo, 50 to 21, in Carbondale.

Mattoon eliminated Charleston, 44 to 38, in a feature game in Casey. Hoopeston stopped Danville, 38 to 29, in Champaign, for its 24th victory in 27 games; while Urbana got past a capable Melvin quintet, 54 to 30.

Wood River made it 18 straight and 25 out of 27 for the season, whipping Livingston, 76 to 33, in the Collinsville sectional.

Maquon, one of the surprise 1942 contenders, chalked up its 17th straight triumph by eliminating Athens, 34 to 30, in Peoria. Taylorville won, 37 to 33, cooling off New Berlin which had won 27 out of 29. Bowen, which had won 27 out of 28, was eliminated by Canton, 66 to 20.

SMILIN' JACK—BEYOND A SHADOW OF A DOUBT

HAWKS DUE HOME TO PREPARE FOR RANGERS SUNDAY

Meet New York Sextet in Stadium Finale.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Blackhawks' hockey team will arrive this morning from Boston town to prepare for its final regularly scheduled home game of the National Hockey league season, same to be played Sunday evening in the Chicago Stadium against the New York Rangers.

It has been the custom of late to preface all references to the Hawks with such dire adjectives as "injured," "crippled," "battered," or "ailing," so we'll just skip that because every one now knows that the Chicagoans have just about taken out a hospital charter in the last few weeks.

Worst Loss in Years.

So much for the physical complexion of the team. Its mental attitude will have to await diagnosis until this morning's actual arrival. It should not be of the best, considering the 9 to 1 thumping handed the Hawks Tuesday evening by the Boston Bruins.

That defeat was the worst they have absorbed in five seasons and came at a time when they would have relished victory by any margin, from a psychological standpoint. Granting that the Hawks were playing without Dahlstrom and Seibert and that two of the Bruin goals were made while Bob Carse was in the penalty box, the loss was not a happy one.

Manager Paul Thompson and his men will be greeted by two extremes in tidings this morning. The happy brand consists of the return of Seibert, who was out of last Sunday's and Tuesday's games with a threatened attack of pneumonia.

Dahlstrom Out for Season.

The sad news, suspected for a couple of weeks, is that Dahlstrom will be out of action for the rest of the season. President Bill Tobin said yesterday that specialists' examinations indicate that Cully must undergo an operation for removal of a right knee cartilage if he is ever to play again.

Still, with Seibert's return, the Hawks will be able to assemble 15 men—Goalie Sam Lo Presti, 4 defense men, and 10 forwards—rather an achievement in itself.

The Hawks are now definitely established in fourth place, with Boston as their foe in the Stanley cup playoffs. Following Sunday's game, the Hawks will conclude their regular 48 game schedule against the Red Wings in Detroit on March 19.

The cup series will open in the Stadium on March 22. The second game will be played in Boston on March 24, and if a third game is necessary it will be decided on Boston ice also, since the Bruins gained the home rink advantage because of their third place finish.

Tonight's only National league game will send Boston against the Rangers in Madison Square Garden.

BADGERS NAME JOHNNY KOTZ AS MOST VALUABLE

Wisconsin last night named its great junior forward, Johnny Kotz, as the Badgers' candidate for the W-G-N trophy, the actual sized gold basketball which annually goes to the most valuable player in the Western conference. At the same time Chicago voted Jack Fons, senior center, as the Maroons' most valuable.

This brought to six the number of schools which have announced their candidates. Illinois has chosen Andy Phillip, sophomore guard; Iowa, Tommy Chapman, junior forward; Purdue has named Frosty Sprowl, senior forward, and Indiana selected its captain and senior guard, Andy Zimmer. The Minnesota and Northwestern most valuable will be announced tonight over W-G-N on the 6:15 sports review.

Kotz was a foregone choice of the Badgers, the Rhinelander, Wis., youth having set a Big Ten individual scoring mark of 242 points in leading the Wisconsin team into second place.

HARRISON QUITS AS PREP COACH AT KANKAKEE

Charley Harrison, who has been associated with Kankakee High school athletics for 15 years, yesterday resigned effective at the conclusion of the school year. Two of his former Kankakee football stars, Harry Stella and Allen Bergner, were elected captains of the Army and Navy elevens in 1939 and he was a guest at the Army-Navy game that year when his two former pupils clashed.

McNeal Stops Parham in 3d; Joyce Beaten

Cleo McNeal, Akron, O., welterweight, stopped Charley [Peewee] Parham of Detroit in the third round of a scheduled eight round bout in Midway arena last night. After slugging it out in the first and second round, McNeal scored with a punch to the solar plexus and a series of blows to the back of the neck which floored Charley for a nine count in the third. When Parham returned to his feet he staggered to the ropes and sat on the middle strand. After due deliberation he waved to Referee Bernard Weissman, signifying he had enough and left the ring.

Gene Spencer, South Chicago lightweight, was awarded a split decision over Jimmy Joyce of Gary in a five round supporting match. Bill Petersen, Indiana Harbor heavyweight, knocked out William [Moose] Kennedy, also of Gary, in the fourth round; Hezzie Williams, 1941 Chicagoland Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion, floored Herman Hayes for the count in the third, and Vito Rizzo, local 134 pounder, beat Jimmy Santora in four rounds.

Stanley Strnad, middleweight, and Johnny Levatino, welterweight, members of the West Suburban Boxing club, scored victories in an amateur show last night in Cicero stadium, the former beating Sylvester Blake, Savoy A. C., and Levatino defeating Jim Williams, also of the Savoy. Other matches:

Sixteen boxers from the Catholic Youth organization will meet in eight amateur bouts tonight in Rainbo Fronton, 4836 North Clark street, under the direction of the Rev. Francis Dolan of Queen of All Saints' church. Proceeds will go to the church building fund. Ray Murray, 1941 CYO flyweight champion, will meet Jack McBurnie at 118 pounds. Henry Vera, 1939 novice Golden Gloves bantamweight title holder, and Pat Ciangi, 1940 CYO novice 118 pound winner, will clash in a secondary feature at the junior lightweight limit. Other matches:

Sam Washington vs. Bob Stanton, 135.
Bertrand White vs. Bob Simmons, 118.
Charles Immormino vs. John Considine, 126.
Don Besander vs. James Ladd, 135.
Jonias Flores vs. Nick Nicoletti, 130.
Dan Hickey vs. John Hickey, 135.

The Hickeys are not related. In fact these two boys are strangers in the ring, never having met before.

Ernie Pelaia, Beaver Falls, Pa., welterweight, yesterday opened training in Trafton's gymnasium for a 10 round headliner against Carman Notch of Pittsburgh in Marigold Gardens Monday.

Eddie Lander, west side lightweight, last night signed to oppose Terry Young in a 10 round contest in the New York Coliseum March 24. It will be their third meeting. The first ended in a draw and Lander received the decision in the other. Young was substituted for Carlos Malacara, the Mexican fighter who recently beat Billy Marquart in Madison Square Garden.

Sailor Bill, Now

BILL DE CORREVONT.

Bill De Correvont, former football star at Northwestern university, was accepted for enlistment by the navy yesterday as an ordinary seaman. De Correvont, who dropped out of Northwestern two weeks ago, said he felt it was time every one did whatever was in his power to help the United States win the war. He is 23 years old.

Lieut. David Goldenson, chief recruiting officer, said:

"I admire the boy's spirit in going into the navy as an ordinary seaman, even tho he has the requirements for training as an officer. When De Correvont came into my office to ask about enlisting, I attempted to persuade him to enter the four months course for training as an ensign or as a naval flying cadet, but he was determined that he wanted training as an ordinary seaman. His is the spirit that will win the war for America."

De Correvont, whose home is at 10 North Lavergne avenue, probably will be sent to Great Lakes training station within the next few days. Lieut. Goldenson said. He attended Austin High school, where he was an outstanding prep school football star.

8 HORSES PILE UP, 3 JOCKEYS ARE INJURED

Phoenix, Ariz., March 11 (AP).—A fourth race pileup, in which eight of the 12 starters fell and failed to finish, was described by veteran horsemen at the state fairgrounds meet today as the worst within their memory.

Driverin, owned by Marion Welborn, Phoenix, and ridden by Allen Gray, fell as the field turned into the stretch. Other horses fell over him, and the pileup grew until only four finished with their riders. Three were injured seriously enough to require hospital treatment. Gray suffered a fractured foot and slight concussion. Fred Studevant, riding Lee D, was treated for an injured back and head bruises. Eldon Shea, up on Glass Eyes, was under observation for a possible fractured pelvis.

HOME GAMES IN EVANSTON.

The Great Lakes football players will use Dyche stadium in Evanston for their home games, a Northwestern official said last night. The Wildcats and Sailors will meet next fall, the spokesman said, but the date has not been selected. Available dates were said to be Thanksgiving day which falls on Nov. 26 and Nov. 28, or Sept. 26.

BADGERS WORKING ON DATE.

Madison, Wis., March 11 [Special].—It was reported in University of Wisconsin athletic circles tonight that the Badgers were trying to revamp their 1942 schedule to arrange a midseason date with the Great Lakes Naval Training football team. Wisconsin has an open date on Sept. 26, but the sailors already have filled that spot on their gridiron program. It was said that efforts were being made to shift the date of the Notre Dame game, Oct. 17, to accommodate the Great Lakes eleven.

IOWA FOE ON NOV. 21.

Iowa City, Ia., March 11 [Special].—E. G. Schroeder, athletic director at the University of Iowa, tonight said the Hawkeyes would play the Great Lakes Naval Training Station eleven either in Iowa City or at Dyche stadium, Evanston, on Nov. 21. Anderson's eleven will meet another service team, Camp Grant, in Iowa City on Oct. 3.

PLAY MISSOURI OCT. 31.

Columbia, Mo., March 11 [Special].—Athletic officials of the University of Missouri tonight said negotiations had been completed with the Great Lakes Naval Training station for a football game to be played on Oct. 31 either in Columbia or St. Louis. Official announcement of the contest awaits only the approval of the athletic board. Missouri, 1941 Big Six conference champion, expects to have another strong eleven. Coach Don Faurot's squad, which already has had one week of spring practice, loses only a few members of last year's team.

GREAT LAKES AT PURDUE.

VARIPAPA URGES A HOOK BALL FOR BETTER BOWLING

Tribune Instructor Heard in Loop School.

"A hook ball produces better scores than a straight ball, and to throw a hook you've got to deliver the ball properly."

That was Andy Varipapa's answer to a young bowler who attended yesterday's class of The Chicago Tribune Free Bowling school, conducted at the Congress recreation center. Instructor Varipapa, who had heard the bowler's complaint that he was unable to get his average above 175 by throwing a straight ball, then demonstrated the complete delivery that produces a hook.

Loop Workers Instructed.

The demonstration took place during a noon class which saw many loop office and store workers giving up lunch hours to get 10 pin schooling. The third floor alleys, 20 in number, were busy from the minute Andy finished his lecture, and remained filled until after he had finished his afternoon class.

Later on they filled up again as Andy and his 6 year old assistant, Twinkle Watts, returned—Andy to tell once more of correct bowling technique and Twinkle to demonstrate it. They returned for a late show last night, and at that time Manager Charlie Messenger found it necessary to turn away would-be lookers-on.

Today the school will be at Dominick De Vito's Park Manor center at 100 East 75th street, opening at 1 o'clock and continuing thruout the afternoon, then going on again at 11 o'clock tonight.

At Park Manor Today.

The schedule brings the school back into the loop tomorrow—for an afternoon appearance at Bensinger's Adams-Wabash center and for Andy's trick shots and Twinkle's match at Bensinger's 29 West Randolph street house—late at night.

COUNCIL EXTENDS BOWLING CENTER HOURS TO 5 A. M.

The city council yesterday extended the hour bowling centers may remain open from the present 1 a. m. to 5 a. m.

For years the ordinance has specified the alleys close at 1 a. m. Two months ago a furor was created among bowlers when Police Commissioner James P. Allman suddenly ordered that the 1 a. m. law be enforced. The aldermen subsequently took the matter under consideration and unofficially enforcement of the 1 a. m. law was relaxed.

At yesterday's council meeting Ald. Bernard J. O'Hallaren [18th] said he feared the 5 a. m. law would tempt alley owners who also operated bars to keep open after hours. Mayor Kelly replied that the police would strictly enforce all liquor license regulations.

WAR JOB SHIFT OF LABOR WILL MOVE MILLIONS

Corson Calls Task Biggest in History.

The task of mobilizing 10½ additional million men and women this year for work in war factories was described yesterday by John J. Corson, director of the United States employment service, as "the biggest job of its kind ever imposed on a democracy."

Corson opened a three-day meeting of employment service directors for six central states and more than 100 field workers in the Congress hotel. The conference was called to explore the local problems involved in supplying man power for factories and farms.

May Require Allocation.

Corson forecast an increase in the labor force working on war materials from 7 million at the end of 1941 to 17½ million during 1942. He said that assembling the necessary 10½ million more workers may require some allocations of manpower between industry and military service.

Stressing the acute need of additional farm labor in the middle west to plant, cultivate, and harvest the soy bean, corn, wheat, and sugar beet crops, Corson said recruits for farm labor will have to be found mainly among young people, women, and older men.

"New workers added to the labor force—youngsters growing up—will number about 2,800,000; use of persons now unemployed, including older workers, the handicapped, members of racial and other minority groups, should give us approximately 1,900,000, and an estimated 7,400,000 will be transferred from nondefense to war production," Corson said.

Calls Training Essential.

"These total more than 12 million men and women who will be available for the war effort. Even subtracting the large number required for the armed forces, the remainder should be sufficient for 1942."

Observing that not all the prospective recruits to the war labor force are qualified for the jobs, Corson declared that an extensive training program is essential. He said the government already has trained 2 million workers.

Corson said the war food program will require an estimated farm labor force of 8 million workers. The employment service, he said, will attempt to maintain this needed supply of man power on farms.

Describing the transition of his agency from one concerned with finding jobs for men to a clearing house seeking men for jobs, Corson predicted three factors would tend to collide "around July 1, to give new proportions to the task."

Labor Force to Be 58 Million.

On or about that date, he said, initial conversion of plants from nonessential work to war production would near completion, bringing a sharp upturn in the industrial labor demand; farm labor needs would show a sharp increase, and the accumulated demands of selective service would begin to affect the labor market.

"Then we will have to scratch for manpower," he said.

He estimated that the total labor force at the end of 1942 will be 58.2 million persons, including 4.2 millions in the armed forces, 52 million employed, and 2 million unemployed. Of the employed, 8 million would be in farm work, 26.5 million in civilian employment and 17.5 million in war work.

This would compare with a total force of 55.4 million at the end of 1941, of which 2 million were in the armed forces, 49.5 million employed and 3.9 million unemployed. The farm force was 8.6 million, civilian 33.9 million and war work 7 million.

WPA JOB REPORT

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—WPA figures showed today that the number of employed persons in the United States increased by 400,000 during February to a total of 48,600,000. It said unemployment fell 200,000 to about 4 million.

The employment rise contrasted with a decrease of 1,300,000 from December to January, which was attributed largely to the effects of priorities on industry, shifts from normal to war production, and seasonal influences.

GENERAL FOODS SALES SET PEAK FOR SIXTH YEAR

New York, March 11 (AP).—The General Foods corporation today reported that for the sixth year its products in 1941 set a new record—in dollar value and tonnage—of $180,358,903, an 18 per cent gain over the 1940 total of $152,188,335.

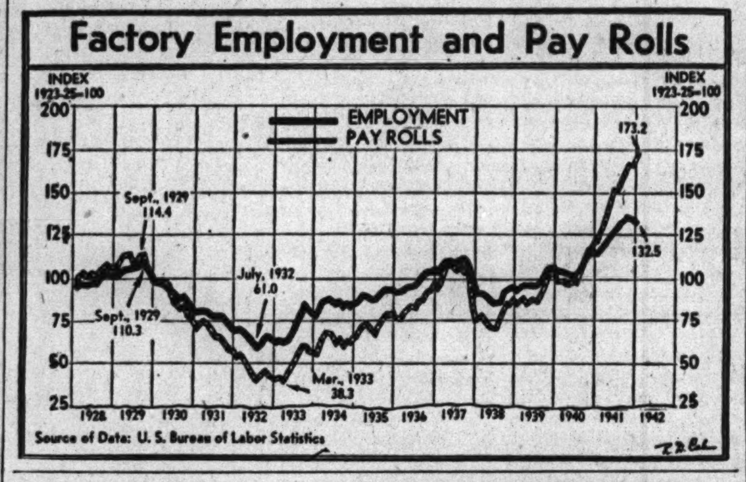
The corporation said that in spite of the war its total export sales—excluding the British Isles—increased 50 per cent in volume during 1941.

Gains were shown in sales to Latin America, South Africa and to United States armed forces.

Nevertheless, net profits as reported before, fell to $14,153,400 from $15,244,077 in 1940.

135,000 Clothing Workers in CIO Will Get Pay Boost

New York, March 11 [Special].—A wage increase of 10 cents an hour for 135,000 men's clothing workers in all parts of the United States has been agreed upon tentatively by negotiating committees representing the Amalgamated Clothing Workers [CIO] and the United States Clothing Manufacturers' association, it was learned today.



Two Agencies Push Plans for Sugar Rations

Washington, D. C., March 11 [Special].—About 12,000 bakeries, candy makers, bottlers, and other industrial consumers of sugar will be registered at the same time householders apply for their ration cards, the War Production board and the Office of Price administration agreed tentatively today.

When housewives go to schoolhouses for their monthly sugar ration certificates from the OPA, a separate government agency, not yet designated, will take industrial applications to be passed upon by the WPB. The registration day has not been fixed but is expected to be in the last week of March or the first week of April.

Industrial sugar allotments will be based on a percentage quota of consumption in a specified period. The quota has not been announced.

Many Face Closing.

The OPA has reported that many small consumers have been faced with the possibility of having to close because distributors have been unwilling to sell them enough sugar for minimum operations.

Other actions taken by the WPB and OPA today were:

RETREADING EQUIPMENT—The WPB prohibited the manufacture or delivery of tire retreading and recapping equipment, except to fill orders covered by priority certificates. Priority ratings will be granted on the basis of retreading facilities already available in the applicant's community, the anticipated needs in the area, the amount of camelback [retread material] to be made available, and the volume of retreading orders received before Jan. 18.

CANNED BEER AND COFFEE—Stocks frozen by the WPB on Feb. 25 for disposition to the army, navy, lend-lease, or other war agencies were released for civilian use. Canned ham stocks were not released.

Control Over Paint.

ALUMINUM PAINT—Manufacture, use, or sale of aluminum pigment or paint, except in retail distribution, was placed under complete allocation by the WPB.

TEA—The price ceiling on tea was revised by the OPA to allow wholesalers to charge 10 per cent above the prescribed maximum for lots of 10 chests [100 pounds] or less. The amendment is expected to help 360 tea packers who normally buy in small lots.

RUBBER FOOTWEAR—A ceiling on manufacturers' prices of rubber footwear was arranged thru the first series of individual agreements negotiated between the OPA and manufacturers. The highest ceiling is set at Dec. 3, 1941, levels.

22,001 STUDENTS TRAIN FOR WAR PRODUCTION JOBS

There are 22,001 students in Illinois undergoing intensive training to equip themselves for places in war goods production, the Illinois Manufacturers' association reported yesterday following a survey. Many are studying in public schools, principally in Chicago, and some are army and navy students at Navy pier and in Waukegan.

Of the total 6,452 are preëmployment or "refresher" students—employés or former employés who need additional training to be fitted for a particular job.

There are 9,106 students enrolled in supplementary training—all employed and receiving instruction for advanced jobs. At Navy pier 2,280 naval students are enrolled, and another 3,870 are at the Great Lakes Training station or Waukegan High school.

BIG AM. TOBACCO REFUNDING LOAN EXPECTED SOON

New York, March 11 [Special].—Negotiations for the public offering of a 100 million dollar issue of American Tobacco company debentures, the largest piece of industrial financing since the federal securities act went into effect, are being carried on by the company and Morgan Stanley & Co. A registration statement is expected to be filed with the Securities and Exchange commission in time for an offering next month.

Details of the issue are not set but discussions now are based on a 20 year maturity and a sinking fund which would redeem about three-quarters of the issue before maturity.

American Tobacco is not raising new money, but will put into more permanent form short term debts contracted during the last seven years.

Offer 500 Share Block of J. P. Morgan Stock

New York, March 11 (AP).—Blyth & Co. today offered a block of 500 shares of J. P. Morgan & Co. stock at $198 a share, less $6 dealer discount. It was understood to be part of the 16,500 shares of Morgan stock sold publicly a few weeks ago at $206 a share.

MONEY CIRCULATION REACHES A NEW PEAK AT $85.67 PER CAPITA

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—Money in circulation reached a new record of $11,484,091,310, or an average of $85.67 per person, last month.

The treasury said today that coin and currency circulating outside the treasury and federal reserve banks increased about 310 million dollars, or $2.24 per person, to a level about 2 billion 700 million dollars above February, 1941.

Money circulation has been increasing steadily for several years. Officials believe most of the increase has resulted from better business. Altho some of the extra money may have been hoarded.

Many Stocks at New Lows; Volume Rises

New York, March 11 (AP).—The stock market today continued its painful adjustment to the war economy and in the process a large number of favorites pushed down to the lowest prices recorded in the last two or three years.

Deepest losses, running from 1 to around 4 points, hit the chemical, tobacco, and electric equipment groups.

Virtually all other sections were carried down as selling activities broadened in the final hour and closing prices were at the bottom in most cases.

Tax Worries Blamed.

Tax fears, apparently reaching a more acute stage in speculative and investment considerations, were given the principal blame for the market's fall. War developments provided nothing to offset the pessimistic feeling as to the future profits curve and finally, as one financial analyst suggested, it appeared that values were being weighed down by the bearish psychology created out of the long decline itself.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite showed one of the steepest dips of the year to date. At 34.3, off .7 of a point the measure was at the lowest level since March 31, 1938. Transactions were 413,690 shares against 334,000 Tuesday.

CHICAGO PRICES FALL.

Prices toppled on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Of 100 issues traded only 12 advanced, 65 declined and 23 closed unchanged. Transactions totaled 19,000 shares. Commonwealth Edison, the volume leader with 1,500 shares traded, again reached an all-time low, declining ⅜ to 19.

Among other active stocks, Libby, McNeill & Libby declined ⅜, Middle West was unchanged and Central and South West declined 1/16. In the half hour after the close in New York, General Motors advanced ⅛ and Republic Steel ¼, while Houdaille-Hershey, Noblitt-Sparks and Zenith Radio each lost ⅛.

Dollar volume of trading on the Chicago Stock exchange last month was $6,680,320, a decline of 26.8 per cent from January and of 35.7 per cent from February, 1941.

BANKS REMINDED OF LONGER LOANS ON U. S. SECURITY

Washington, D. C., March 11 [Special].—In a ruling for purposes of clarification, the federal reserve board announced today that banks may obtain 90 day loans from federal reserve banks on the security of government obligations owned by the borrowing banks. Until a few years ago the loans were limited to 15 days, and some banks had not been aware of the change.

[Officials of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago said the bank had been making such loans on a 90 day basis since 1939.]

Borrowing by banks from the federal reserve banks on such security has been relatively insignificant in amount. The latest federal reserve report showed that the total for the entire nation was $5,165,000, counting loans secured by indirect as well as direct government obligations.

LIONEL W. UDELL
Treasurer

Name Crowley Custodian for Alien Property

Washington, D. C., March 11 (AP).—President Roosevelt today named Leo T. Crowley alien property custodian and gave him potential control over an estimated billion dollars of frozen alien assets in the United States.

The President's order, ending a behind the scenes controversy between Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. and Attorney General Francis Biddle for control over such property, provides for a gradual transfer of alien property control from the treasury to the new custodian. Crowley's office will be a branch of the Office of Emergency Management.

Given Broad Powers.

The new custodian was given power to take over at any time any specific items of alien property, but said afterwards he expected the treasury to retain control over a large portion of the alien assets, particularly those which belong to foreign governments. His main concern, he explained, will be with the administration and conservation of foreign owned businesses in this country.

Crowley said it was too early to say what he intended to do with these businesses, but indicated he would continue the process begun by the treasury of substituting American management for the old officers of such concerns.

May Locate in Chicago.

Official headquarters of the new agency will be in Washington, but Crowley said he is considering locating the main body of his administrative employés in Chicago.

Crowley will continue as chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, and likewise in private life as chairman and president of the Standard Gas and Electric company, a billion dollar utility holding company with headquarters in Chicago.

As at present, Crowley will take no salary from the government.

LIFE INSURANCE GROUP CITED FOR U. S. BOND SALES

Norman B. Collins, state administrator for the sale of defense bonds, yesterday presented the Chicago Association of Life Underwriters with a treasury department citation for its work in aiding bond sales. The ceremony took place before 350 members in the Hotel La Salle.

The citation will give to the insurance group the first "100 per cent flag" in the Chicago area. Designed by the treasury department it is awarded for exceptional service. The 350 association members helped to install pay roll bond savings plans in Chicago industrial and commercial establishments.

George Huth and E. R. Seese were co-chairmen of 28 teams which took part of the drive. Walter N. Hiller is president of the association. Collins said that as a result of the association's efforts Chicago workers pledged nearly 75 million dollars of their earnings this year for the purchase of defense bonds.

Paul Eliel, professor of labor relations at Stanford university, was appointed vice chairman. The board will have two other members representing unions and two representing employers.

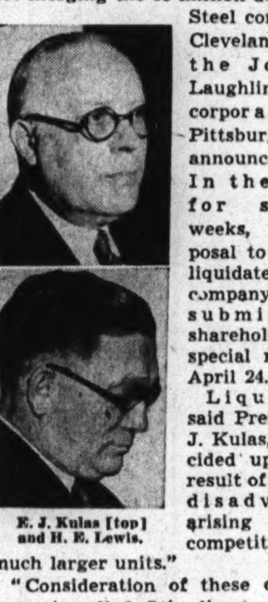
OTIS AND JONES, LAUGHLIN STEEL FIRMS TO UNITE

Kulas Gives Details of Absorption.

Cleveland, O., March 11 (AP).—A plan for merging the 38 million dollar Otis Steel company of Cleveland with the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation of Pittsburgh was announced today. In the making for several weeks, the proposal to sell and liquidate the Otis company will be submitted to shareholders at a special meeting April 24.



E. J. Kulas [top] and H. E. Lewis.

Liquidation, said President E. J. Kulas, was decided upon as a result of "certain disadvantages arising in keen competition with much larger units."

"Consideration of these disadvantages impelled Otis directors to the belief that the best interests of the shareholders would be served by uniting the properties of Otis with those of a company having greater financial resources, more modern plants and a more diversified line of products sold in a wider market," Kulas said in a letter to stockholders.

New Position Forecast.

H. E. Lewis, chairman and president of Jones & Laughlin, said Kulas probably would be elected a director and vice chairman of Jones & Laughlin's executive committee if the merger is effected.

The transaction, biggest in the industry since the Republic Steel corporation took over Corrigan, McKinney & Co., in 1935, would add about a million net tons to Jones & Laughlin's ingot capacity of 3,931,200 net tons annually. The Pittsburgh company would remain the industry's fourth largest producer after the acquisition.

Jones & Laughlin, capitalized at $258,944,000, makes a wide diversity of products, but is light in strip—the item in which Otis specializes. Hence, said Kulas, their businesses would supplement rather than duplicate each other. The merger would give the Pittsburgh producer a Great Lakes outlet near big steel using centers.

Merger Basis Given.

Under the liquidation plan, holders of Otis' convertible first preferred stock would receive for each share: one-quarter share each of Jones & Laughlin 5 per cent cumulative preferred, series A and B, $100 par value; one share of Jones & Laughlin common, no par, and accrued dividends on Otis preferred. Holders of Otis common would receive one-quarter share of Jones & Laughlin common and $1 in cash for each share held.

Last year Otis earned $2,170,000, or $1.54 a common share. Jones & Laughlin earned about $16,275,000, equal to $10.85 per common share.

Organized in 1873 by Charles A. Otis with $300,000 capital, Otis Steel was the first in the United States to be established for the exclusive purpose of producing open hearth steel.

Studebaker Reports Profit Gain; Nears Full War Basis

The Studebaker corporation, South Bend automobile manufacturer, had a $2,486,397 net profit for 1941, compared with $2,124,628 for 1940, H. S. Vance, chairman of the board, and Paul G. Hoffman, president, reported yesterday to stockholders. Earnings per share for 1941 were $1.12, compared with 96 cents in 1940.

Increased profits were reported yesterday by a number of other large corporations. Story on page 26.

Almost the entire manufacturing activity of the corporation, which is one of the few automobile manufacturers in the immediate Chicago area, is no wdevoted or being changed over to the making of war goods, the report said. Automobile production was discontinued Jan. 31. Its two principal products are listed as engines for military planes and trucks for the army.

Built Civil War Wagons.

Making of war materials is an old story for Studebaker, which was founded in South Bend in 1852—90 years ago—by Henry and Clem Studebaker as a wagon building and blacksmith establishment. The first Studebaker military order was for 100 transport wagons for the use of troops in 1857. Later it produced military equipment for use in the Civil, Indian, Spanish, and World wars.

In meeting the needs of World War II., it is estimated that Studebaker, when it is at full production on present commitments, will have an aggregate employment in all its plants and a dollar volume of at least two and a half times the totals for 1941. Included in the corporation's operations are three plans used for the manufacture of aircraft engines—one in Chicago. These have been completed, the major portion of the equipment has been installed, operations have been commenced and will increase so that within a few months employment in the aviation division alone will exceed total employment in peacetime automobile production.

Keeps Up Employment.

"Despite the interruption in normal activities, Studebaker has been successful in maintaining employment and dollar volume at a high level," the report said. "It is fortunate that war production activities were started early enough so that today a substantial portion of the manufacturing facilities is engaged in the production of a variety of war materials."

Reviewing last year's work, the report said the corporation produced 133,855 passenger cars, commercial cars, and military trucks compared with 119,509 in 1940, an increase of 12 per cent. Net sales totaled $115,700,333 in 1941 compared with $84,164,224 in 1940. Tax accruals totaled $8,755,531 for 1941 compared with $4,570,142 for 1940.

FUND OF 19 MILLIONS FOR 2 POWER DAMS REJECTED BY HOUSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Warned that the Roosevelt administration plans to use the war emergency as an excuse for extending the TVA thruout the south and southwest, the house today rejected proposals for an expenditure of nearly 19 million dollars to begin construction of two new power dam projects in the Missouri-Arkansas region.

The leaders of a public power bloc sought in vain to have the projects approved as part of a 334 million dollar war department bill. Finally passed by a voice vote and sent to the senate, the measure includes approximately 107 millions for maintenance and improvements at the Panama canal.

An amendment to include a $2,106,000 item for start of work on the Table Rock hydro-electric project on the White river in southern Missouri was rejected, 126 to 80, on a teller vote.

The house then killed a proposed $16,700,000 expenditure for a dam on the White river at Bull Shoals, Ark., 104 to 65, on a standing vote.

While supporters of the legislation claimed the house action was a blow to the war effort, leaders of the opposition said the projects were not essential and could not be completed for several years.

American Airlines Hauls 93 Per Cent More Express

American Airlines, Inc., handled 678,643 pounds of express shipments during January, 93 per cent more than a year earlier, L. W. King, regional traffic manager, reported yesterday.

SALES, PROFITS OF CHICAGO MILL AND LUMBER RISE

Sales volume of the Chicago Mill and Lumber company in 1941 was the largest in its history and net profit showed a substantial increase despite heavy taxes, it was reported yesterday at the annual stockholders' meeting. Profit was $980,036, equal to $4.17 a capital share, compared with $713,943, or $3.04 a share, in 1940. Sales increased 44 per cent over the preceding year.

J. F. Griswold of Chicago, who was associated with the company when it was reorganized in 1933, was elected in 1933, was elected a director and named to the newly created office of chairman of the board. VAST UNTAPPED WAR FACILITIES ARE UNCOVERED

Survey Shows Idle Auto Machinery.

Toledo, O., March 11 [Special].—Facilities valued at 500 million dollars are lying idle in 40,000 automobile shops, according to a national survey of dealer establishments submitted to the War Production board today by Joseph W. Frazer, president of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc.

Joseph W. Frazer.

The facilities include a vast, untapped supply of machinery, skilled mechanics and manufacturing space which could be used to build parts for tanks, guns, planes, boats, and other war equipment, Frazer said.

On the basis of the survey, engineers estimated that if all machines in auto shops were pooled a hypothetical arms factory of 250 million square feet could be equipped.

Jobs for 185,000 Possible.

Such a plant would be able to employ 185,000 mechanics to work on 18,000 lathes, 15,000 grinding machines, 1,400 shapers, 16,000 drilling machines, 52,000 welding units, 40,000 buffing machines, and 1,600 screw machines.

Frazer said returns had been received from 4,131 dealers, representing about 10 per cent of the total number thruout the country. Many of the machines are similar to thousands being used in England for arms production, he said.

New York dealers reported the largest supply of available facilities, with 2,929,504 square feet of floor space, 1,859 mechanics, 234 lathes, 430 grinders, 199 electric drills, and hundreds of other machines.

Pennsylvania Ranks Second.

Ranking next were Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, California, New Jersey, Minnesota, Iowa, and Texas, in that order.

Reports from 216 Illinois dealers showed 1,656,721 square feet of floor space for manufacturing purposes; 79 lathes, 4 milling machines, 6 shapers, 212 grinders, 79 drilling machines, 226 air compressors, 229 welding machines, 82 miscellaneous units, 47,053 feet of bench space, 791 vises, 193 buffing machines, 456 drills, 8 screw machines, 108 machines for small parts assembly, 843 mechanics employed, 2,029 mechanics available, 380 pulleys, 115 belts, and 229 paint spray equipment units.

EASTMAN KODAK NET PROFIT RISES ON RECORD SALES

Manufacturer's Federal Tax Bill Tripled.

The Eastman Kodak company, Rochester, N. Y., sold more merchandise last year than ever before and earned more than in any of its 40 years of operations except 1937 and 1929, the annual report to stockholders disclosed last night.

The big manufacturer of photographic supplies and other items had net income of $21,588,790 for the year ended Dec. 27, 1941, after setting aside a reserve of $2,500,000 for possible inventory losses from the war. The earnings were equal to $8.57 a share and compared with $20,076,739, or $7.96 a share, in 1940.

Net sales amounted to $172,991,349, a 41 per cent gain over the preceding fiscal year. Eastman's provision for federal and foreign income and excess profits taxes rose to $28,229,967, from $9,173,218 in 1940.

Losses May Cut Taxes.

The report said the 1941 provision may be reduced about 6 million dollars because of foreign investment losses, but the deduction was not made pending a ruling by the treasury department.

F. W. Lovejoy, chairman, and T. J. Hargrave, president, told shareholders that $13,978,528 in investments and accounts receivable in enemy and enemy occupied territory had been written off the company's books. This amount was charged to a special contingency reserve built up in prior years to take care of such losses, they explained.

"The manufacture of special military apparatus and equipment is proceeding at a constantly increasing rate and, in general, deliveries are being made in accordance with contract requirements," the officials said. "Additional facilities are under construction for manufacture of these products."

Inventories of the company totaled $50,870,883, compared with $39,027,651 at the end of 1940.

Packers' Earnings Rise.

Swift International, Buenos Aires, announced its net profit last year was $4,418,565, equal to $2.95 a share, on the basis of the Argentine peso's value in United States currency at the end of the year. The 1940 earnings were $3,495,204, or $2.33 a share.

The report was issued from the Chicago office of Harry McLerie, president. The corporation is a holding company with meat packing subsidiaries in Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil, Australia, and New Zealand.

"Our production of canned meat during the year was large, due to contract purchases by Great Britain, as well as heavy shipments to the United States and other markets," McLerie said.

Copper Profits Increase.

Phelps-Dodge corporation, New York, the second largest domestic producer of copper, announced its 1941 net income was $14,206,746, equal to $2.80 a share, compared with $12,603,980, or $2.49 a share, in 1940.

Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, Newport News, Va., one of the nation's largest shipbuilders, reported 1941 earnings of $5,291,373, equal to $6.11 a share, against $4,383,177, or $4.97 a share, in 1940. The estimated amount of unfilled shipbuilding contracts on Dec. 31 was placed at $471,531,445, compared with $449,604,462 a year before.

Last year's earnings of National Supply company, Pittsburgh, were $5,722,269, equal to $3.05 a share, against $1,630,297, or $5.49 a share, in 1940. Provision for federal taxes was $3,969,435, against $663,169. Net sales of the company's products, which include oil and gas field equipment, rose to $90,609,575, a record level, compared with $60,617,365 in 1940.

FARM EQUIPMENT MAKERS CONFER ON WAR PROGRAM

WPB Aids Told Tractor Quotas Are Too Low.

Informal conferences with individual farm equipment manufacturers on the conversion of their plants to war work and continued production of farm implements were held yesterday in the Palmer House by War Production board officials.

William R. Tracy, chief of the WPB farm equipment branch, and C. E. Frudden, consulting engineer for the branch, met with members of the Farm Equipment institute. Discussion centered on ways to speed the switch of plant facilities to war production and methods of meeting farm requirements for tools and equipment.

Ask Quota Boost on Some.

The farm equipment industry was reported to have asked for increased quotas on the production of certain equipment needed by farmers. Manufacture of many farm implements and machinery has been limited by the WPB to conserve critical materials and to release plant capacity for war work.

Tracy stressed the need for maintaining existing farm equipment in repair and discouraging farm purchases of unnecessary new equipment. Frank Zink, research director of the institute, said that farm demand for such equipment as tractors, combines, corn pickers, and cultivating machinery has been heavy.

Farm equipment production this year was cut to an overall average of 83 per cent of 1940 output, or about 60 per cent of 1941 production.

Formerly with Hudson.

Tracy formerly was a vice president of the Hudson Motor Car company, and Frudden was an engineer for the tractor division of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company.

Among the representatives of the farm equipment industry were Fowler McCormick, president, and J. L. McCaffrey, vice president of the International Harvester company; W. A. Roberts, manager of the Allis-Chalmers tractor division, and G. L. Gillette, vice president of Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement company.

SUGAR COMPANY VOTES TO DOUBLE DIVIDEND TO $1

Godchaux Says Net to Be Near 1937 Total.

Directors of Godchaux Sugars, Inc., New Orleans, La., yesterday authorized an increase in dividend on class A stock from 50 cents to $1 a share. At the same time the company announced that its annual report, to be issued early in April, is expected to show net profits comparable to the 1937 figure of $857,642, which stands as the highest since 1930.

The firm has not been affected as yet by the sugar shortage, the directors stated, but a 15 per cent decline from the average of recent years in sales of refined sugar is anticipated for 1942, due to the rationing program.

Am. Brake Shoe Votes 25c.

The American Brake Shoe and Foundry company, New York, authorized a dividend of 25 cents a share on common stock. Payments last year totaled $2.20, including 60 cents in extra dividends.

The North American Car corporation ordered a $2 dividend to apply on accumulations on preferred stock. The issue is $38 in arrears.

The Chicago Title and Trust company declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on capital stock.

Day by Day on the Farm

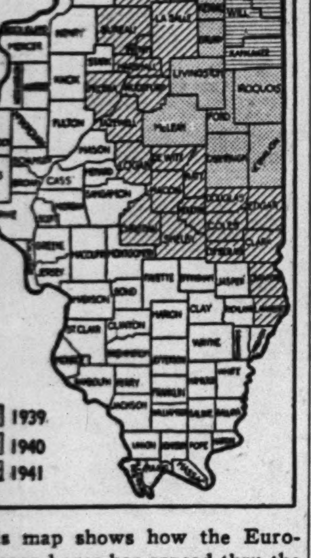
By GAIL COMPTON

Corn Borer Menace.

March 11, 1942.

DESPITE counter measures the European corn borer has been making steady headway thru the state. Nearly half the farming area in Illinois is infested.

This announcement came recently from W. P. Flint, chief entomologist of the Illinois Natural History survey. The borer first appeared in Illinois in 1939, Flint said, and since then has been moving thru the state at an alarming rate. Along the state line from Lake to Edgar county the borer is so common it can be found in almost any cornfield, Flint said.



This map shows how the European corn borer has spread thru the state since its first appearance in 1939. The white areas as yet are not infested.

Serious Trouble Seen.

As yet there has not been any serious commercial damage from the pest, Flint reports, and none is expected for two or three years. However, if farmers do not immediately adapt a program of farming designed to subdue the bug, there may be serious trouble ahead.

So far there has been no sign of any serious infestation at the Du Page county farm, and the men will follow a three point program to be certain that there isn't one in the future.

The first point consists of selecting hybrid seed corn that is resistant to the borer. Tests by the Illinois and Ohio experimental stations have disclosed a number of hybrids with resistant qualities. These are Illinois R4; Illinois Hy; Iowa L317; Ohio 40B; Ohio 56, and Wisconsin CC5.

Late Planting of Corn.

The second point is delayed planting. Corn planted late in the season will not be high enough to attract the moths until the main moth flight has passed. The moths seem to favor tall corn on which to lay their eggs. If the stalks still are small, they are likely to be passed up.

The third point is clean farming. Low cutting of stalks and shredding and ensiling stalks will get rid of many borers. All stalks in infested fields should be plowed under.

The life cycle of borers follows:

In May and June the borers that have wintered over become pupae. In June and July the moths hatch from the pupae and lay their eggs. In July and early August the first brood of borers continues to hatch and change to the pupae stage within the stalks, where they have been feeding. In August and September a second brood of moths emerges and lays eggs for a second generation of borers. In September and October the second generation borers become full grown caterpillars and bore into the stems of the plants, where they pass the winter.

PRICES OF CORN, WHEAT, AND OATS UP MODERATELY

Better Demand Reported in Cash Markets.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Wheat, corn, and oats recorded small gains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday as grain dealers reported a better demand in the cash markets. Scattered short covering and evening up purchases set off a small rally but trade for the most part remained light.

Large corn processors were back in the market for supplies after a lengthy absence. Some No. 2 yellow corn sold at 85 cents a bushel. Sales of corn to eastern buyers topped 35,000 bushels.

Shipping sales of oats were reported in excess of 30,000 bushels. One car of Illinois barley sold for $1 a bushel, within a cent of the peak set earlier in the week when the brewing grain sold at the highest price since 1937.

Rye and Beans Unsettled.

In futures trading wheat closed ¼ to ½ cent higher with May at $1.28¾ a bushel. Corn was unchanged to ⅛ cent higher and oats ¼ to ½ cent higher. Stop loss liquidation unsettled both the rye and soy bean markets. Rye closed ½ to ⅞ cent lower and beans were unchanged to ⅞ cent lower.

While lard closed at the ceilings and could not advance any further, provision dealers expressed some concern over the removal of Brazilian ships from the South American trade. They said the United States has been receiving regular shipments of babassu oil and linseed oil from Brazil. Loss of these supplies would throw an added burden on domestic fats and oils. Flaxseed soared 5¾ to 6 cents, the daily limit, in Minneapolis.

FORECAST PRICE RISE

Grain brokers last night said the house vote to prohibit sale of government owned stocks of farm commodities at less than parity prices likely would have considerable effect on grain prices on the Board of Trade today. They looked for an advance if a moderate amount of public buying comes into the market.

If the measure is eventually enacted into law, the grain men said wheat would have to rise to approximately $1.47 a bushel in the cash market and corn to $1.05 before sale of government owned grain could be resumed. They expect farmers to start redeeming wheat loans if the market rises 5 or 6 cents above present levels of around $1.27 a bushel. The loans mature April 30.

SEC LISTS STOCK SALES AND GIFTS DURING JANUARY

Former United Wall Paper Head Cuts Holdings.

Large sales of stock in two nationally known corporations were reported yesterday in the Securities and Exchange commission's January summary of security transactions and holdings. Most other dealings in the month by company officials and principal stockholders involved relatively small amounts of securities in contrast with December's year end activity.

Albert J. Browning, Evanston, who resigned late in January as president of the United Wall Paper Factories, Inc., Chicago, disposed of 42,850 shares of the company's common stock, retaining 8,650 shares. He was appointed last September as special assistant to Donald M. Nelson, War Production board chairman.

In a delayed report for June, 1941, Richard K. Mellon, Pittsburgh, Pa., a director, sold 44,800 shares of Pullman, Inc., capital stock. The R. B. Mellon estate, in which he had interest, disposed of 1,386 shares. After these transactions, he owned 50,940 shares and the estate 957.

Goldblatts Give Stock.

Substantial December gifts were reported by two officials of Goldblatt Brothers, Inc. Morris Goldblatt, president, gave away 6,600 common shares last Dec. 26, retaining 8,885 shares, and Nathan Goldblatt, secretary and treasurer, gave away 6,825 shares, keeping 11,700 shares. Both had interests in a trust which held 384,757 shares at the end of 1941.

Tom Mercer Girdler, board chairman of the Republic Steel corporation and of Consolidated Aircraft corporation, bought his first stock, 300 shares, of Consolidated Aircraft common during January and his first 1,000 shares of capital stock of Vultee Aircraft, Inc. He is a director of Vultee and of Aviation corporation, parent of both Vultee and Consolidated.

Among the larger January gifts was one of 2,350 shares of Acme Steel company common stock by Ralph H. Norton, Chicago, board chairman. Max Epstein, Chicago, board chairman of General American Transportation corporation, made gifts of 500 shares of the company's common stock.

G. M. Sales Continued.

General Motors corporation executives continued to liquidate their holdings of the company's stock. Charles E. Wilson, president, sold 2,037 common shares and retained 3,516 directly. Albert Bradley, vice president, sold 515; Marvin E. Coyle, a vice president, 411; Harley J. Earl, a vice president, 242; John J. Schumann Jr., a director, 500, and W. C. Williams Jr., a vice president, 630 shares.

Chrysler corporation stock was sold in January by company officials as follows: Carl Breer, director, 925 shares; Byron C. Foy, a vice president, his entire holding of 1,017; W. Ledyard Mitchell, a vice president, 500; O. R. Skelton, a director, 925, and Fred M. Zeder, vice chairman of the board and a director, 800 shares.

David A. Schulte, New York, principal stockholder of Huyler's, disposed of his entire holdings of 17,658 shares of the company. Gerald W. Chamberlin, Grosse Point, Mich., disposed of 2,600 common shares of the Fruehauf Trailer company, of which he is a director.

END COMPETITION FOR NEW TOOLS, IRON AGE URGES

Deliveries Confused, Survey Finds.

Two situations in the steel industry were reported yesterday by Iron Age to be in immediate need of correction if production of war implements is to be on the tremendous scale needed this year. It urged elimination of:

1. Competition among the war department, the navy department, and the War Production board for machine tools.

2. Granting authority to certain army and navy officials to issue steel priorities ratings.

The trade journal said that the competition for machine tools has now reached a stage where each of the governmental agencies concerned considers it a moral victory to outsmart the others in obtaining machines for specific plants.

Termed Out of Harmony.

"Such misdirected enterprise by government agencies, or for that matter by private industries competing with each other over some gravely needed product, seems out of harmony with the country's need for weapons," Iron Age said.

The pressure applied by the war and navy departments against the tool producers sometimes results in two war plants receiving part of their tool requirements and both being unable to operate for a time because they lack the remainder.

Discussing the second situation Iron Age said that control over steel production by the WPB—except for plates—is hampered by the fact that some army and navy officials who are not familiar with the overall steel picture still have authority to issue steel ratings.

Allocation Work Improved.

However, it is said that some progress has been made in improving the working of the priorities and allocations system. An instance cited was the request by the WPB that blast furnace builders use only plate of 72 or less inches.

Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation reported that in order to conserve scarce materials parts are being taken from two old blast furnaces in the Pittsburgh district to be used in increasing the capacity of other existing blast furnaces in the area by 400,000 tons annually.

HOGS SINK MORE AS PACKERS FIT PRICE TO CEILING

Most classes of hogs slumped 15 to 25 cents yesterday as packers began adjusting costs of pork on the hoof at the stock yards to fit ceiling prices to go into effect March 23 in wholesale channels. Top grades fell 25 cents to $13.50 a hundred pounds, in line with the top price paid during the five days March 3 to 7, the period on which limits on pork prices are based.

Despite the setback, however, the average for the day, at $13.35, remained 10 cents above the highest daily average of last week.

ELECTRIC POWER USE DIPS MORE THAN NORMALLY

The nation's electric power output declined last week more than seasonally expected, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. The week's production was 3,392,121,000 kilowatt hours, a drop of 0.5 per cent from the preceding week, but a gain of 12.9 per cent over the corresponding week a year ago.

The output of the Commonwealth Edison group of companies in the Chicago area was 159,903,000 kilowatt hours, a gain of 8.3 per cent over a year ago but sharply under the 164,861,000 kilowatts of the preceding week. In explaining the Chicago area decline, the Commonwealth Edison company said:

"The output last week declined more than seasonally, due mainly to brighter weather and to a minor extent to the growing effect of wartime."

BUTTER FUTURES TRADE DECLINES TO 18 MONTH LOW

Trading in butter futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday was the smallest in 18 months, only three contracts of one carlot each being executed. The market closed .15 cent a pound lower after five successive advances, March contracts finishing at 33.15 cents. Wholesale butter prices were unchanged.

Egg futures closed .25 to .30 cent per dozen lower, with Octobers at 32.1 cents. Wholesale prices continued unsettled, with farm run and undergrades making new declines of ¼ cent a dozen. Limited lend-lease purchases at lower prices contributed to the declines.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Thursday, March 12, 1942.

[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BAD DEBT.

Early in 1941 a debtor of mine went into bankruptcy and later I learned that the absolute maximum I would receive on my claim would be 50 per cent. A few days ago I discovered that when the bankruptcy proceedings are completed in 1942 there is the possibility that I might not receive anything. Should I claim deduction for 50 per cent of the debt in my 1941 return or could I wait until the matter is settled and claim deduction in my 1942 return for the entire uncollectible portion which might amount to the whole debt? Would the fact that no claim was made for the portion of the debt ascertained to be worthless in one year prevent claiming the full amount the following year?—R. M.

Answer: You are not required to claim a partial bad debt. The deduction is optional. You may claim the partial deduction in the year you ascertain the portion is worthless or wait and claim deduction for the entire unpaid amount in the year it becomes fully uncollectible. Thus, if you know at least 50 per cent is uncollectible you may deduct that amount for 1941 and deduct any remaining worthless portion the following year when the proceedings are closed or you may wait until the matter is settled and deduct the full unpaid sum.

CONNECTICUT GENERAL.

Do you have 1941 figures for Connecticut General? If you do I would like to know assets, income, insurance written, and insurance in force.—G. K. L.

Answer: Total admitted assets of the Connecticut General Life Insurance company, Hartford, Conn., at the end of 1941 were $319,802,000 and net reserves were $257,698,000. Income for the year totaled $71,324,000, against total disbursements of $40,563,000. Insurance written amounted to $222,574,000, bringing insurance in force at the end of the year to $1,300,770,000.

INTERNATIONAL RAILWAYS.

In what countries does International Railways of Central America operate? Is this a foreign corporation?—W. P. H.

Answer: International Railways of Central America and its active subsidiary, the Occidental railroad, provide almost all the freight and passenger rail transportation in Guatemala and El Salvador. The railroad was incorporated in New Jersey in 1904 as the Guatemala Railway company and adopted its present title in 1912.

COUSINS NOT ALLOWED.

I read in one of the Investors' Guide articles on income tax that one of the conditions necessary for claiming head of a family status is blood relationship between the provider and the dependent. Are cousins considered blood relatives?—F. S.

Answer: Income tax laws do not consider the blood relationship of cousins close enough to allow head of a family exemption.

Mrs. Colin Kelly Jr. in the Uniform of a Red Cross Nurse

Symbolic of the spirit of sacrifice of the Red Cross is this portrait of Mrs. Kelly, widow of an outstanding American hero. Painted by Charles D. Jarrett of Chicago, it is reproduced here in observance today of the 80th anniversary of the birth of Jane A. Delano, founder of the American Red Cross nursing service. Marking this anniversary, a nation-wide campaign starts today to increase the Red Cross nursing service from its present 28,500 nurses to 50,000.
